The Engle Family

In Webster's Unabridged Dictionary the word England is defined as the land of the Engles. The Engles or the Angles, the names being synonymous, are therein described as a race or tribe of people from the S. E. of Scliswick or Scliswig in Germany.

It was after many migrations that they passed over to England from the District of Angeln, which is in the lower part of Germany, a district in Scliswick.

In that same district is found the word Angles, defined as an ancient Germanic nation, from the Latin Angli, the Angles a Germanic tribe in lower Germany.

There is also the word Saxon, as a part of term Anglo-Saxon, defined as one of a nation or people who formerly dwelt in the northern part of Germany and who with other Gothic tribes invaded and conquered Britain in the 5th & 6th centuries.

It was under the rule of the early Saxon Kings that Egbert, one of the seven Saxons who ruled the several divisions of Britain and who succeeded to the crown of Wessex and who also by his superior ability conquered others of the seven kingdoms. That for the first time Britain was called England. This was sometime after the departure, which was final, of the Romans A.D. 450.

In an account of the early generations of the Engle Family, there appears the declaration that four brothers came to America in 1683 by the name of Engle from Germany, old England. That three of them settled at Germantown, six miles from Philadelphia, and one of them Robert Engle, came to Evesham, (now Mt. Laurel, Ber. Co. N. J.)

The term Old England, was often used at that time to distinguish it from New England in America, and the term Germany was probably used to distinguish designate a certain section of England.

Traditions say three brothers came to America.

At the early period when Robert Engle landed on the shores of the Delaware River, Ber. Co. N. J. was mostly a howling wilderness with a few clearings made by the European settlers who had proceeded here.

Dense forests filled the valleys and crowned the hill-tops, the wild beasts and untutored red men were the occupants of the wild country. To leave the comforts and luxuries of the old world (so called) and friends and kindred dear, and live in the new World, under these trials and circumstances required no small amount of moral courage and self-denials and had not God in his Providence brought to bear upon the conscience of men for the desire for social, civil and religious liberty, the now fertile fields and teeming millions of people of the broad U. S. would still have remained the forest clad happy hunting grounds of the Aborigines.

Hither came our Progenitor in the vigor of early manhood, in the first decade of the settlement of New York.

The strife and commotion in the native land of the early Pioneers had diverted many of them of property and drove them from their native country to seek an asylum and home in the wilds of N. Y.

It is recorded that of the many ships, that set sail at that early period for these shores, with their loads of living souls, not one miscarried "Wonderful indeeds are the mercies of God".

In Bessus "Sufferings of Quakers" it is recorded that Henry Engle and wife Elizabeth were distressed and confined in jail - 1685 - in Gloucestershire. Jan. 1, 1660 John Inghill and others were taken out of meetings in Colchester in Essex and jailed for nine weeks.

With the opening and peopling of this country for over two centuries we find that the descendants of our ancient sire, Robert Engle are scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts.

It is positively known that one of the brothers of Robert Engle who settled in Germantown was Paul Engell or Engle.

The records at Trenton contain the copy of a deed for a brick dwelling in Burlington, N. J. made in 1699 to Paul Engle, shoemaker, of Germantown from Richard Bispham.

The oldest marked tombstone in the old Mennonite graveyard on the Shippack in Montgomery County

N.Y. is marked Paul Engle

The early history of Germantown speaks of Paul and Jacob Engle or Engell as being naturalized in 1707, also that one Paul was naturalized in 1698. From that one might think that the Paul of 1707 might be the son of the Paul of 1698, but he was not born until 1690. In that day 1 £ was paid for naturalization.

Paul Engle was appointed Burgess of Germantown in 1703 but through conscientious scruples refused to serve as he would not take the required oath.

The Stone mansion built in 1758 by Benj. Engle on Main St. and Lafayette Ave. Germantown still stands in perfect state of preservation. The unique style of this colonial land mark is well worth a visit by the seeker, now used by a dau. of Elias Benj. Engle.

