Hunting Season Opened Last Tuesday

[By The News Cartoonist]

Strating's New Barn

Speaking about barns—say, that new barn just completed by Rottschaefer & Van Dyk for Henry Strating is a hummer. Ponder on these figures: main building 44 x 72 with a 36 x 40 wing; 18 ft. posts, cement floor, modern patent stanchions equipment all through. Go and see it. 'Twill pay you.

OLD FASHIONED PARTY A HUGE SUCCESS

The "Old Fashioned Party" last Friday evening was well attended and a most enjoyable time was had by all. The old fashioned songs and instrumental music were most pleasing and were greatly appreciated. The old favorites will never get old. Some of the costumes seemed most ludicrous in this day and age, while others were quaint but beautiful, and were much prettier and more modest than present styles. Worthy of special mention were the handsome black silk gowns, of a half century ago, worn by Mrs. Mary F. Taylor and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, of San de Fuca, who came over specially to attend the party.

The voting contest for the best costume resulted in a tie, Mrs. Persons, who wore a beautiful gray silk of forty years ago, and Mrs. Pettett, who was an exact reproduction of Janice Meredith, receiving the same number of votes. Mrs. Pettett was the winner in the final contest. Ginger bread and coffee were served at a late hour.

Besides being a most enjoyable occasion the Ladies' aid cleared about $32.

Sunday School Picnic

The Sunday School picnic which was postponed from last Saturday will be held tomorrow on the beach if the weather will permit. If not, the children will have a good time in the Ladies' Aid hall. Following is the program of sports:

Boy's sack race; three legged race; boy's 25 yard dash, 9 to 12; boys' 50 yard dash, over 12; boys' potato race, free for all; girl's 50 yard dash, over 12; girls 25 yard dash, under 12; boy's relay race, over 12; cup race, free for all; small boys' shoe race. All are requested to bring a basket lunch and every one be sure and bring a potato.

Reykele Zylstra and wife left for Lynden Wednesday, to visit Mr. Zylstra's brother and friends. They will also take in the county fair at that place.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. L. F. BONNELLE

The sudden death of Mrs. Adith Lavina Bonnelle, wife of L. F. Bonnelle, the contractor, was a shock to the entire community. Mrs. Bonnelle was seemingly in the best of health on retiring Friday evening, but about 2 o'clock Saturday morning was suddenly taken ill and died in a few minutes.

Deceased was 44 years of age at the time of death.

She leaves three children, Mrs. Geo. Bonnelle, of Sumner; Miss Louise Stearns and Joe Snearns of Oak Harbor, by a former marriage, and little Olive, the only child born to Mr. and Mrs. Bonnelle.

Two of Mr. Bonnelle's sons have been mothered by her and will mourn her loss as they would the loss of their own mother.

She has been a kind wife, a loving mother and a friendly neighbor and her untimely death will be mourned by all.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon at M. W. A. Hall, Rev. Waldron officiating.

Mrs. Gill of Wenatchee, a sister of the deceased came over to attend the funeral.

Notes From Camano.

WHIDBY ISLAND MAY GET FISH HATCHERY

In the 1907 session of the legislature, Capt. Morse got a bill through providing for a fish hatchery at Langley. Since that time there has never been any appropriation made for it. When the governor was here this summer Mr. Morse brought the matter to his attention with the result that the following letter has been sent Fish Commissioner Riseland by Governor Hay:

Hon. John L. Riseland,
State Fish Commissioner,
Bellingham, Washington,
Dear Mr. Riseland:—

When I visited Whidby Island, some of the residents spoke to me about your failure to establish a fish hatchery on the Island. It seems that Mr. George Morse, of Oak Harbor, representative from Island county in the 1907 session of the legislature, had a promise from you that a hatchery would be established on the Island in 1909 or 1910; at least, that was his understanding. I wish you would take this matter up with Mr. Morse.

I ought to have written to you about this before but upon my return to the office the matter was overlooked.

Yours very truly,
M. E. HAY,
Governor.

THE PARCELS POST ON JANUARY FIRST

In spite of all opposition congress passed a Parcels Post law with the zone attachment. It will become effective on January 1st. It is useless to make any further objections, as the bill has become a fixture on the statutes. What it may cause to happen hereafter or what may be done to change the complexion of the bill will have to come in the nature of amendments. This law, like the rural delivery, has no doubt become a fixture. But the opponents of the bill will always believe that it is a bad measure and a detriment to the best interests of the country. Time alone will tell how heavy will be the blow given to the smaller towns throughout the United States. There can be no doubt in the minds of any who investigate the conditions surrounding this bill but what it will prove a helper to the great mail order houses and tend to centralize business in the large cities.

