

Council to consider big budget Thursday

Oak Harbor Town Council will meet Thursday (tonight) evening at 8 p.m. at the town hall to consider a budget for the coming year in excess of $500,000.

Included in the tightly packed total will be a request from hospital commissioners for an amount of approximately $5,700 for a hospital district budget. Hospital commissioners Ed Adkinson and Arnold Freund were present at the routine meeting held Tuesday night to present the budget estimates.

Mayor Ray Maylor will also recommend to the council that the budget be adjusted to set aside an amount of $10,755 to finish two upstairs offices in the new city building, as well as install tile, ceiling and paint the library on the lower floor.

"I feel that after current operating expenses of the city are met, our first obligation is to finish these city buildings so they can be put in use," said Mayor.

Mayor said he had talked to heads of all departments concerning tightening of the budget, and that he was not recommending pay raises for any department heads.

At present the city building next to the old town hall is only partly completed, with offices unfinished. Included in the amount needed to place the building in use will be a front entrance concrete slab walk, concrete bulkhead at the library entrance; finishing of two offices on the top floor, one office for the clerk and treasurer, and another for the engineer, mayor, and temporary council room; railing around the inside stairwell; electric fixtures for the two offices, floor tile and paint; acoustical tile, floor tile and paint for the library, and finishing of restrooms on the top floor.

Mayor Maylor estimates that within the next two or three years city revenues will be adequate to completely finish the building.

Evangelistic services begin at Baptist church

Evangelistic services will be at the First Baptist church of Oak Harbor beginning Monday evening, Sept. 14 and continuing through Sunday, Sept. 20. Service will be held at 7:30 each night. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Crowded classes await new school

Oak Harbor school enrollment reached a total of 2,573 on Friday of last week, with a 2,600 estimated by October 1 at the present rate of increase, according to Wilbur Gilbert, superintendent of schools.

High school enrollment reached 530, with classes crowded. The three portable classrooms being renovated north of the main building will be finished for occupancy by Monday of next week, and will help the crowded situation.

The Junior High (seventh and eighth grades) saw a big increase also this year, with 451 students enrolled in the old building and the flat-top building, awaiting the completion of the new Junior High building in West Oak Harbor.

Clover Valley school enrolled 617 students, Olympic View 311 and Oak Harbor Elementary 664. Overcrowding in the Oak Harbor Elementary and Junior High will be eliminated upon completion of the new building, when the sixth grades will be moved into the two story present Junior High.

A request for a new elementary school to be built in Crescent Harbor at the site of the Capehart housing has been sent in by the Naval Air station, with a request for 17 rooms. The state has already approved the Crescent Harbor site. The Capehart housing will be completed by December 1960.

The present school system has been crowded since completion of the Clover Valley school eight years ago. Upon completion of that school, there were two rooms left for expansion, which were filled when school began the next year.

OAK HARBOR ARTISTS who took blue ribbons at the Island County Fair recently are shown at the city library where their prize winners are on display, and include Mary Dean Anderson, Vivian Anderson, Rubye Weaver and Hazel Koetje. Ernst again but still no jackpot

Fate plays strange tricks in the Who's Who contest. If you don't believe this ask Mrs. Chris Ernst whose children won twice in a row but missed out on the jackpot both times. The entry of Ronald Ernst, 10, was selected this week by Mrs. Amos Hurt, clerk at Alice Estery's at the 16th drawing Tuesday morning.

The jackpot now stands at $157,500.

The Ernst entry this week contained all the difficult clues which many other contestants missed (like Editor Approved in the Business Directory). The twelve correct clues were Whidbey since 6 months old, Albert Enjoyed, (Ronny forgot the capital E), Milked cows in Roller Barn, Smokey — no; Smoking — yes, Firechief, Dahlia, carries weight in Oak Harbor, Pillar of Masonry, Editor Approved, 54-40 and fight (refers to age, waist and disposition, material volunteered by wife), no frilly aprons, and The office is grand.

Due to Labor Day weekend, there was not time to sort the entries so we cannot list the accurate contestants. However, by merely looking in the box, there appeared to be about 800 who entered clues and of these about 30 per cent were correct. Most missed clue was Editor Approved. Many added it after their carbons had been made, showing it was a final and difficult find. Many contestants thought the mystery man was Dave Judson. Others thought he was Chuck Bos.

Next mystery personality will make you ponder, we promise you, and newcomers, strangers, old-timers, Navy and civilian all have an equal chance. Watch all

OH Linoleum open house here Friday, Saturday

Oak Harbor Linoleum will hold open house to the public this weekend, Friday and Saturday, celebrating the completion of a new addition to the business.

The Midway Boulevard business recently completed construction of a new addition which doubled floor space of the sales rooms and display and also provided a second story living apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins, owners of the store.

The public is invited to drop in during open house and enjoy coffee and doughnuts and take part in merchandise drawings to be held during the day.

Join the band! project forms in community

A community band is being organized within the near future, with the object of the group centering on a "just for fun" program. Anyone who can tootle a horn or bang a drum is invited to share in the band, and no age limit is set.

Already the project has the sanction of music and band teachers from both Coupeville and Oak Harbor, and former bandmen who are a little rusty on the music makers are already boning up for the first practice. Anyone interested is asked to call Cecil Perkins at the Island Music Center in North Oak Harbor.

