LIGHTHOUSE LIKELY

Authorities have recommended a lighthouse be erected at Partridge Point on the west shore of Whidby island at a cost of $90,000. Should this recommendation to the secretary of commerce be passed on and finally approved, it is likely its construction will give employment to many island residents. This will greatly relieve the unemployment situation in the county.

Since the point is now inaccessible except by boat and by foot along the beach, it appears the county and the federal government will have to build a road to the proposed lighthouse. This will also give work to a large number of men.

ANOTHER GOOD REASON

While mainland valleys, lowlands and flats are being flooded, Whidby island remains high and mostly dry with all roads in relatively good condition. Many mainland highways have become impassable, however, with huge property damage being done by

26th Annual Sale Starts

With the opening of the 26th annual sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals the day of Thanksgiving there will be released to the people of Washington millions of those little emblems which typify the spirit of the fight against tuberculosis.

"When a grimy little news boy stood on tip-toe to place his penny on the counter of the Philadelphia North American, saying 'Gimme one, me sister's got it', the success of the Christmas seal as the accepted medium for fighting tuberculosis was assured," said Mrs. Buchanan.

"That spirit has made the 25 sales since then successful, and bids fair to carry the 26th to success also. It is the spirit of sympathy and understanding; the spirit which has built our sanatoria; employed county nurses; burned the midnight oil in the research laboratories and brought thousands of workers into the volunteer campaign against tuberculosis. It has thrown the facts about the disease before the public eye and has fastened attention upon the simple methods of cure and prevention. And thus it has saved many lives.

MISS EMMA NIEBERGAL

The deceased, who departed this life for a Better World at Providence Hospital in Seattle, a few days ago, was well known in this place, having spent the greater portion of her days amongst us.

She was a friendly and kind-hearted little lady and while in our midst made a large circle of friends who will ever remember her with much of love and respect. In former days she was a faithful and consistent member of the Congregational Church here, but before her death she embraced the Catholic faith. It seemed eminently fitting that her funeral services should have been observed in the little church building where so often the tones of her voice had resounded as she sat in her seat in the choir loft.

The Catholic burial service was conducted by Father O'Brien, who spoke of the deceased and of her former life in the community with touching simplicity, which was of comfort to her many friends.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Charles Bearss, Horace Holbrook, George Muncester and P. D. Snyder.

The remains of the deceased were interred in Sunnyside Cemetery.

LIGHTHOUSE IS RECOMMENDED FOR WHIDBY

$90,000 STRUCTURE WOULD BE ERECTED AT PARTRIDGE POINT; NO LIGHT ALONE WEST SHORE NOW

The commissioner of light houses with headquarters in Washington, D. C., recommended to the secretary of commerce in his annual report Friday the establishment of a light and fog station at Point Partridge to cost $90,000. It was the chief item of a number of other improvements recommended for the state of Washington.

For years a lighthouse was kept at what is now Fort Casey. When the fort was established the lighthouse was abandoned on account of interference with fort lights. Since that time there has been no light on the west shore of Whidby island which is some 60 miles long.

Vessels have had to be guided by lights on the west side of Admiralty Inlet alone and the need for some light on the east side has long been needed. At present the only guide vessels have is a small buoy at Partridge Point, which is deemed inadequate.

Partridge Point lies a little to the south of West Beach near Lake Pondilla and is reached only by boat or by foot along the shore.

BERRIES FOR THANKSGIVING IS REALITY IN COUPEVILLE

Big luscious raspberries ripening and ready to eat on Thanksgiving Day. Think of it! It's true right in Coupeville. Mrs. T. L. Coupe brought a branch loaded with ripe berries into the Times office Tuesday to prove that the season on berries is still open on Whidby island.

BASKET SOOIL NETS $3.00 FOR GIRL SCOUTS

At the Basket Social given in the I. O. O. F. hall last Saturday evening, the Girl Scouts certainly gave their guests an enjoyable time, judging from the shrieks of delight that went up from the crokinole tables and that must have been audible down on the Main Street. The bridge prizes went to Mrs. C. T. and Mrs. Flora Engle and the crokinole prize was awarded to Don Nichols.

The Girl Scouts endeavor to inculcate in their members principles of courtesy, helpfulness, kind acts to the sick and afflicted, integrity and right-living and certainly the community should be glad to encourage and assist them in every possible way. The net proceeds amounted to but 2 or $3.

