USO-NCCS CLUB PLAYS HOST TO SEATTLE CLUB

Eats, Baseball, Music Features of Day

About 20 local women, including a dozen from the Whid-Haven auxiliary, helped entertain two buses and a caravan of cars bearing 52 junior hostesses and 34 service personnel from Seattle, last Sunday.

Ward Brennan, program director of the Seattle USO-NCCS Club, was in charge of the caravan to Whidbey, and supervised the athletic program for the day.

Mrs. Margaret Hale, club director at Seattle, helped arrange for the visit to Oak Harbor. Tom Moore, director of the Oak Harbor USO-NCCS Club, co-ordinated the local arrangements.

A barbecue luncheon was participated in by 300 persons. Ed Schip-pal of the Commissary Stores, NAS, presided at the barbecue in a full chef's costume.

The group then went to the Oak Harbor memorial stadium for a 7-inning championship softball game, where Paul Oaks, local pitcher, registered a no-hit game, for his team to win, 15 to 1.

The Oak Harbor USO-NCCS was represented by the Medical-Dental softball squad, champions of the Captain's Cup league. Players were: Cal Squires, shortstop; Don Silk, 2nd base; Dave Martin, right field; Jack Brock, 3rd base; Bill Daniels, center field; Bill Clayton, catcher; Paul Oaks, pitcher; Don Wincheski, left field; Gene Wittmayer, 1st base; and Bill Clayton, relief pitcher.

Howard Brewer was base umpire and Dick Miller called them behind the plate.

This was the third such annual ball game between the two clubs, won each year by the Oak Harbor teams.

After the ball game, there was a program of sports. Ann Gale won the accurate throwing contest for women, and the free-for-all race.

First in the girls race was Teresa Lenihan, with Lucy Muscolo next.

Earl Epperson won the boys race, with Edward Martinez second.

The P-A announcements at the game and athletic program were by Bernie Burnham of NAS, Whidbey, and Lucy Muscolo, junior hostess of the Seattle USO-NCCS Club.

Following the sports there was a buffet supper, after which the guests were entertained with games and music.

Sports Exhibit to Be At County Fair

The Moore Hotel of Seattle is loaning its hunting trophy collection to the South Whidbey Rod and Gun Club for their exhibit at the Island County Fair this week end, August 29-30-31.

Included in the display will be a record grizzly bear skin, measuring 11x10 feet. The bear's feet were a foot long and eight inches wide; the claws four and one-half inches long, and it weighed over 1,000 pounds.

Also in the display will be other grizzlies; black, and black and grey bear; Siberian wolves, cougar, Dahl sheep, mountain sheep and goat, antelope, caribou, mule deer, wild cat, and others.

This is considered one of the finest private collections of north-west game trophies. It is being shown through the courtesy of the Walker Brothers, owners and operators of the Moore Hotel, Seattle.

Island County schools will open Tuesday, September 2.

The Island County Sheriff's Posse will present a mounted drill at the Fair, Saturday noon.

BOYS TOWN CHOIR TO VISIT MT. VERNON

55 Boys On Visit to 80 Cities In 28 States

Sweetest voices ever heard, is the enthusiastic acclaim of thousands of enraptured listeners from coast to coast who have thrilled to the famed Boys Town Choir. Captivating audiences with their seraphic interpretations of great music, the 50 young choristers are equally at home with the 16th century polyphony of Palestrina and the lilting melodies of Strauss, or the modern masterpieces of Gershwin or Kern. Under the distinguished direction of Father Francis Schmitt, those "rough and ready kids who sing like angels" blend their voices in joyous song, a living tribute to Boys Town, the world-famed haven for homeless boys of every race, color and creed.

More than 900 Boys Town citizens turned out earlier this year for try-outs for the choir, and about 150 were accepted for training during the summer vacation. Of this group 55 were picked for the concert tour. Selection meant summer school for the boys chosen, and it was the same as training for basketball, football, or baseball. Each boy is envious to get on this choir, as it will take him throughout the United States.