FLOYDS BAY RETURNS

The Floyds Bay, seaplane tender, will be welcomed back to Whidbey Island on Saturday morning at 9 a.m. when the Thirteenth Naval District band will play and local and Naval dignitaries will sit in the reviewing stand for ceremonies at the Seaplane Base. The public is invited and refreshments will be served, doughnuts provided by the North Whidbey Chamber of Commerce, and the coffee by the Naval Air Station.

Rev. Carl O. Olson

also attended the University of Washington and Bethel College, St. Paul, Minnesota. He served in the armed services four years during World War II. He served as Evangelist for the Baptist General Conference for five years, as missionary pastor in Alaska for three years, and in his present church for 2½ years.

The Rev. Olson presents a sound gospel message in an attractive and enthusiastic manner. Rev. Harold Jacobsen is pastor of the local congregation.

Sailor dies in highway accident

A freak accident, following on the heels of a high-speed smash-up involving one car Thursday night of last week claimed the life of a Whidbey Naval Air Station sailor, Everett H. Bohannon attached to VP-50.

The 1956 Mercury, travelling at speeds up to 115 miles per hour according to one of the three passengers in the car, hit a guard rail on the state highway four miles north of Oak Harbor in the Dugalla Bay area, and went into a spin. The driver was thrown out of the car upon impact and was run over by the spinning vehicle, causing his death.

Bohannon's front seat companion, J. Kenton, suffered shoulder and arm bruises and two other sailors riding in the back seat, C. D. Gunz and W. K. Austin, both of VAH-123, escaped injury.

State patrolmen, Navy Shore Patrolmen and Island County Sheriff Andy VanderStoep investigated the accident.

Disk jockey will preside at Mardi Gras record hop

Teen-agers are in for an evening of fun Saturday night October 3 when an American Bandstand type of dance will climax the second annual Mardi Gras.

It will be under the direction of Guild 17.

Jim Nelly, disk jockey for KBRC, will bring over top tunes (records), will interview dancers and give away music albums. Parents and friends will have the opportunity to see and hear the new jungle beat and even try to jive step or two. Dancing will be in the High School cafeteria.

The dance is only a small part of the schedule of fun being planned by the nineteen guilds of the Women's Hospital group.

The event will lead off with a kiddies parade. Children will march in costume from St. Peter's to the post office. Included will be a float by Mrs. Jack Goodman's Work and Play Kindergarten. Teachers in early grades are asked to stimulate interest now so costumes may be planned for a successful parade.

The high school will be decorated in Mardi Gras gaiety, and all workers will be in costume. Guests who desire to enter into the festive spirit will also don frocks, tails or whatever, to promote the spirit of revelry.

Some of the booths are pie wheel, roulette, mouse game, bean bag, balloon game, cake walk, golf, baseball, dime pitch, turtle toss, Fun House, ring toss, and bingo.

Refreshment booths are home-made candy, candy bars, caramel apples, ice cones, cotton candy, fresh bread, cider, cakes, orange juice and pies and pop.

The supper served will be hot dogs, potato salad, Sloppy Joes,

Storm knocks 'H' out of press

The first onslaught of the weekend storms which plagued Whidbey Island over the Labor Day holiday virtually knocked the "H" out of the Whidbey Press.

The big wooden letters spelling "Whidbey Press" lost the second letter from the left as it fell with a resounding whack to the ground leaving a toothless "W.hidbey" in its place. The spelling still sounds the same, however, and foreman Stan Nye has promised to return the "H" to its former prominence as soon as he finds a spare fifteen minutes.

Oak Harbor court has a busy day

Oak Harbor police and traffic courts had a busy session Tuesday with a variety of hearings. In traffic court, R. T. Santinelli was fined $23 for speeding 37 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone and running a stop sign.

Herman C. Casmero, 20, pleaded guilty to negligent driving and drew a $50 fine on his second offense in this court. The arresting officer testified that Casmero said he had had a few beers, but that he appeared more sleepy than drunk as it was 3:15 a.m. When asked where he got his beer, he replied that he got it from a friend, and the court conceded, "It's too bad some of you fellows have friends."

Ernest E. Blackwell, 35, pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of liquor after he had chili, pie, ice cream, coke and coffee.

Merchandise booths will include Christmas ornaments, fur horse sticks, candles, gourds, cook books, quick cuts, window cloths, aprons, pillow cases, stationery, moccasins, hair ribbons, stuffed animals, pajama bags, fancy napkins, dish towels, baby gifts, and general country store.

Guild 7's prize contest is something which everyone can participate in now. Prizes will be Necchi Portable sewing machine, Polaroid camera outfit, 30-30 Winchester rifle and transistor radio. These will be given away at the Mardi Gras.

USO fund drive begins Sept. 15

The USO campaign for funds begins on Sept. 15 and runs through Oct. 15, with a goal of $1,600 to be raised in the Oak Harbor area. Dr. George R. Heap, chairman of the USO committee announced this week.

"When these young men and women were at home our own community resources served their recreational needs. USO is serving them now," said Dr. Heap. "In this period of tension or cold war it is our responsibility to continue providing welfare and morale services for our young people wherever they are stationed."

USO, a federation of six voluntary agencies, operates 267 clubs and centers for servicemen, 22 of them overseas. In addition, USO provides a year-round flow of USO Shows for entertaining military personnel at isolated outposts in four overseas commands.