Friday, Oct. 25th, is the date set for an elaborate bazaar, to be given by the Ladies Aid in their hall. It will be an all day and evening affair, dinner and supper being served, and a program rendered in the evening. This will be one of the biggest things ever attempted here by the ladies, it is said, and next week's News will give full particulars.

Grange Meets

Oak Harbor Grange No. 316 met, in their regular meeting Friday and gave A. K. Capaan the third and fourth degrees. Mr. Hurd from Langley, gave an interesting talk on the referendum and recall, which will be further discussed at the next meeting. Grangers take notice.

LANGLEY TO HAVE FRUIT CANNERY

Langley is to have a cannery according to reports in the Islander. Good! We want to congratulate the people of that locality. In commenting on the new enterprise the Islander says:

"Again it is our pleasure to comment favorably upon the attitude of our people in the matter of a canning plant. The plant is assured and this means the ultimate increase of fruit land values to a sum likely to be many times the entire capital of the canning plant, to say nothing of the increased income assured from the orchards and gardens, by reason of having a market—a dependable home market—no more shall the lousy commission man dope it off to us that he has too much stuff now and that anyhow Whidby product is not in demand—possibly we can dispose of his services a great deal, if indeed, not entirely."

"It is not likely that more than half of each subscription will be called inside of a year or two, the surplus subscriptions being allowed to run open, as a reserve against contingencies."

They have already selected a competent manager, are negotiating for a sight, and are going at the matter like they mean business.

We notice that at the county seat they are also talking of putting in a cannery. Oak Harbor is well situated for a similar enterprise and the News has tried repeatedly to interest the people in such an industry. Farmers, business men, members of the commercial club—wake up; be alive to your interests; embrace your opportunities—DO IT NOW.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the many kind friends and neighbors for their sympathy and kind acts during our late bereavement, the death of our son Robert. And also the Lady Rebekahs for their many kind offerings and Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Pfiffner for their trouble and kindness.

Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer,
Mary Fisk.

Is the Immigrant a Peril?

By CHARLES STELZLE

THE "peril of the immigrant" is a fantasy of the imagination. We are sometimes overawed by the fact that the natives of other lands are coming to us in such large numbers, but it is interesting to note that the percentage of foreign born living in the United States at any one time has not materially changed since 1860. Following are some figures: In 1860 the percentage of foreigners in the United States was 13.2 per cent; in 1870, 14.4 per cent; in 1880, 13.3 per cent; in 1890, 14.8 per cent; in 1900, 13.7 per cent; in 1910, 14.7 per cent. The constant percentage, therefore, is about 14. It is significant that during some years more than half as many immigrants returned to the fatherland as came to America. The labor market in America determines the number of foreigners that come and go, so that immigration is in a constant state of flux. The foreigner, therefore, not only takes care of himself by returning to his native land, where he can live more cheaply during a period of business depression, but he relieves the labor market of a congestion which might result in great harm to the American worker. It has sometimes been declared with considerable feeling that the immigrant comes here merely for the purpose of making what is to him a small fortune and then returning to his own country, remaining there to spend this money. But in the first place he has honestly earned whatever he takes with him and has left more than its equivalent, and he has a right to do with it as he pleases.

But what about the peril of the immigrant? Is there none? Yes, but usually the American is responsible for it. The average foreigner will make a good citizen if the American will show him how. The "peril" is in the American. A foreigner not yet naturalized wrote to friends in the fatherland: "America is a great country. They not only allow you to vote, but they pay you for voting." Who was responsible for this situation? It is the children of the foreigner who are our greatest peril, and they have received their training in this country. The criminal classes are largely augmented from among these children of respectable, hardworking foreigners. Any movement which seeks to help these children should be heartily supported. After all, it resolves itself into a question of neighborliness. How would you like to be a "problem?"

Bothered by Plurals.

The Norwegian waitress who was learning English had more trouble with her plurals than with any other one thing. It seemed impossible for her to acquire the trick of putting on the letter "s" at the right time and leaving it off at others. She would invariably inquire on seeing a first helping disposed of, "Will you have more lambs?" or "Will you eat more chickens?" When corrected for this she would take pains to ask, "Will you have one bean?" and "Will you eat one huckleberry?" Finally the constant explanations of an overzealous mistress confused her past straightening out. There were guests staying over the week end, and Inga took the lady's order for a soft boiled egg, then the husband's for another. The girl, after a moment's hesitation, walked to the dumb waiter and said to the kitchen below, "One soft boiled egg for twol"—New York Press.

An Emperor's Strange Fancy.

