

Imagine your home in a setting such as you see on these pages and with such scenery from your living room or patio. Sites like these in Lakewood Club Estates challenge any designer to outdo himself! Building and land-use restrictions protect property owners and perpetuate the character of the neighborhood. As an investment, here is an exceptional opportunity: Golf course frontage values have almost invariably risen through the years and the enhancement is usually greatest on property of an exclusive nature such as Point Clear.

The number of sites in Lakewood Club Estates is limited since only land of premium value has been subdivided.

The appeal the estates hold for people of good taste is reflected by the quality of homes already built, some of which appear in this brochure.