FRIENDS PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO SNAKELUM

80 WHITES AND INDIANS GATHER FOR FINAL RITES; AGED CHIEF LAID TO REST

Members of the White and Red races united last Friday to pay a last tribute to Chief 'Long Charlie' Snakelum.

Thirty Indians and about 50 others assembled at the Coupeville Methodist-Congregational Church, building to hear the funeral service and look for the last time upon the face of 'Charlie.' Rev. Partridge conducted the services. Wallace Benson sang 'Rock of Ages,' and Mrs. Bruce sang 'Abide with Me.' It was as the revered chief had desired it.

Following this service 18 cars of mourners made their way to Snakelum Point where the chief was laid to rest beside his forefathers.

William Shelton of the Tulalip reservation spoke words of appreciation for the loving care Whites had given the deceased and told how it had exemplified the deep rooted friendship of the two races.

Pallbearers were Charley Billy, Jack Straub, Sam Benson, Walter Aubert, John Kineth, Ed Bruce and Dick Hastie.

Early history records the sinister activities of White invaders and brave Indian defenders. Those days have gone with all the in-

COUNTY TITLE AT STAKE IN TURKEY GAME

CLASH BETWEEN LANGLEY AND WILDCATS TO START AT 11 O'CLOCK ON OAK HARBOR FIELD; ENDS SEASON

The curtain will be rung down on the football season on Whidby island Thanksgiving day when the Wildcats and the Falcons battle for the county championship at Oak Harbor. The game starts at 11 o'clock.

The fact that Langley has had the benefit of a game since the first meeting of the two schools raises the Falcon stock. Langley put up a stubborn fight against a strong Everett second team last Saturday but lost 6 to 0. Langley, however, showed an improved offense, and indications are that Oak Harbor will be in for even a harder scrap than was given in the first game that turned out to be a scoreless tie.

On the other hand their is no GOOD reason in this cockeyed world why the Wildcats should not soundly drub Langley. A team that has risen to the heights of spanking Anacortes, Port Townsend and Kirkland should find Langley easy meat. Pitched to the proper frame of mind the Wildcats will maul the Falcons all over the field. The snap, drive and precision in the execution of plays demonstrated in the Kirkland game will run up a sizable score for the men of Rhodes.

Seven Harbor lettermen will be pulling on the football uniform for the last time for the high school. It will be their last chance to show their best. The same will hold true for a few of the Langley players.

"THE CISCO KID" TO THRILL AT CIRCUIT NEXT WEEK

Plenty of action, a wealth of Romance, a fast-moving story with a surprise ending, and gorgeous photography all feature the "Cisco Kid" Fox drama showing at the Circuit Theatre Wednesday and Thursday November 30 and December 1st with Warner Baxter and Edmund Lowe in the colorful roles of a reckless border bandit and a cavalry sergeant.

With Conchita Montenegro as the dark charmer who attracts both men but cares only for one of them, and Nora Lane as the pioneer widow for whom Baxter risks his freedom, the feminine lure of the picture is amply provided for.

Lowe, hearing that his enemy is operating north of the border, starts after him. The chase leads to Carrizo, where Baxter is making violent love to Miss Montenegro, much to the annoyance of the local sheriff.

HARVEST HOME CELEBRATION AT MUTINY BAY ON NOV. 27

IT'S CAPT. FULLINGTON NOW

Word has been received that Birney Fullington has passed all tests for deep sea captaincy. He is now eligible to captain ocean-going vessels.

He is a grandson of the famous Capt. Swift who sailed the first shipload of lumber out of Puget Sound, and who was among the first settlers of Whidby island. Birney is the only one of the seafaring family since Capt. Swift to follow the sea.

DEPRESSION AS SHE AM

(From Exchange)

My Dear Daughter—You ask me if your husband should stay on in his present position at an "adjusted" salary, but you forget to tell me what he should do if he didn't.

You and he couldn't very well come here just now. Your brother Sheridan's salary has just been "reconsidered," so he moved into his old room at home, and brought his wife. Your sister Eloise telegraphed the next day that Wilfred has just been offered a new contract that was an insult, so your mother is airing out her room. Wilfred never could endure insults. Your sister Frances, who you will remember has been a private secretary, wrote last week that if anybody thinks she is going to drop to the level of a common typist, they are mistaken, so we expect her any day.