Strange fancies have taken hold of some men regarding the manner in which their bodies were to be disposed of after death and the ceremonies to be observed at their funerals. The great Emperor Charles V. had the curious idea of celebrating his own funeral. Shortly before his death he caused a tomb to be made in the chapel of the monastery of Estremadura, to which he had retired after his abdication, and on its completion he was carried to it as though dead. Placed in a coffin and accompanied by a procession, he was borne along, while chants were sung, prayers said and tears shed. After the solemn farce was over he was left alone in the chapel, where he remained a short time before rising out of the coffin.

Why Bother About the Rest?

"Does your husband carry any life insurance?"
"I don't know."
"I should think you would want to be informed about a matter that would be so serious to you."
"How could it be serious to me?"
"Why, if he died you would wish to know whether he had left you anything or not, wouldn't you?"
"Oh, if he died he would leave me a widow, and I should know that right away."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Fame Dickens Gave Bath.

Bath is a city for which the Dickens lover ought to have a peculiar affection. Dickens stayed frequently in Bath in his early days, when engaged on reporting work, and his tobacco jar and beer mug are still piously preserved at the Saracen's Head. About six miles from Bath is the tiny village of Pickwick, through which Dickens often passed, and he bestowed the name upon his most famous creation. Many of the scenes in "Pickwick" are, it will be remembered, laid in Bath. There is at the present moment—or was until quite recently—a tradesman in Bath of the name of Snodgrass.—London Chron.

Rogers as Carlyle Saw Him. Carlyle gives this striking picture of Samuel Rogers, the poet: "I saw Rogers awhile ago at dinner with Taylor, a half frozen, old, sardonic Whig gentleman; no hair at all, but one of the whitest bare scalps; blue eyes, shrewd, sad and cruel; toothless, horseshoe mouth drawn up to the very nose; slow, croaking, sarcastic insight, perfect breeding—staterooms where you are welcomed even with dummery; internally a Bluebeard's chamber, where none but the proprietor enters!"

Siam's Garden Lands.

Much of the garden land in lower Siam is made by digging trenches to raise the ground, so that half is trench and half ridge, and only rice can be grown in the trenches. Thus practically only one-half of the garden land gives any return, yet the price of such land in the best localities is $100 to $350 an acre.

Gave Him Something.

"Accused of begging!" exclaimed a magistrate. "Why, you are the very man who was begging at my door yesterday!"

"Yes," assented the vagrant, with a sneer, "and you didn't give me anything."

"Well, I'll give you something now. Fourteen days!"—London Telegraph.

Paradise Fish.

There flourishes in Chinese rivers and lakes a small fish remarkable for its brilliant coloring of crimson and blue. It is called the paradise fish. In the sunlight it shows in rainbow hues. The dorsal fin extends from near the back of the head to the tail. The paradise fish was first brought to France from China by M. Simon in 1869, having been found in a brook near Canton. The most interesting thing about this little fish is the nest made by the male of glutinous bubbles below the surface of the water and measuring up to six inches across. Here it places the eggs, some 200 in number, and mounts guard over them during incubation.

The Best and Swellest Kind of Printing

IN order to cater to the most discriminating trade THE NEWS has laid in the very latest things to be had in type faces and material. For the special use of physicians and professional men we have the neatest type design that has ever been turned out. Just stop at the office and let us show you some letter heads, envelopes and statements that we have turned out. If you do not agree that they are better than anything you have ever seen in Oak Harbor or vicinity, we will not have another word to say. Then, also, we recently printed a line of bank stationery that really are nicer in every way than the work. That is a strong statement, but we can show you. And in calling cards. Say, we have got type and stock that will make you want some right away. Simply swell. For more utilitarian purposes we have type faces to suit your requirements and would like to let us show you—we like to deal with the man from Missouri, for it puts us on our metal. You pay no more for this high class work, done with latest type and material, than for that which is a back number. If you are skeptical, come and see. We invite comparison. Prices RIGHT.

It is all right to eat mushrooms if one is dead sure they are mushrooms, but it doesn't pay to take any risks considering their rather limited food value.

The vacuum cleaner is said to have proved the best flea eradicator yet discovered for the use of the scratchy dog. The suggestion would seem to be worth a trial.

Statistics show that there are consumed the world over in a year 1,500,000,000,000 matches. Folks living in the United States scratch over one-half of this number.

About the only thing to stop the depredations of the cat that has acquired a taste for young spring chickens is to give it a dose of chloroform or hit it on the head with a club.

Watch the small boy closely and see what he does with his spare time and spare money. This will be a pretty fair indication of what he will develop into when he gets to be a man.