After relics of by gone years Benj. Engle the builder of the old Engle Mansion was a grandson of Paul the 1st, then Paul 2nd & married 12/14/1745 Rebecca Teen of Oxford Twp. Phila.

The Engles of Germantown were early farmers and are styled in history as being tanners by inheritance. Tradition says that in the early years of the settlement of the Engles in this country, intercourse was maintained between the Engle family in N. J. and those in Germantown. In course of time as the ties of kinship widened the natural result was as is to-day the families became lost to each other.

Robert Engle in his will made in 1696 makes provisions in case of death of his son and only child under age, that one half of his property should go to his two brothers Spielberg, Old England. This is now known as Cambridge and is situated some distance north of London. From this comes the impression that Robert Engle came from England, altho tradition claims a Germanic origin which no doubt is correct. The settlement of his three brothers at Germantown with the German settlers at the same period seem to confirm the tradition of an ancient German lineage.

Robert Engle - The First.

Robert Engle the progenitor of the name and Engle family in N. J. or West Jersey came to America in 1683 or 1684; the first account on record recording concerning him in N. J. is his marriage in 1684 as follows - The marriage between

Robert Ingall and Joan Horne; being the first published according to order was solemnized ye fourth day of ye ffifth month, called July - 1684 before

Robert Stacy, Justice
Thos. Rivch. Register
Thos. Butcher
John Day
Elizabeth Day.

The above marriage from the oldest book of marriages & c. in the office of the Sec. of State at Trenton
on P. 2. it being the 12th marriage recorded. That the above Robert Ingall was intended for Engle is no doubt as Joan Horne
was our ancestors name, & John Day
as witness was one of the executors
of his will in 1696 evidently a life long friend.

Thos. Butcher was of the same
tow. of Springfield. Elizabeth Day being a minister among Friends.

It would seem quite probable that Robert Engle, being a young unmarried man, when he came to these parts, that having no home of his own prior to his marriage that he made his home with John Day near the present site of Johns Johnston, which farm now belongs to Barclay White.

The name of Horne is found among the early records of Friends Edward Horne + wife Elizabeth, a minister, but a certificate from Hoveham, Sussex, Co. England, dated 10-10-1723 to Phila. In an old marriage certificate dated 1730 of a couple married at Abington will be found the names of W^m Horne, a witness.

Ester Horne was married at Little Egg Harbor meeting in 1743-12/14/1770 W^m Horne and others had an appointed meeting at Monroestown. Susanna Horne, a minister, visited the country in 1815. (From journal of John Hunt.)

In Powell's Book of Surveys at Trenton is found the following survey record.

Surveyed then for R. Engle, one parcel of ground, beginning at a black oak marked for a corner by a small brook of Northampton R. by W^m Haskell's (Hasker) land, it runs thence S.W. 16 ch. then N.W. 25 ch. then S.W. 15 ch. then S.E. to a white oak for a corner on the east side of the said brook thence along near ye brook N. N.E.

#2 ch. to a black oak for a corner
thence down said brook for ye first station.

Surveyed for 100 acres - 1st mo.
1685 by Daniel Heeds.

This was undoubtedly the first
survey of land made for Pubt.
Engle acco^{to} the survey next made would lead one to think the previous survey was made in 1683, but I think it is an error in figure 3 being made instead of a 5-
or a mistake made in the first record.

The draft on op. page is made in accord with the record as found in Trenton & also at Burlington in Surveyor General's office.

The land thus located in the primaeval forests of Busham was on and included much of what was known later as Masons Creek & his lay mostly to the west thereof embracing within its bounds the farms of late, belonging to Jacob Sharp, deceased & also part of that owned by Christopher Jones.

