

Golf knows no season at Grand Hotel, for here in the Deep South is little severe weather even in Winter. The hotel's course is an outstanding example of the work of Perry Maxwell, famous course designer. Gentle hills, and natural water hazards add zest to the sport.

Moss-hung oaks and towering pines provide fitting backdrops of beauty on every hand. The first tee is only a few hundred yards from the hotel. Tee off for eighteen sporty holes of golf at its best!

Fisherman's paradise! Board a powerboat in the Grand Hotel yacht basin and in minutes' time you're trolling for the big ones in one of the world's most famous deep-sea fishing grounds. If you prefer fresh water fishing, the nearby streams abound with game fish. Boats are available for charter. The big pavillion right in the "front yard" of Grand Hotel is also a favorite spot for casting and pole fishing.