Abundant praise has been the reward of the choristers wherever they have been heard, from the vast municipal auditorium in St. Paul, Minnesota, where over 9,000 people heard these boys sing, through Santa Maria auditorium, California—and even to singing through the Carnegie Hall, where they have received a top concert artists performance.

The choir's sixth annual concert tour will take the boys to both coasts, with concerts in over 80 cities of 28 States and three Provinces.

The choir is being presented in this territory under the sponsorship of Boulet Council No. 2126, Knights of Columbus, in the new high school gymnasium in Mount Vernon, on Sunday, September 14th, at 8:00 p. m. (ST).

Admission to this outstanding entertainment is $1.00. The public is cordially invited, and the proceeds from the concert will be used for charitable activities.

Members of the John E. O'Brien Council No. 3361, Knights of Columbus, Oak Harbor, will conduct the local ticket sale.

B & H Is Now Clair's Market

Starting August 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Jackson became the sole owners of the grocery store and market in Oak Harbor, formerly known as the B & H Market, where Mr. Jackson has operated the butcher shop for over a year.

The Jacksons plan some changes in the arrangement of their store, as time goes on, all with the thought in mind of better serving the public.

Mrs. Dell Boyer is assisting Mrs. Jackson in the grocery department and Clair is devoting most of his time to his ever-growing meat business.

Jimmy Bryson and George Hansen, former owners of the grocery, are relaxing at the moment, with no announced plans for the future—except maybe some fishing and hunting.

"The Bridgeport Kiwanian" gave their local paper a boost this wise:

"The Bridgeport Chief" is worthy of and is entitled to the best support which business concerns and the community in general can give it. Like other enterprises which have come to take a place in community life, it has had a real struggle getting the necessary support that a live newspaper must have to keep on top. But it is still here and is making headway for the limited support it has had from the community and the business people in general.  A newspaper that is doing its part is by its very nature largely a public institution, here to serve the people and the community. Therefore, we all have a stake in its success and permanence.

"The Bridgeport Chief" is, to the best of our knowledge, next youngest paper in the State to our own "Coupeville Courier". Hale and Ruth Tabor are the genial publishers of the "Chief", and to borrow a phrase from the "Kiwanian", "are live, likable and forward-looking newspaper people. They would be hard to beat in any western community. They have the know-how, the personalities and the zip to produce what every community needs and wants."

This Is What She Said . . .

(Excerpts from the speech by Mrs. Victor DeBaer, Republican State Committeewoman at the District Republican Picnic at Cranberry Lake, August 24.)

"This year the Republican party stands on the threshold of victory. Special interests, which have been supporting the Democrats, sense a Republican victory. Henry Jackson is vacating his seat in Congress. It behooves us to be vigilant, lest the powers which have been supporting the Democrat congressman, move over into our party and attempt to nominate their man as the Republican candidate.

"We owe it to General Eisenhower, who will be our next president if we Republicans crusade on principle, to give him a Congress of free men, not puppets—a congress to work for the welfare of all the people, not the special interests of a favored few.

"How do we recognize a special interest candidate?

"Chiefly by the money he spends. Any time large sums of money are spent on radio, television, newspaper ads, publicity Charlie Michelsons, special interests are at work. A congressman earns $12,500 a year. When more than the sum he would earn during his entire tenure of office is spent to win a primary election, something is wrong.

"When you see pressure applied, so that people who would ordinarily speak out are silenced; when people are threatened, through economic pressures or by blackmail to contribute to campaign funds, special interests are at work. When telephones are tapped, and slander and innuendo are rampant, when by ruthless brazen, bare faced arrogance all opposition is put down—special interests are at work. Do you think I am being melodramatic when I speak of telephone lines being tapped? I PERSONALLY LISTENED TO A PLAY-BACK OF A CONVERSATION ORIGINATING IN THE WILSON HOME

"Abraham Lincoln said 'To sin by silence makes cowards of men.' I cannot remain silent, when I see special interests busy in our own Second District, using all of the tactics I have described, in an effort to nominate their man."