The S.W. line of the Sharpe
farm of the day being one of the original lines
Robert Engle & wife having secured title to land for a home with but one adjacent owner amid the wilds that of W^m Hasker. No place of shelter greeted the primitive emigrants but that provided by nature in her wealth of timber and occasional hillside defense which could be made into a cave. This was the common lot of all our ancestors who early came to enjoy freedom and liberty of conscience and to hew out a home in the then vast and almost unbroken wilderness.

Then also now the pioneer tiller of the soil in all new lands of the earth had to encounter the same miasmatic conditions consequent upon the upturning of the soil after the removal of the timber. This condition coupled with a life of severe physical labor with the few rude implements of that age no doubt shortened the lives of many & it appears that P. Engle died young, as his death occurred 13 years after his coming to this country while his only child was in his boyhood.

The early settlers in choosing a site for a home chose such along the water courses of the country, as was was much of a necessity. Therefore P. Engle included his first survey such of the stream, then called a brook that emptied into the Northampton R. This included a big valley of low lands on either side suitable for meadows.

Six months after P. Engle located his land in N. J. he bot. rights to locate land in Penn. which would seem to show that he was undecided about N. J. or Penn.

In the records of deeds in Phila. Broad & Market Sts. will be found the following. Liber E. No. 1. P. 530-6 Mo. 26th, 1685 (called Aug.) Thos. Phillips & wife Mercy of P. J. to P. Engle of Northampton P. near Burlington in the Province of West Jersey - Yeomen for the sum of 40 shillings 100 acres of land lying & being in the Co. of Bucks & Province of Pa. Witnesses John Delaval
Philip Richards
Thos. Bond.

In Liber E. No. 1. P. 537. will also be found the following record. Omitted as it was a survey & of little value.

From the survey it appears that its most northwardly & starting point was near & a little east of the spot whereon was later built the *mill known in the 18th century as Engles & extending in a S. W. direction it included in its limits all the valley & low lands on both sides of the creek.

Built prior to 1762.

as far south as what is now the dividing line between Warrington & Carroll, the Sharp farm today. which line is the one & same as designated in the 1st & 2nd survey, is running S. S. E. being the S. boundary of Engle Haines farm unaltered since 1685.

A small piece of meadow land lying on Masons Creek at the extreme E. limit of Chart #2. descended from father to son down to the 7th generation when it became the property of Chas. H. Engle. who sold the same a few years since after a price of $200⁰⁰ in the name, it now belongs to the Shaddox Woolman farm.

From all the information acquired by a diligent research of records as it is told by surveys shown herein, the writer (Chas Engle) is positively confirmed in his assertions that the land wherein Robt. Engle first lived was the same as occupied by his son John, by right of inheritance. This son John² was the only child. This was also occupied by his eldest grandson Robt Engle, wherein 1774 he died, which site is about where at this time stands the buildings of Jacob Sharp (leech).

The death of Robt Engle of Gusham occurred sometime between the 4th of 4^{mo} & the 1st of 6^{mo} 1696. He left a will which was duly proven & filed in the office of the Sec. of State at Trenton. At that time no will were recorded in this state, but the original will can there be found with the Inventory of the Estate & the Bond of Indemnity thereto.

It appears that after the death of Robt Engle in 1696 his widow's minor son continued to occupy the plantation & be active in the country's progress
 in extending their possessions.
 In the year 1700 Joanne Engle,
 the widow, bot of Francis Collins rights of property for 150 A. of land which she had surveyed to her in 1702
 Said land being on the N. side of a branch of the Raritan adjoining lands of Nathl. Paine.

In 1703 - 23rd of 9th mo. (Nov). Joane
 Engle married Henry Chilton of Phila.
 at Gusham meeting - the 2nd marriage at that place. In records it shows that
 H. Chilton married again 4/15/1727/ Joane
 Engle Chilton died in 1725 - some years
 after the death of her son John Engle²

Second Generation

lineal ancestor John Engle 2nd gen.
 In the year 1707 on the 4/10 (Dec).
 John Engle married Mary Agborn at Evesham as shown in the records.
 Note - Jane Engle the latter was living in Philadelphia Mar. 16, 1715 when she conveyed with her husband to Simon Rosearth
 the land she got from J. Coehns in 1700.