What with those and the younger children, I imagine that as long as Rupert's salary is merely being "adjusted," he had better stay. An adjustment is nothing like a reduction. It's hard for me to keep up with the new language of big business, but as I understand it, an "adjustment" is the equivalent of a raise. Of course, Rupert wouldn't know that; he has been working only since 1928. He should ask some old-timer to explain what a raise is.

My own business is coming along fine. It was sold on the court house steps last Friday, but there were no bidders, so the sheriff let me keep it. That makes the best month I've had since the upturn.

HOW-DE-DO, GOOD FOLKES:-

The ole wether-man is kind uv handin' us out sum "HOW-CUM-YER-SO," wether at date uv this ritin', but they's surely one good thing about PUGET SOUND wether condishuns, an' that is that we kin allus eggpect a good day to-morrer, whether we git it, er not!

Well, no matter of the wind did blow we see a lil lady steppin' a-long down street quite early this mornin'. Look to us like a lil King bird out tryin' to ketch that early worm they tell about Well, ef enny buddy kin do it sure she's the one.

DO YOU REMEMBER? WE DO!

(1) WHEN-They was so much of a pond out on C. T. Engle's place where now "merrily grow the rushes-O" that the stock was all wattered there & the kids used to skate on it in winter! & onct a turrible thing happend. Our ridin' pony laid down in it one hot summer day when she (the pony not YOURS TRULY) was drinkin' & when we was on her back! An' our long ridin' skirt was drippin' with mud.

(2) WHEN-That same day a young man was at work in a naborin' field and saw the above miss hap, but didn't go to the distrest damsel's assistance, because he hadn't been introduced to her!

(3) WHEN-Bine was a nice, strong, helthy girl an' bein' the oldest uv the famly was her paw's rite-hand man? When was that? Well, it was before she an' Jonnie fell in love with each other, ennyway.

An' now because we're goin' to be so bizzzy for three weeks that we won't have time to scurry 'round an' pick up jokes fer this yere column uv ours, we air a-goin to substitute sum rimes we rote in them nice sunshiny days in mid-October. And say! don't fergit THAT when you read the second line uv:-

THE FIR TREE SPEAKS

How pleasant thru the woods to roam
These fall days passing fair,
With ~~the~~ red and russet turn'd
In autumn's golden haze.

The maples and the willow trees
In colors brightly gown'd,
Their banches nod in greetings gay
To all the earth around.

'Tis true no more spring wild flow'rs sweet
Display their blossoms fair,
But waxen snow-drops gleam like pearls
In bridal necklace rare.

And clumps of purple asters bloom,
Their hearts of beaten gold-
Gilded by Mother Nature's brush-
Fringed petals firm enfold.

A silence, peaceful and profound,
Reigns o'er all supreme:
Earthly cares from all the world
Have been far-flung, 't would seem.

No longer squirrels chatt'ring leap
Lightly from bough to bough
Garner'd is their winter store,
Needless is labor now.

And songsters chirruping no more
Southward plan to fly,
Where bright skies smile and warm sun shines
And black clouds ne'er draw nigh.

Fir trees up-standing straight and tall
(Long have they tower'd high)
Lok down on saplings far below
With indulgent eye.

But hark! deep tones now issue forth
From giant fir hard by:
"A hundred years have I stood here,
Reaching toward the sky.

"Great sights, no doubt, have you beheld,
My little children dear,
But ah! what think you I have seen,
While growing year by year?

"Small, soft, furry things I've oft
Seen scuttling 'round my base,
As from their natural foes they fled
Scurrying from place to place.

THANKSGIVING

Each year in the United States, the last Thursday of November is set apart by proclamation of the president and of the governor of the various states, as a day to give thanks to the Father of All.

The first Thanksgiving Day in this country was held in 1621 at Plymouth, directly after they had gathered in their harvest. Those Pilgrims had corn from about 20 acres, which they carried by hand in baskets to a store house, and this was to be their food for the winter for the colony. They were grateful to God to whom they looked for guidance for food to keep them alive, for shelter over their heads, and for all the hard work which they saw ahead of them.

The next Thanksgiving Day in the United States was held in Massachusetts Bay in 1630. President Washington appointed one Thanksgiving Day in 1789, and another in 1795. There was a day for thanksgiving appointed by President Madison at the close of the War of 1812; President Lincoln appointed the last Thursday of November 1864, and every president since has followed his example.