The USO member agencies are the Young Men's Christian Association, The Young Men's Christian Association, The National Catholic Community Service, The National Jewish Welfare Board, The Young Women's Christian Association, The Salvation Army and The National Travelers Aid Association.

Firemen get 'new' C-D equipment

Fire Chief Chuck Bos went to Seattle last week to drive home an American - LaFrance fire truck which the local department has purchased from the Civil Defense organization, via L. G. Buzzelle, Island County C.D. Director.

The truck, a 12-cylinder machine made by one of the foremost fire equipment manufacturers, will need some added equipment, but was purchased for the sum of $750 from the C.D. Also to be obtained this week from the same source is a Jeep for fire department work, and a desk for the new fire hall.

At present the "new" truck sits alone in the new fire hall which is complete except for the hardware on the doors.

Second of series on thefts —

Police urge parents closer supervision of children

If your child comes home with a new knife, a pocket full of golf balls, or a toy, take time to find out just where the items came from, is the advice of Oak Harbor law enforcement officials who are justly concerned with the rate of juvenile pilfering from North Whidbey stores.

The loss of small fishing gear, sports articles such as knives and shells, skin diving apparatus such as snorkels and fins are most apparent in spring, summer and fall from local sports and hardware stores.

"You can't blame the kids too much when they see stores full of things they would like to have," said one local store owner, "I have heard parents tell their youngsters to wait in my store for them while they (the parent) went to another store. Sometimes the children browse through the store for an hour or more at a time, with no money to buy things, but just putting in time until Dad comes back. It's a poor way to do."

The store owner said that among other things this summer he lost a depth gauge and two snorkels. Articles this size are slipped out of their boxes and the boxes left on tables to be found much later by a clerk or store owner.

Youngsters interrogated by police concerning shoplifting are usually very willing to talk about the thefts. They come from all types of homes, but there is usually an underlying cause. In formal talks among the police, the young culprits and their parents reveal in most cases complete candor on the part of the child, and a division among parents; some are resentful against the authorities and protective toward their young, offering excuses for his behavior. Never is a juvenile questioned by police without the presence of a parent.

Some parents feel they have been disgraced by Johnny's apprehension; others show a sincere concern over the youngster and pledge surveillance and cooperation to keep him from repeating the offense. Several local storekeepers have adopted the procedure of having the youngster, nabbed in the act of shoplifting an article, call his mother from the store and inform her of his act. The mother then comes to the store for a talk with the storekeeper, who is also concerned in keeping Johnny from repeating the offense.

A great many first-time offenders remain only that. Being caught in taking an article and questioned is enough for them. They never repeat.

Candy bars on sale in large containers near a store door are a temptation for youngsters, many small thefts of this nature are committed on a "dare." Small youngsters may take an article "because he told me to," the real culprit being an older child.

Summer time poses the biggest problem for storekeepers because children swarm downtown and through stores with nothing else to do.

"The juvenile problem of shoplifting can be solved if parents will keep their children from stores except when they are sent specifically to buy an article," law enforcement officials said this week. "Dropping Johnny and Susie off at a store to spend the time while Mama keeps a dental appointment is bad. Parents too busy to inspect new toys brought home by children and too busy to find out where they

Nothing lacking but Disneyland

The floodlighting of the outside of the State capitol building at Olympia, coupled with a plan to pipe organ music from the capitol rotunda to the cupola of the capitol dome then by amplifiers to Olympia and the countryside is included in a recent plan of Governor Rosellini and entrusted to Earl Coe, State conservation director, with the instructions to negotiate a contract for the above if the cost is feasible.

Not daunted by State officials who are hard-pressed to find new ways of spending money, another group of idea-boys pushed into existence last winter the organization of a fund raising program to collect money from school children to erect a "patriotic square and the tallest, most beautiful flag pole in the world on the capitol grounds at Olympia."

Had this ambitious program been limited only to school children, whose dimes and nickles would be coupled with an earnest thought of patriotism, no one would have protested. But later in the spring, when fund raising lagged, state employees and retail liquor distributors were among those hit for donations. Where the liquor retailers fit into the program including school children might be a fairly hard puzzle to solve, but don't think the retailers or state employees were happy about the whole thing. They were asked for "ten dollars, more or less" according to local sources, and couldn't see the ten, the more or the less.

In the meantime, lights may bathe the capitol buildings, music may blare forth over the countryside, and the liquor retailers may join hands with the school children to erect in the center of all this, the tallest, most beautiful and perhaps even a solid-gold flagpole.

Who knows?

Oak Harbor has a traffic court, too

The addition last spring of a state patrolman for the Oak Harbor and north Whidbey area was heralded with enthusiasm by local law enforcement officials and residents alike, who felt that this type of supervision was badly needed. However, although the service is good, there is still a fly or two in the soup.

Motorists cited by the state patrol for traffic violations from Greenbank to Deception Pass, are requested to appear in court in Coupeville, although a traffic court is held each week in the town of Oak Harbor also. This added 20 miles of driving means an unnecessary inconvenience to motorists who live north of Oak Harbor.

Processing of traffic charges from Greenbank to San de Fuca through the Coupeville court, and similar charges from Oak Harbor and north through the Oak Harbor court would seem a more logical division of jurisdiction, and mean a lot to the motorists whose lack of time possibly got him into traffic court in the first place.

