Locomotive gets overhaul

After many years facing the harsh and damaging elements of Northern Ontario, Locomotive 6077, affectionately known as Bullet-Nose Betty, is undergoing a long-awaited and extensive restoration process.

Donated to the town of Capreol in 1967, this 1944 steam engine is a rare and majestic piece of history. However, sitting out on display in Prescott Park for the past 41 years has taken its toll, and the engine was in need of an aesthetic overhaul.

Luckily, Betty has many who care for her, and is currently wrapped and hidden from view, while receiving rounds of sandblasting and a new paint job, restoring the engine back to its original state.

The engine will be unveiled within the next two weeks so visitors of the Northern Ontario Railway Museum and Heritage Centre can enjoy the improved 6077.