It is a good thing for a nation and for an individual to be thankful. A lot of imagined troubles and hardships vanish if we are grateful for all the good we have.

SUPPOSIN'

1. La Vona and Buster weren't together at noon—(or any other time.)
2. The High School was without a telephone.
3. Cleone did not have someone or something to talk about.
4. Wilma and Eileen M. agreed on some subject.
5. Mr. Browning didn't lose his voice.

FRIENDS PAY FINAL TRIBUTE TO SNAKELUM

Justices and enemies on the part of both races. Later history and current life is filled with instances of friendship and consideration shown by the sons of each race for the sons of the other. Time heals every wound and on its foundation grows new life and spirit.

Today friends of whatever color gather to pay the last respects to the remains of a common friend. To him to whom color line was no barrier we give all due respect.

From his life comes to us some lessons of value. It would be well for White folks to learn from Indian friends something of contentment with a simple life. Our day and race is fearfully anxious about a multitude of things. Primarily we set for ourselves a lot of trouble, fretfulness and struggle by reason of our passion for a multitude of things. I am not sure from what source our Red brothers get it, but we could well emulate their spirit which is akin to the reliance Christ put upon the All-Wise-Providence. His words are in Matt. 6:25-31.

As we see our Indian brothers we feel that they have that secret of the absence of over-anxiety.

How can we refrain from speaking also concerning the traditional and actual fidelity in friendship possessed by this departed Indian brother and his race. We who still live, whatever may be our race, can well seek to preserve under God, the blessings of faithful friendship.

That it is which enables us, after loved ones are all gone, to live in the assurance that we are not alone nor uncared for. That it is which brings comfort in the closing moments of life as it did to Charlie Snaklum.

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN HERE BY THE HIGH SCHOOL ON DECEMBER 2

In the I. O. O. F. hall, at 8 o'clock on the night of Friday, December 2, our school and our community are to have an unusual treat, the James Hamilton Howe Concert Ensemble.

Mr. Howe, as pianist; Elizabeth Rydner, violin; Ruth Krieger, violincello; and Ruth Chastain, soprano, are touring this part of the Northwest at this time, and receiving praise for their fine entertainment.

The high school should have the support of the school and the community in bringing a good concert here. The prices are 15 cents for grade pupils, and 25 cents for high school students and adults.

HIGH SCHOOL

I now am in the Freshman class. I doubt if I will ever pass. The Sophomores nag me so. To their command you can't say no.

I now am a Sophomore smart. To Freshmen I ain't got a heart. They even comb my hair. To disobey they do not dare.

Junior now I am. Frosh and Sophomores scam. I have passed two years. And as yet have shed no tears.

To the Senior class I now belong. Listen to my happy song. Three toilsome years I now have passed. In June to graduate at last.

High school is nothing but a dream. However hard though it may seem. And now at length, when I am through, Freshman and Soph I envy you. By—Guess Who?

VACATION

The schools of Coupeville will enjoy the usual two days of Thanksgiving vacation this week. The school year seems to be fast slipping away.

Mr. Browning: "Phebe, I don't want you to come to class again with that gum in your mouth."
Phebe: "Well, it's like this—I can't afford to buy a new stick every day."

Edwin S. "Did you see the smile that girl gave me?"
Robert H. "I don't blame her. I nearly laughed out loud when I first saw you."

His expressed desire was to be returned to his old home and to be buried by his white friends. We are grateful for the honor of a dying man's trust and request and we sincerely and respectfully join in carrying out his wish.

Just one word more to the fellow members of his own race. Those of you who find yourselves growing into other ways of life than that of your forefathers, we wish to commend you for your just pride in your heritage of the past. We beg you as these lives that connect you with the old days pass on one by one, that you hold to and preserve their history and tradition. May not the swing of modern times take from you the inherent value of your own race history. No people with a system of social life and religious custom is without value to the future generations.

Hence it is we desire that you shall preserve the traditions and folk-lore of your people no matter how much your future lives activities may differ from theirs.

Thus it is—because of the qualities which we all may well emulate—and because his life connects us with the rigorous ways of the past that Red men and White men both mourn the passing of Charlie Snaklum. May the Great Spirit in whom both races trust grant him peace.

CHARLIE SNAKLUM
Charlie Snaklum (the name being spelled as near as possible to his own pronunciation of the same) was born in 1846 or 7, according to his own statement. He died at 7 o'clock, Wednesday evening, November 16, at Tulalip.