THINKING OF THE days this summer at City Beach when the tides wouldn't cooperate, we harkened back some years to the mid-thirties, when Ray Maylor was serving his first term as Mayor of Oak Harbor.

About that time, the WPA was in full swing, (Works Progress Administration, to you who can't remember the depression) and Mayor suggested construction of a swimming pool at city beach, which would do away with this thing of being dependent upon uncooperative tides.

The town would furnish materials and WPA the labor, and before that year's crop of kids could learn to thresh about in a dog paddie stroke, Oak Harbor would have an adequate out-door swimming pool, a really progressive-type program.

WELL, THE WPA had the workers, but the town didn't have the material.

Things were tough all over in those days and you could buy a pound of good ground round for twenty cents (if you had the twenty cents) and the fella who had a job at $100 a month was sitting on top of the world.

Townfolk were hard up and that went for the Town too. With a population of somewhat less than a thousand, what little revenue came in went toward filling up chuck-holes in streets and drilling for hard water wells.

Fact was, there wasn't any money. Especially for something so silly as a swimming pool.

THE MAYOR, aware of a prophetic chances in his home town, doggedly went as far as he could, without actually building the pool himself. He had the hole dug.

"Mayor's folly," said the skeptics, and looked down the bridge of their noses at such goings on as building a swimming pool. At Oak Harbor, of all places. With good clean salt water right under our front steps, and what's the world coming to anyway?

SOOOO - to make a long story a little less dull by chopping it off - the summer of 1959 finally got around to arriving, and by this time hundreds of kids were signed up to learn to swim, and while cold weather isn't the best kind to have for swimming lessons, lack of water is even worse.

It just can't be done. There weren't enough good tides during the daytime this summer for a lot of kids to learn to swim. And that was when we began to remember "Mayor's folly" and the big hole that was dug this side of the seawall for an all-summer swimming pool. And we recall seeing how surrounding communities at the present time are putting on huge drives to build swimming pools, regardless of cost. (And they really cost, if you don't believe it check with Lynden, Anacortes).

AND WE JUST sorta began to wonder why it is some folks seem to have a sense of foresight that beats that of the common herd all hollow, such as even Capt. George Morse who went to bat for a bridge across Deception Pass 'way back in the 1890's.

And it's good to think that someone was on the ball back in 1936-37 trying to do something that we would appreciate in 1959, in spite of being called names.

And we see by the tide table that we might get a daytime tide some day next week, and providing the sun is warm and we can still get into our 1937 bathing suit, anyone for a swim?

For the most part there are only two people per locker, except for some Frosh who have three in one. New lockers are on the way to alleviate this situation.

THE STAGGERED lunch period is not without its disadvantages. At 11:10 almost half the student body dashes for the cafeteria. Their already half-mashed lunches in torn paper bags are clutched tightly in ink hands. The first ones to the cafeteria, get to sit down to eat. They run to a table, throw their lunches on a bench and frantically signal comrade, while trying to keep others from coming and sitting on their carefully thrown together meal. Meanwhile, back in the classrooms, the second-lunchers try to keep their stomachs from disturbing other members of the class. Until 11:30 the poor teacher must stare into hungry cocker spaniel eyes. Ah well, such are beautiful golden rule days.

Each year when we prepare for the convention, we hope to get something special out of it. Like a dress for example. This year, not being able to wear our new press on our back, we are being digging into the rummage box and looking over those creations which were so exciting several (?) years ago.

Really they weren't too bad. ... now we've ripped off the fish-tails, replaced the zipper, polished the sequins and re-blackened the buttons on our high-top shoes. We are just about ready.

THE GRAPEVINE has it that our own Dottie Neil will win an award. To celebrate, we are emptying out the front shop (all except Kas who is more interested in getting her work done than gallivanting over to Yakima) and our little homecoming queen, who hasn't been with us long enough to request such extra-curricular things.

Also in attendance will be Foreman Stan Nye who used as an excuse that his folks lived in the Yakima area. At any rate many of us are going over and see that we get what we deserve, whatever that is.

Of course we'll get more out of this than an award. We hope to learn what an average weekly editor is since a national study was made on the subject recently. The Publishers Auxiliary says that the average weekly editor is around middle age, (45), more than one-third can credit family background for their present vocation; thirty-three per cent are not editing papers in the state where they were born; twenty-three per cent majored in journalism.

Typical editor it says, is a member of two or three social or civic organizations, a church and the state press association. He has taken a vacation for at least five days in the past year. Almost one-fourth of the editors are members of the Methodist church. Seventy-two per cent of the editors have read fewer than five novels in the past 12 months and 42 per cent have read no novels. "Peyton Place" was listed by the largest number of editors who have read novels.

Others listed by more than one editor include "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," "Don't Go Near the Water," "Rally Round the Flag" and "The Last Angry Man"

You probably aren't too interested in all this but that's the chance you take at conventions. It can't be shrimp hors d'oeuvres all the time.

THERE ARE other facts we might pick up on editors as inspired by this poem:

An editor knocked at the pearly gates, His face was scared and cold; He stood before the man of fate.

For admission to the fold. What have you done, St. Peter asked, To gain admission here? I've been an editor, sir, he said, For many and many a year. The pearly gates swung open wide, St. Peter touched the bell. Come in, he said, and choose your harp, You've had your share of hell!

IF THEY don't get their news in by deadline they skyrocket the labor costs. If they miss out on a newsbreak the readers think they're lazy.