Mary Agborn, wife of John Engle,
 was the dau. of Samuel & Jane Agborn of Burlington N. J. Saml.
 Agborn died 1694 - leaving his widow Jane & several minor children.
 Jane married 2nd John Hampton of Freehold
 he dying she married Nathaniel Fitz Randolph in 1707 - he died
 & Jane married 4th John Sharp
 10/24/1719. Jane died Dec. 31. 1731.

Robt.³, son of John Engle, the eldest son, upon arriving at 21 yrs.
 received the plantation of his father.
 & Grandfather - Robt E.
 Robt.² died in 1774.

Mary Agborn Engle, widow of John Engle, lived a number of years
 after the death of her husband & continued to occupy with her minor children the home & land of her late husband, until we find from the records of Burlington Monthly meeting that on the 6th day of the 6^{mo}. 1726 James or Jonas Cattel or Cattle were granted a certificate to proceed in marriage with a member of Haddonfield Monthly meeting. This was Mary Engle, widow, which marriage took place in 1727, 14th of 6^{mo}.

The meeting House of Upper Springfield wherein was married P. Egle was erected in 1727 as is shown by the date-stone, & is still standing having been made of brick. In the marriage records & in all probability was the first one solemnized wherein those now ancient walls but at that period in their virgin newness & from that bride & groom has descended all bearing the name of Egle.

Robt. Egle, 3rd generation, was the eldest child of John & Mary (Agburn) Egle & was born in 1705 & married 5th mo. (July) 17, 1728.

Rachel Vinicum who was the dau. of W.^m & Sarah (Stockton) (Jones) Vinicum of New Hanover Twp. Ber. Co. N. C. This Sarah Vinicum, mother of Rachel, was the widow of Benj. Jones & the dau. of Richard & Abigail Stockton, the pioneer emigrants from England who purchased 2,000 A. of land above & near Johnston in Springfield Twp.

Richard Stockton 1st died in 1707. Rachel Vinicum was a first cousin of John Stockton the father of Richard Stockton a sign of the Declaration of Independence.

adjoining & S. of his brother Robt. early known as Winnick lands (An Indian Name).

John sold these lands in 1753 & 1759
to the Masons. In 1759 he purchased a farm of Samuel Parr in Chester Twp.

which he sold in 1774. From said last deed on record at Mt. Holly it appears he was then living in Newton, Gloucester Co. The deed bears the signature of Hannah Engle, his wife.

the names of Robert & John Engle who were grandsons of Robert Engle 1st. They being the only ones voting by the name of Engle.

The marriage certificate of Mary Engle & Noah Garwood, son of Samuel Garwood, who were married at Gresham meeting
contains the name of the fellow Engls.
Abraham Engle, John E, Robt J. E.
Rachel E, Hannah, Rachel, Elizabeth, Hannah & W^m Engle. Spelled with an I instead of an E.

19

The use of an I instead of E. is found only on some mar. certificates at about that period & is not found on other instruments of writing at any time in Ber. Co. wherein they write their names & themselves; there fore was a whim that they indulged on those occasions; accts either I or E. is correct.

From the foregoing pages it is shown that from the Emigrant Robert there descended 3 great grandsons Robt.⁴, Abraham⁴ & Joseph⁴ sons of Robt.³ & one great grandson W^m.⁴ son of John - Four in all of the 4 generations to continue the surname of Engle.

These male descendants lived to manhood & married. the first three having children. but of the last one W^m. who married Miss Thomas there is no account known.

A traveling friend Joshua Ewan in his Journal of travels speaks of a large meeting he had at W^m. Engle at benedicta N.Y. 7/6/1796 & stayed at his house. This was most probably the W^m.⁴ son of John³ who had gone from N.Y. to settle there. There is no other one known who can be traced to this W^m.⁴ his father John³ having married an Ewan late in life would tend to confirm the fact that this was his son. From the above Joseph⁴ & Robt.⁴ have descended all those having the name of Engle to day in N.Y.

