

Sun worshippers divide their allegiance—some choosing the beach, some the pool. The white beach slopes gently, safely. The water is clear blue-green. These characteristic features of Point Clear have attracted pleasure seekers to this spot for generations. From the terrace overlooking the beach, or from a lawn chair under the great oaks nearby, one can watch the fun in the water . . . see yachts and fishing boats in the bay . . . or gaze out to the channel where ply the great ocean steamers.

Although its rooms are limited to approximately ninety,

Grand Hotel offers all the facilities and recreational opportunities of a larger house. The atmosphere is intimate, uncrowded, restful, but there is a broad variety of things to do.

A unique feature of Grand Hotel, the Directors' Room, is air-conditioned and convenient to the Main Lobby.
 Here meetings of the boards of corporations and organizations are held in privacy and comfort.
 Thus those who guide the destinies of business — with so little compensation for the time spent in meetings! — may assemble at a spot where they can enjoy themselves between sessions.