If they print a wedding before the photographer finishes the last of 20 pictures the bride is angry. If they wait till the family has made the accurate photo selection and the aunt has OK'd the last leaf in the bridal bouquet, the readers say, "has this gal remarried or something?"

We hope to get all these things straightened out at the convention.

Dear Editor:

After reading your editorial on the vanishing waterfront, I'd like very much to petition your aid in helping promote the development of City Beach for the future. Your editorial depicted a true picture of exactly what has happened to our Island Beautiful and what is now happening to our own town. Unless others can feel the punch in this editorial and the urgency of protective and remedial action like I do, then again it will be a lost cause. I would label this editorial "A CALL TO ARMS."

I am sorry though, that you did not see fit to put the last three little words "ARE YOU INTERESTED" in at least two inch high letters. If you do not get a "YES" from every citizen on this Island and the Town of Oak Harbor in particular, then your efforts have been wasted.

My thinking has been along these lines for many years. I have approached both officials of the Planning Board and City Council. All members were cordial and sympathetic but pleading and begging brought only discouraging answers, namely "The town just does not have any money." So be it.

It is said there is always an alternative. It's the same old story. If you really want something accomplished for the betterment of the community, appeal to the women. This I'm doing right now. Right now there are two parcels of land adjacent to City Beach area that can be bought. Inasmuch as the town has no funds, here is my plan. I'm asking the women to get 800 people to pledge $5 or more.

But please don't send any money now. Just send a postcard - that's all, to the Pioneer Motel. These pledges I will present to the City Council. When the call for money is made, each donor will have his or her name inscribed on the deed donating the land to the town. As time goes on more and more people will realize the urgency of the situation.

Furthermore, I stand ready and shall be most happy and pleased to discuss this most important issue with all groups, organizations or individuals. Just drop me a card.

Sincerely

Si Butrim

P.S. YES, I'M INTERESTED. ARE YOU?

Washington State will lose about a million dollars in new state for power, irrigation and navigation projects as a result of President Eisenhower's veto of the Public Works Appropriations Bill said Earl Coe, director of the Dept. of Conservation.

The president's veto was upheld in the House last Wednesday by a one vote margin. Coe said the bill contained appropriations of 79 million dollars for Washington projects under the Army Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation.

Coe said new legislation will be pushed through Congress to provide funds for projects already under way, but he predicted it will not carry appropriations for about a million dollars in proposed new projects.

Coe listed new projects in the vetoed bill as: Greater Wenatchee Irrigation Project, $500,000 for construction; Little Goose dam and lock on the Snake River, $450,000 for planning; Bingen barge channel, $10,000 for construction; and in addition $46,000 for Wynocche dam and industrial water supply project in Grays Harbor county. Coe said the latter project likely would be reduced to $25,000 in any new legislation. The original budget called for $25,000, but was increased to $46,000 as the bill progressed through Congress.

Governor Rosellini will be off by chartered plane for Hawaii Sept. 10. It is a good-will visit to the 50th state. Going on the trip will be a party of 74 or 75. The total is made up of 52 business men, Gov. Rosellini and press secretary, H. DeWayne Kragger, director of Commerce and Economic Development, presidents of the state's two universities, and 16 newspaper, radio and television representatives. The group will have four nights and three full days there to express their pleasure at inclusion of Hawaii in the Union. They will be home Sept. 15. The tab is being picked up by the businessmen at $800 each. The trip will be similar to one made recently to Alaska the 49th star in the flag.

The New York Times will carry a special supplement of 40 pages in its issue of Sunday, Sept. 27, extolling advantages of the State of Washington as a location of industry of all types suitable to this region. The content will be two-thirds advertising and one-third narrative. Cost is $100,000 but a major portion of this will be paid for by participation of a number of cities and areas in the state, including Spokane, Tacoma and Seattle. Cost to the state is $13,000 including 200,000 reprints. The reprints in both color and black and white will be used as an industrial mailing piece by the state said H. D. Kragger, director of Dept. of Commerce and Economic Development.

The state ferry system appears to be getting along better since it has put two brand new ferries into service in recent months, and also has placed new and modern terminal facilities at Fauntleroy, Harper and Vashon. I. D. Birse, manager of the ferry system reports in the year ending June 30, 1959, the ferries carried 8 million passengers and 2 1/2 million vehicles on all routes. The system made a net profit of $952,000 for the year, despite wage increases for employees and payment of some $58,000 in retroactive wages. It produced revenue of 151.2 per cent against bond interest and retirement obligations on the 30 million dollar issue

"All you have to do is practice" says lady who is expert with cakes

Shy little Beth Littleton and her brother who is a whirlwind of activity share one thing in common. They like the books Mummy has that show all the pictures of cakes. Some with clowns and flowers and all in pretty colors. They know that when birth dates come around they'll have a cake fit for a king. Like the one with the clowns falling over the edge or the beautiful one she decorated recently for an Oak Harbor pastor's birthday with a Bible complete with bookmarker made of frosting.

Self-taught, Ida Lou purchased a little kit one day and began to practice. Then she was invited to an enlisted men's wives club to demonstrate and also the chiefs wives club. She has added to her collection of points and built up a small library of books and illustrations.

"I HAD TO look into the use of wax paper bags to use as tubes," she explained. "The parchment ones cost 10 cents each and I sometimes use as many as 10 bags to a cake. Now I make my own. I also found that some plastic points will crack after a time so I stick pretty much to the metal variety."