So far as it appears & nearly all - trace to Joseph & a few however to back Rth. 4th Joseph & then inter marriage in the 6th generation.

Nathaniel & Isaac L. were brothers & sons of Thomas L. & married sisters Mary & Hannah Engle. Panch-daughters of Robt Engle. Mary Harris - the mother of Nath & Isaac L. was the dau. of John Harris of Medford - He was the eldest son of Richard & Margaret Harris -

The Old Road -

On the old Engle Homestead which since 1827 has been owned by the Sharp family & near the S. limits is to be seen the remains of an old roadway crossing diagonally the valley of Masons Creek. which excepting the bridge across the stream still remains very well preserved. The trees & bushes that cover it have prevented the great floods of water that sometimes run, from ruining it.

This road was made by the climb past by Robt. Engle to enable him to cross to the other side to till his ground -

In the inventory of Robt. Engle in 1696 it will be seen he had a cart which later it has been said was believed to antedate the introduction of wheel vehicles into this part of the country.

Remarks -

Having finished the account of the first four generations of the Engle family & line, it will be seen that from the three brothers, Robt. 4, Joseph 4 & Abraham 4 were born from 1760 to 1790 - 28 children, all but one of which were living in 1790 & were grown to manhood & womanhood, 24 of them married. In 1790 these three families & mothers & fathers with their children constituted all the descendants of Robt. Engle 1st bearing the name of Engle. They occupied adjoining farms containing them about 1,000 A. with the mill in the central part. This acreage had increased from the first 100 A. owned by Robt 1st in 1685.

A century & more having elapsed since the axe of the Pioneer was first sounded in the primitive forests of Burr. Co. the time was fast coming when the increasing population of the seaboard would. Many of them would be impelled to seek new homes in the then occupied land beyond the Alleghenies.

In this westward march in about 1803 many of the names of Engle joined, & at this period, it is believed that their descendants
with others who moved west later are to be found in every northern state from N. J. to the Pacific Shores.

From the above date down to the present time, the name of Engle has been among those who left the land of their forefathers in this country. There are now living as a remnant in N. J. about 62 persons, men, women & children whose surnames are Engle, 46 by birth & 16
by marriage. These are the descendants of the 3 bros. John⁵, Joseph⁵ & Obadiah⁵. Sons of Joseph & Mary (Barton) Engle.

This is a small number when we remember that 215 yrs. have elapsed since the first couple of bride & groom by that name began life in Evesham, Bur. Co.

Robert Engle -

At an early age Robert showed a remarkable mechanical ability. He dammed the first stream which ran thru his father's land. From watching his father's mills he constructed a small mill upon this stream which would run. People for miles around came to see the mill which the little boy had made.

After his marriage he settled on a farm situated on a byroad, W. of Masonville. Centerton Road. called the Bridgeboro Road.

Here on a small stream he built a mill. The wheel was specially made so that a small water power could be used. The mill & pond have both gone, but the house still stands.

Robt.⁵ was one of the best mill wrights around. He would go with his heepers & his team to Ohio to build mills.

* Eber W. Engle - son of Robt Engle. followed the vocation of his father as millwright.

After his marriage to Alice B.
Peacock he settled at Texas, a small hamlet in N. E. of Masonville. He had a mill there. Sarah & Wm B. were both born here. From Texas Eber Engle moved to Indian mills, 8 m. above Bedford, where he had 2
mills, a saw mill & a grist mill. Here
John & Elizabeth were born, & where Eber died before a Dr. could reach him.

W^m B. Engle. The 3rd child of Eber
+ Aliciana Engle & the eldest son, learned the ship building trade at his uncle Abraham Engle's, who lived on the banks of the Poncacas River. This uncle owned boats running from Centerton to Phila., the Carolinas and other points along the coast.