The deceased was a son of Chief Snaklum, whose death is mentioned in the diary of Mrs. Isaac N. Ebey as having occurred in 1852. Mention is also made of his tribesmen, the Skagits, having sent over for the Clallam tribe to come across the Straits, to attend his funeral, which they did. And as he was of great importance the service was held with much ceremony.

Many residents of our community have visited the burying ground at Snakelum Point, where the remains of the old Chieftain were laid away more than three quarters of a century ago, and where his son, during his life amongst us had expressed a desire to be interred.

The deceased was probably born on the Point which bears his father's and his own name and he made his home there all his days. He was a good and well known man, as was his father before him, and had many friends among our pioneers and their descendants. In youth and middle age he was an expert sheep shearer and in that capacity he was often employed by the early settlers.

Up to within a very few years, he often paddled his canoe up from the Point to our town and when here he always called upon his cherished friends, Mr. and Mrs. Puget Race, and met his many other friends with a ready smile and a cordial grasp of the hand.

His first wife died years ago as did his three daughters by her. He married again and this second wife died a few years ago. He then married Katie Barlow of San de Fuca, the widow of Billy Barlow, who was also of some repute on the island. Charlie and his wives will be long and well remembered by all who knew them.

While he was quite familiarly known as "Long Charlie," on account of his great stature, let us think and speak of our deceased brother as Charlie Snaklum, for he said at one time to the writer.

WOMEN ENLIST WITH WAP-TIME SPIRIT IN RED CROSS DRIVE ON DISTRESS

Little Sarah Jo Thrush tries on a dress made from Red Cross cotton in a chapter production room, where Miss Jeanette Racoonin is one of several hundred volunteers sewing garments for the needy. In the bins behind her are thousands of men's shirts and children's garments to be made up and given away. At right, Miss Mabel T. Boardman, secretary of the Red Cross, under whose leadership several hundred thousand women are making clothing for the unemployed.

HOW shall 500,000 bales of Farm Board cotton be converted into clothing for the unemployed and needy, was an urgent question confronting the American Red Cross when Congress voted the raw cotton for that purpose to the Red Cross in midsummer.

Congress also had laid $5,000,000 bushels of Farm Board wheat upon the Red Cross doorstep, beginning last March, and the great relief organization had conquered the task of putting flour and bread from this wheat into the homes of 3,500,000 of the nation's needy families. The wheat distribution continues and it is estimated that the free flour will not be exhausted until the late spring of 1933.

Cotton presented a complex problem, but the Red Cross swung a large staff of workers into the job, and by October 1 had distributed more than 30,000,000 yards of cotton cloth to more than half of the chapters or counties of the nation. Thousands of women volunteered to make the cloth into garments for school children, for men and for women. Dresses, underwear, men's shirts, boys' suits all came flying from the sewing machines.

Following up the cloth, the Red Cross prepared to give men's trousers, overalls, jumpers, boys' knickers, underwear and stockings and sox for all the family.

Without the work of the women who volunteered as seamstresses, and the thousands of men and women who helped give flour, clothing and other direct relief, in the name of the Red Cross, these useful aids to the unemployed would not have been handled so promptly, nor reached so many people, Red Cross officials say.

In the administration of the wheat and cotton, the Red Cross will expend an estimated $450,000. Funds from the Red Cross treasury will be used. Every Red Cross membership in the annual roll call from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day will help toward meeting these costs.

Chairman John Barton Payne has characterized the relief emergency facing the Red Cross this winter as the greatest it has had to meet since the World War, and has appealed for the support of every citizen.

CONGRATULATIONS

As Langley high school's second football season draws to a close we extend Supt. Claypoole and Coach Ewan congratulations on the work they have done to firmly establish the sport at the south end school. The popularity of the game has increased greatly all over the island since its adoption at Langley.

Fans have enjoyed the extra games, school spirit at Langley has been increased, and the players have gained in every way from participation.

WE DOFF OUR HAT

We also doff our hat to Coach Browning at Coupeville. Faced with the possibility of losing out on the sport entirely Browning rallied enough students to make up a team and carried on the sport though there was no chance of winning any of the games scheduled. It took a lot of determination and pluck for the little fellows to face great odds in each game and it took the excellent training Coach Browning was able to give to carry them through the season. The season demonstrated that Browning will have a real scrappy team next year, barring ineligibilities. Given the same material other coaches would have refused to even form a team.