Even with this know-how and talent, the Littletons don't live on cake. She makes the usual number most families eat and her husband's favorite is a pineapple cake using fruit juice instead of water. Then she puts a little juice into the frosting as well.

SHEET CAKES are a little easier to do, she finds, and later on she hopes to take a professional course in decorating and perhaps make a little money on the side. "There really isn't much profit in it, but it's fun to do," she said.

Perhaps the fact that Ida Lou is a native Texan accounts for her culinary inclination. Both she and Bob are from that state (Minola and Golden). A tall girl with naturally curly hair and a few freckles across her attractive face, she's an expert seamstress and a former draftsman. She studied at Texas University for Women and a year at Purdue.

"YOU DO have to have an aptitude for drawing, etc. but many companies will take you out of high school and train you for their own particular type of work. I did geophysical drafting for an oil company and electronics and electrical work for the aircraft industry. Both are fascinating and I hope someday to brush up on my work and return to the drawing board. After the children are in school. We waited nine years for our first baby and I'm not in a hurry to leave them with someone else just yet."

In October the family will transfer to San Diego where they have a home waiting for them. Bob has been with VAH-4 here (AD1) and has been in aviation during his Navy duty. He served in World War II, stayed out for a while and then re-enlisted.

Bob's a fishing enthusiast and the family particularly enjoys the bass he catches. He re-upholsters furniture with a professional touch and has re-finished a bookcase and wall rack to look like new — all without formal instruction. Together Bob and Ida Lou are nice people to have in the community.

FOR THOSE who wish to take a tube in hand, here is Ida Lou's basic frosting which she uses for decorating. The cake may be previously frosted with a creamy shortening frosting.

4 tbs. shortening or butter
2½ cups powdered sugar
2 egg whites
½ tsp. vanilla
coloring and flavoring to suit.
Sift sugar, cream shortening. Beat egg whites until stiff. Combine and add ½ tsp. vanilla. Practice will enable a beginner to judge if frosting is correct consistency to make flowers, etc. More sugar or drops of water may be added.

Rain can't cool Whidbey welcome

Loyal Whidbey natives might greet newcomers with the well worn phrase "but this is unusual weather." But truthful Whidbey natives will give it to them straight from the shoulder "this is typical fall weather." However, we hope the warmth and sunshine of smiles of inhabitants make up for dreariness overhead and underfoot.

First on the list of folks recently welcomed by the hospitality committee is LT Paul R. Tripp and his wife Rena. They came from Washington, D.C. and are now at 6524 60 N.W. Mr. Tripp will be with VP-2.

Newly married LTJg and Mrs. William D. Sterton are settled in a home at Sunset Beach west of Hillcrest. Mrs. Sterton will be known as Martha to her friends. Guam was Sterton's last duty station and he also is with VP-2.

A bit of the Irish came our way from New Orleans, Louisiana when LT John W. O'Brien and Joan brought Jeffrey 6, Wesley 5 and Maureen 2 to see Whidbey. He will be ComFair Whidbey. They are snug for the winter at Rt. 1, Box 458A, in Coupeville.

CDR Francis M. Welch has arrived to relieve Capt. Hodges of the post of Executive Officer, NAS. Mrs. Welch, Jeanne, and sons James 16 and Michael 14 were previously at home with the commander in Rota, Spain. They will occupy Qtrs. T. Another new name on the roster

1959 game laws now available

A. V. Bertucci, Chief of the Game Dept's License Divn., announced the official 1959 hunting season and bag limit pamphlets are now available for general distribution. There has been a change in hunting pamphlet this year in an effort to clarify specific hunting seasons for all game species. Game Management unit descriptions, formerly incorporated in the general pamphlet, have been separated into an individual booklet of their own.

Big game hunters who plan to hunt in either sex seasons should remember to pick up copies of both publications. The increased number of seasons and management units made it impossible to print all information in one folder.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Charles McGreevy returned Sunday from a Mount Vernon hospital after a serious illness and is improving slowly.

Who's Who on North Whidbey

- CONTEST RULES -

1. This is a family fun contest. Entries welcome from every member of the family old enough to fill out his or her own. You MAY submit one entry per person at any or all of the Sponsoring Merchants whose ads are in the row that is heavily bordered this week—but only one entry per person at any one store (more than one will disqualify all entries of that person for that week). Anyone may enter unless a member of your family is employed by the WHIDBEY PRESS. Sponsoring Merchants and their families (and their employees and families) are most welcome to enter—but one special rule applies: during the weeks when entries are brought into the store, you may enter only at the other two stores in the same row (not in your own store).

2. Nothing to buy. Use any slip of paper for entry blank. DO NOT put your name in an envelope. Not necessary to be present at the drawing to win. Not necessary to be a subscriber to the paper to participate.

3. WHO'S WHO may be anyone in the North Whidbey area. Clues to his or her identity will be hidden ONLY in ads of Sponsoring Merchants (this means any ad in this section or any ad of the same merchant elsewhere in the paper). Clues will be scattered—many ads will have no clues, while others may have as many as five. This is a contest of skill, and we intend to do our best to outwit you. We'll be delighted if you succeed in outguessing us, in spite of our best efforts!

