

IF YOU HAVE BEEN TO POINT CLEAR, then Lakewood Club Estates need no description, for they comprise the most beautiful ground in this "private pleasure-land". The residential community now being built among the stately pines and moss-hung oaks around the Lakewood course is of the same character as the Club and adjacent Grand Hotel . . . a place where property owners find relaxing escape and invigorating recreation on weekends and vacations, and, in the case of retired couples, for the rest of their lives. This exclusive development offers far more than scenic beauty . . . more than "golf at your front door" . . . more than convenient entertainment facilities: it offers a new way of life that discriminating residents and their guests will enjoy throughout the years ahead.

The residential sites in Lakewood Club Estates adjoin or overlook the golf course known the nation over as Perry Maxwell's masterpiece.