In 1850 when W^m. was about 19
yrs. old the California gold fever
broke out & he decided to go to the mines
in ^{Sonora} Sonoma Co. Cal. to make his fortune.
At N. Y. he was joined by some friends of his family. Dr. Hieb & his three sons - Nathaniel, Robert & Humphry. These men except Dr. Hieb all kept together in Cal. Failing to prosper at the mines W^m. in the fall of 1852 heard of an opening in Wash. Ter. for young men.
and the four young men took passage
on the big boat under Capt. Breyer for Puget Sound.

Sailing past Ebey's landing on Whidby Island they saw cows browsing along the beach & decided to land & settle there. Two of the Hieb bros. with W^m. Engle took up govt. claims of 160 a. each. W^m. built a cabin which Robt. Hieb shared with him for 4 or 5 yrs. The claims adjoining for protection from the Indians.

48

Nat. Hill was an Indian Agent on the reservation of the island.

W^m. Engle prospered, gaining fine farms from his claim, & the news came to his relatives in N. J. Times were unsettled & dull there, owing to the Civil War. In about 1865 Gedy Cockett, husband of Mary Engle, went west to make a home for his family.

Several years later Wm. E. returned to N. J. & with his brother John, settled at Jennings Mill near Marton.

There with his nephew-in-law Joseph S. Thomas as miller, they carried on a milling business.

Wm. E. returned to Wadley Co. in 1871 & in the spring of 1877 the families of John & Mary Ann (Engle) Cockett came to Wadley Co. joining W^m. Engle & Gedy Cockett. The family of John Carlin came with them & children.

The children of W^m. John & Mary Anne (Engle) Cockett have increased & spread out to Seattle, Tacoma, Coupeville, Shelton, Raymond, in W^m. & in Cal & other W. parts. They have made homes for themselves & are respected & energetic citizens. The families of Sarah Engle Mason & Elizabeth Engle Woolman remained in N. J.

Dear Rob,

I don't know whether to say thank for the CD I received today or not.

I just started looking at a couple of items, namely the John Crockett and Rockwell houses. If everything else has this many errors, there's a hard job ahead of them.

Following are some notes regarding the items above.

The Reserve might want to consider purchasing my book, Pinehurst Crockett Farm. I just finished it last month.

A couple of months ago I put great grandfather's name, William B. Engle, on Google. This took me to some material from the Reserve. I found an error in that article as well. See below. Has anyone ever seriously interviewed any members of the Engle family regarding Engle and Pearson history?

"In 1873, William Engle decided to return to his childhood home in Burlington Co. His love of the island was too strong. He could not abandon his prairie farm. Five generations of disastrous financial setbacks, Engles are still working the prairie. "There's Engle blood in this soil, and maybe more tears than rain," says Bob Engle, 60. "We've never sold and probably never will, but we've got so much you can't put a dollar tag on. We're here on earth."

From the research I've done, this date should be 1866. His brother, Annie, arrived here in 1870 and I suspect the William returned at that time. The understanding is that he was gone for about three (3) years. He had no claim to a man named Capt. Morgan. Morgan farmed the donated land for 10 years. He was apparently unable to pay off the mortgage and the land went to William. This would explain why William and Flora lived with her parents at the lighthouse after their marriage, as William did not own his farm.

When you read through this, you will begin to understand why I'm interested in the people that are involved in this area's history.

I hope that at least some of the following makes sense to you.

Joanne

Ebey's Landing Historic Reserve

JOHN M. CROCKETT

History: John M. Crockett built this large farmhouse in 1858 on a 31 which he filed on March 6, 1866¹. After his death, his wife Ann remarried Highwarden. They resided here until they sold the house to Thomas Calhoun in 1888. Calhoun remained until 1898 when the house was sold to Charles. Charles Engle built the gambrel-roofed barn adjacent to the house and a milk barn, grainery (granary) and machine outbuildings. In 1916, Engle built large stone gate posts using woven wire fencing. He also constructed a ditch running from the house into the field.