4. If, by coincidence, the name of WHO'S WHO (or other facts about (him) happen to appear in news items, editorial matter, or other places in this newspaper, these will not count as clues in this contest.

5. TO ENTER, write down the name you think WHO'S WHO is. List all the clues you can find in all the ads of the Sponsoring Merchants in this issue. Don't forget your own name and address!!! Then, drop your entry at any Sponsoring Merchant whose ad is between the heavy borders in this issue. You may enter at all three if you wish! There are no other places where entries will be accepted—and mail entries will not be accepted. Any member of the family may bring in all entries for that family. Children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult.

6. This week's contest starts when you receive this issue, and closes at 5 p.m. Monday of the following week. At that time (5 p.m. next Monday) a drawing will be held. The first entry drawn that correctly identifies WHO'S WHO will win $7.50. If THAT entry also lists every clue hidden in all ads of Sponsoring Merchants, a BONUS of $37.50 will be added. Whenever this BONUS is not won, it will be added to next week's BONUS—which will continue to grow until it is won! Winning the BONUS requires a PERFECT list of clues—the exact number and all copied correctly and exactly as in the paper. (Watch those capitals, etc.)

7. Every possible precaution will be taken to prevent typographical errors that might be mistaken for clues, but erroneous typography CANNOT BE GUARANTEED. The publishers of the OAK HARBOR NEWS and the ISLAND COUNTY TIMES will be the judge and their decision is final.

8. All clues will be in the Island County Times and the Oak Harbor News.

Start of school critical time for accidents

Readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmatic time is here again for the cities' youngsters. School has either started—or is about to—everywhere, and once again we must increase our vigilance while driving. This was the warning issued today by Chief Murray of the Oak Harbor Police Department.

"School time," the Chief said, "takes the child away from his mother's apron strings for a few hours a day and during part of that time he is a potential traffic accident victim unless we adults protect him."

In connection with this, the Chief reminded all drivers that in 1958 2,696 children between the ages of 5 to 14 were injured in traffic accidents in this state.

"Many of the accidents recorded," he said, "happened because motorists forgot to expect the unexpected while driving near schools, playgrounds, and residential districts. When a child's life is at stake we can't afford the luxury of laxness."

New baby girl for Vanderzichts

Mr. and Mrs. John Vanderzicht of Oak Harbor are the happy parents of a baby girl, Patricia Carol, born Thursday, Sept. 3 at Skagit General hospital. The little girl was born on the birthday of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Julia Sullivan of Oak Harbor and was welcomed home this week by four sisters, Ann, Frances, Cathy and Mary Beth.

Vanderzicht, who is State Director of Parks, has won five bets with his doctors on a "double or nothing" basis; double pay to the doctor if it was a boy, and nothing if the baby was a girl.

Struthers attend Kershaw funeral

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Struthers visited last week in Yakima where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Struthers brother-in-law Harry Kershaw. Mr. Kershaw had visited the Island many times and was quite well known here. They spent the remainder of the week visiting relatives on both sides of the family.

On the weekend Gary Kimpel of Port Lewis arrived at the Struthers home to become acquainted with his relatives he has never seen. He is Mrs. Struthers fourth cousin and they had been informed by an aunt in Ohio that he was on duty in this state. The Struthers contacted him at the base and invited him to Whidbey for the holiday weekend.

DoDo was presented a large box of candy bars, just the thing for a daughter of a dentist! Her father is Dr. D. R. Christie.

Wildcats ready ranks to meet Anacortes Sept. 18

Oak Harbor High's gridiron Wildcats, just a little over a week away from the season opener at Anacortes, are working hard at basic fundamentals of the game under the watchful eye of head coach Red Smith.

Coach Smith has indicated he is pleased with the progress of a number of his gridders, but feels they have a long way to go in preparation for rugged Anacortes.

The first full-scale scrimmage is scheduled for the latter part of this week. Until now, most work has been confined to group and individual drills, with an emphasis on groundwork fundamentals.

Singled out by Coach Smith for pleasing performances in offensive backfield drills were seniors Bob Rhodes, Bill Roberts, Bob Bell and Fred Hamm and sophomore Ole Carlson. Carlson and Rhodes have been splitting equal time at the all important quarterback spot, with Doug Anderson, sophomore, spelling them.

Defensive backfield stand-outs include Mike Sullivan, Mike Quistorf, John Hines, all juniors and sophomores Jim Tinker and Gary Eerkes.

A number of linemen have looked good in their battle for positions in the forward wall. Drawing praise for work include seniors John Sommerfeld, Eldy Nienhuis, Dave Lang and Earl Strong.

A pair of juniors, Ray Johnson and Arnie Jensen and sophomore Jim Kirk are strong line possibilities. Three others, Dan Fry, Frank Nolte and Steve Ellis all sophomores have shown well in early drills.

Following the 'Cats opener at Anacortes they will entertain Meridian's Trojans in a non-league affair at Memorial Stadium Friday, Sept. 25, then travel to Twin City to open league action Friday, Oct. 2.

On May 29, 1926 Mrs. Kennedy married Frank Kennedy and after that time much of her life was lived in Oak Harbor. Two children were born to them, Virginia and Bill.

Those in the immediate family mourning her passing are her husband, Frank Kennedy, her children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Perry and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kennedy, ten grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Amy Barber and Miss Phillis Seymore, both of Seattle.