PEEK FOR SAFETY

Farm Youths Will Inspect Fire Dangers

The fireman has replaced the traveling salesman with the farmer's daughter.

Starting with the close of school, some 50,000 farmer's daughters have been taking instruction in fire prevention from professional and volunteer firemen in 12 farm states. Of course, the farm boys are taking the course, too. In fact, almost twice that many boys will learn how to prevent or correct the 75-odd fire hazards in or about the average farm house and barn.

During the vacation months, this volunteer inspection force of 138,000 farm youths will inspect approximately four times that many farm properties and chart, in writing, the fire hazards they discover.

Expert Advice

They'll give each inspected farmer the chart, and expert advice on such things as the danger of unprotected light bulbs in the hay loft, the way to patch a loose flue, seal mortar cracks in the chimney and ground lightning rod wires.

Many will carry thermometers and take the temperature of newly mown hay, looking for the "hot spots" which can create a disastrous flash fire by spontaneous combustion.

Each of these 138,000 farm boys and girls will be working under the sponsorship of the National Association of Mutual Insurance companies, originators of this 13th annual "National Youth Farm Fire Safety Program."

All will be competing for county, state and national prizes awarded by the 600 individual mutual farm fire insurance companies participating in the program.

They are not scored on a quantitative basis alone. Each farm is "reinspected" a few weeks after the first visit. The number of hazards eliminated since the previous inspection is charted on a specially prepared form. It's the number of hazards eliminated that most impress the judges.

Guidance Agencies

In addition to expert instruction from local fire departments, these junior inspectors receive fire prevention material and guidance from many other interested agencies. The 4-H clubs, junior chambers of commerce, state extension forester service, county agricultural agents are among the many who help run these contests on county and state levels.

In Iowa the instruction, inspection and judging is a regular part of the school curriculum.

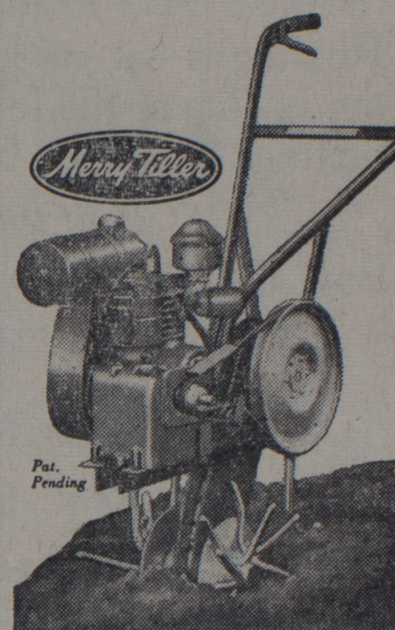

The inspection service is a success wherever maintained. In New York, there has been a 30 per cent drop in farm fire losses since the contest's inception. The state extension forester agency of North Dakota reports that when the contest was started there in 1942, the annual farm fire loss was about $250,000. In five years of junior inspection, the loss dropped to approximately $50,000. It is still going down.

Firemen Assigned Special Duty Between Fire Calls

RICHMOND, Cal.—Special between call duties are keeping firemen in the community doubly prepared in case of fire.

Firemen are assigned to survey industrial building, hospitals, schools, churches, and other places of public assembly in order to become acquainted with the particular problems which may arise in case fire breaks out in any of the structures. The information obtained from these surveys is summarized in bulletin form and include an outline drawing of each building and the surrounding area, a notation of special hazards and the location of any fire prevention equipment. All firemen have access to these reports for study.

Fire prevention inspection of private homes is also carried out by the firemen as their duties permit. In addition, a two-hour period each day is devoted to the study of such subjects as hydraulics, chemicals, first aid and special fire problems.