I found granary misspelled in a number of places.

1. The Donation Act ended in 1953, so no way is this correct. Crockett died in March of 1852. Crockett died in 1869.

2. She didn't REmarry Highwarden. She simply remarried. It happened in 1881. They married in 1881.

3. While my grandfather was christened Charles Terry Engle (named after Georgianna Pearson Terry's husband, Charles Townsend Terry), he was never called Carl, at least as a adult, as other than Carl. He hated the prospect of being called "Chuck."

4. Carl Engle never purchased this property. According to a title search from several years ago, Carl's father, William Ballinger Engle, purchased the property in 1901 (the 214 remaining acres). William then deeded the property to Carl in 1906. Flora gave the farm to Carl in 1909, two years after William's death.

In the article that Georgie Smith wrote about the Crockett farm in 1916, it says the farm being purchased from Thomas Calhoun. If Calhoun did own it, it would have been prior to the Drum ownership. Records do show that Calhoun owned the house in 1887. In related info, John Engle is shown as having purchased the property from Highwarden. I noticed that some of the original property inventory property, shows John Engle as one of the previous owners.

In looking at the deed records I see Alva Wanamaker (Edith Wanamaker's brother and H. T. Wanamaker, Edith's first cousin, son of James Wanamaker and Lemuel Wanamaker. James Calhoun was married to one of the Smith daughters, Celia and Sarah, married Wanamaker brothers. Out of the later two, Celia was the double first cousins.

In the book A Great Blessing, the history of the Coupeville Methodist Church, William purchased approximately one-third of the land from Highwarden. It included the Rockwell house, and the house where the Nichols and Keystone Sand and Gravel Company. One of the original owners, Ira Freeman's nephew. Ira borrowed money from his uncle to buy into the company. Todd defaulted on the loan the Hesselgraves bought out two of the owners leaving A. S. Coates from the original group.

I have not found evidence that Calhoun ever owned the Crockett house. I have reference that he owned the house on Engle Road just before the mortgage. It was later owned by his nephew, Lemuel Wanamaker and wife Pearl A. Wanamaker (State Superintendent of Public Instruction), when I was a child. The house was built in 1946, or 1947. Your info states that James Wanamaker built the house. Lem's father. Calhoun was James Wanamaker's brother-in-law.

Sergeant House

History: This house was built in 1892 by Thomas Richards. It was purchased by Sergeant Thomas Clark, a soldier at Fort Casey. Members of the Clark family lived in the house until 1914.

A family named Nichols lived in this house prior to Fred Burchell's purchase. The parents and three daughters: Lois; Vera, who operated a beauty parlor; and Jessie. of the building where Tom Howell had his barber shop; and Jessie.

From 1947 to 1969, Fred Burchell occupied the lower floor of the house. The house was vacant for the next ten years. The Madsen's purchased it in 1979 with the understanding that the house would be moved to a new location. The original location was the corner of Fort Casey Road and Terry Road.

Somewhere I have a copy of the deed from when Richards bought the house. I thought the deed showed that Richards bought the land in 1883 or 1884. This would lead me to believe that the house was built around that time. Above. Joan Carter Long (Ada Richards was her grandmother) gave me the deed. and she said that they only lived there a couple of years before moving.

To add to how intertwined these people are, Ada Richards is a descendant of Hesselgrave's sister Eliza Ann Hesselgrave Burse.

Another little side note. Fred and Clarence Burchell's mother, Callie, was a sister to Mary Vroman Hesselgrave, George Freeman Hesselgrave's mother.

Two Vrooman or Vroman brothers migrated from The Netherlands to the US in the 1640s. Avis Weidenbach Rector (Kellogg and Terry families) is a descendant of one brother and my mother's family from the other.