Palbearers at the funeral were Del Boyer, Ed Pennington, Orval Orcutt, Ernest Irwin, Durley Hamilton, and Ed Christiansen. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Jacob Hekman.

Hearing set for ex-Press editor

Island County Prosecuting Attorney H. A. Patrick set 3:30 p.m. Thursday, September 10, in Justice Court at the Courthouse in Coupeville for the hearing on George Plume, who was editor of the Island County Times for the past three months. His employment with the Whidbey Press ended September 4 after certain facts in his background became known.

The original charge was vagrancy, Patrick said, for which $300 bail was set. Additional charges may yet be brought against him, the prosecutor told the press Tuesday.

Plume joined the employ of the Whidbey Press on May 11 and has done an outstanding job, first remodeling part of a house as an office, and then editing the Coupeville paper. It was he who by-lined the original Surf 'N Sand transactions in connection with the road vacation story, and also brought interest and vitality to the Central Whidbey area. Evidence of his artistic talent may be seen in column headings in the Coupeville Times.

The charge of vagrancy grew out of a complicated car transaction with the Seattle Parks department and a warning issued subsequently regarding his credit.

Plume is being represented by Ted Zylstra, Oak Harbor attorney.

Fair association seeking helpers

The regular meeting of Island County Fair Association will be held at the fair office building at 8 p.m., Sept. 14.

Plans for next year will be taken up then. All persons willing to help prepare the program for next season are urged to attend.

Association President Kramer has urged that more North Whidbey residents take an active part in maintenance of fair buildings and grounds. The group is not exclusive and anyone may join the association. Meetings are also open to non-members.

If you have any suggestions for fair improvements but are unable to attend the meetings it would be appreciated if you would send a note to the association detailing your idea.

Bridge stuck in mid-air; Islanders detour

Whidbey Islanders, along with Fidalgo Islanders motoring along Memorial Highway will have the pleasant experience of a winding detour through LaConner for the next two weeks due to the Swinomish Slough bridge being open and stuck open with a frozen bearing.

The big bridge lift stuck on Monday afternoon, sending heavy lines of traffic through the LaConner and Swinomish reservation areas.

Quartet to sing at Lutheran church Friday night

The Ambassadors Quartet from Pacific Lutheran College, Tacoma, will appear here in sacred concert Sept. 11. The public is invited. There will be no admission charge, but a free will offering will be taken.

Now in its eighth annual summer long tour, the quartet will sing in Oak Harbor Lutheran church at 8 p.m.

Included on the program will be arrangements of familiar hymns, church music classics and well known "spirituals." The hymns will include "O Day Full of Grace," "Praise to the Lord the Almighty," "Behold the Host Arrayed in White," and "Now the Day is Over."

The six spirituals slated to be sung include "Soon-ah Will Be Done," "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," "Were You There?", "De Gospel Train" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

Powerful anthems to be presented include "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," Bach; "Let Thy Holy Presence," Tchesnokoff; "Come Now Sweet Death," Bach; and "The Lord Is My Shepherd," Nelson. David Dahl, senior music major from San Francisco, will be featured on the program in a group of organ solos and in addition to their musical program, the collegians will conduct opening devotions and one of them will give a brief talk on the subject of "Christian Education."

AT DENTAL CLINIC

Mrs. A. N. Speer who was formerly employed at the local bank is now in the office of the Island Dental Clinic.

which the court suggested that she would probably "raise Cain" when she had to pay the bill.

Clarence R. Buchanan, 20, was fined $20 for driving from 40 to 48 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone, and admitted having been cited once before on a similar charge. He assured the court he wouldn't be back "on another charge."

Charges in both traffic and police court were made against Norman C. Mattos, 19, who pleaded guilty on a negligent driving charge, and illegal possession of liquor, and in justice court on a violation having to do with a minor frequenting a tavern. He was fined $25 on each of the three counts, and was unable to pay any of his fine. Payment of $25 on the justice court fine by Chief Lawrence Beckley, who had earlier testified as to the defendant's character, kept the defendant from serving a two week jail sentence.

Joe Hassler appeared to answer a bench warrant following his arrest in June in violation of the forestry code. Arresting officer Henry Hilberdink, Forest Warden, testified that the fire was reported at Strawberry Point in the driftwood, and that he found a group who had set the fire. Hassler assumed responsibility for the fire, but instead of appearing in court, had joined the Army and is now stationed at Fort Lewis. Hilberdink asked leniency of the court because of Hassler's military service. Total fine was $20.

Mrs. Phyllis Padgett was given a jail sentence of two weeks, suspended, on a violation of leaving a child unattended in a car while frequenting a tavern. The defendant testified she had stopped for a drink after working long hours for three days, leaving the six year old child asleep and covered in the car.

Arresting officers verified the child was clean, well cared for and mannerly when they went to the defendant's home. The defendant paid court costs of $5.

came from, should take a new look at the consequences." A case in point involved a seven-year old who was caught with a stolen article at a local store and asked to phone his mother. "But Mom," he wailed over the phone, "you know this is the third time I've been caught this summer."

A tragic phase of shoplifting which includes children is the adult who brings a small child into a store, picks up wearing apparel such as pants, socks and even shoes, takes the child into the restroom, puts the "lifted" articles on the child, and walks out the store, leaving the price tags and cellophane wrappers in the waste basket in the restroom.

Closer surveillance on the part of local store owners is expected to put a stop to this type of theft shortly.