While not much is said in praise of the hollyhock as a garden flower, there is nevertheless a warm spot in the hearts of many for it because of its being a reminder of the gardens of our mothers and grandmothers and of incidents of happy and care free childhood days.

The amount of trash dropped by sparrows on the writer's front steps in their process of nest building would lead the passerby in the morning to think that he might have tried to stow away hay at night and had mistaken the house for the barn and couldn't find the hay hole.

Out in Colorado they vary the monotony of agricultural toll by beet thinning contests. In one of these held recently three men from Missouri thinned an acre of beets in nine hours, while twelve hours were required by a trio of Rocky Ford (Colo.) boys for doing the same job.

The appearance of all too many girls with their hair in pig tails and some older girls whose hair is not in pig tails would seem to indicate that both they and their mothers are sadly lacking in sense, modesty and dress goods. And girls in town seem to be shorter of dress goods than girls in the country.

A field of turnips sowed for the purpose of giving the fattening steers a succulent change in their ration is well worth while. The value of such a turnip ration does not come from the food elements which the turnips contain, but is due to their increasing the appetite of the steers for the regular grain ration.

A flower bed the writer has arranged this year and finds very satisfactory has salvia in the middle, next to these three colors of coleus alternating and lastly a border of dusty millers. The finely divided and whitish leaves of the last named plant set off to good advantage the bright red flowers of the salvia and the variegated colors of the foliage plants.

The beneficial effect on the health following the use of buttermilk as a beverage is due, according to scientists who have made a study of the matter, to the fact that it contains forms of bacterial life that reduce or destroy the bacterial life responsible for putrefactive processes in the intestinal tract, which are said to be the direct cause of senile decay and early death.

Many an overworked housewife has some grounds for honest doubt as to the wisdom of mending for the fifth or sixth time socks that can be got for from 15 to 25 cents a pair. It doubtless is risky for a man to suggest it, but the institution of darned socks must have developed on the theory that woman's time is worth little or nothing, it being a harmless occupation that would keep her out of mischief.

That Americans have a sweet tooth and that it is getting all the while sweeter seems to be indicated in the census reports on candy production, which show that there was an increase in the value of candy products in the five year interval from 1904 to 1909 of $47,700,000. The increase in candy production in this period was 55 per cent, while the increase in population in the same interval was but 8 per cent.

When the leafage of the orchard tree is heavy, thus exposing a large surface to the wind, and when the fruit carried is gaining rapidly in weight it is a good idea to go over the orchard carefully and bolt through any serious cracks in limbs and trunks and, if necessary, prop up fruit laden limbs. The doing of this job now may mean the saving of many a useful tree that would otherwise be ruined from the causes mentioned.

Rope horseshoes have been in use for a number of years in portions of Germany, and it seems likely that they will be introduced into this country in view of the large mileage in paved streets. The rope portion of the shoe is inserted in a metallic body or frame, and provision is usually made so that a worn rope can be removed and a new one inserted in its place. Sometimes the rope is tarred and has wire or other re-enforcing material woven with it.

Chemists of the University of Pennsylvania have succeeded in producing animal life artificially. Female guinea pigs were impregnated with a solution containing 80 per cent of water, 12 per cent of salts and 8 per cent of an acid akin to the malleic acid found in certain forms of vegetable life and in due time gave birth to young, one of which still survives. This may be interesting from a scientific standpoint, but it seems to be a pretty poor substitute for the method provided by nature.

Fly killing contests are getting to be quite popular over the country, and it must be admitted that they have much to commend them from the standpoint of cleanliness and the public health. Recently one of these contests was closed at Lawton, Okla., that had covered a period of three weeks. On the basis of a small quantity of flies measured and counted it was estimated that in the eight and a half bushels of flies caught there were 3,000,000 of the pests. The first prize of $25 was given a boy who had captured two bushels, while the first prize offered to the girls was won by a lass who caught 390 ounces, or about half a bushel. Another contest is to be held, which will close Sept. 1.

THE STRAWBERRY BED.

In territory east of the Rocky mountains in which the rainfall is thirty inches per annum more the spring is the best time in which to set out a strawberry bed, as the usually frequent rains make it possible for the plants to get well established before dry weather sets in. The plants may be set in the fall, but seldom do as well. However, if tried, one should aim to set vigorous plants, taking up as much earth with the roots as possible and having as little time as possible elapse between taking up and setting. If the conditions obtaining during September and October are favorable, the bed will get a good start and will bear considerable fruit next season.

A SOIL RENOVATOR.

The soy bean, the value of which as a producer of forage and as a soil renovator is being more fully recognized as time passes, is a native of Japan, where it is extensively grown and furnishes a nitrogenous ration which serves to balance the extensive rice diet. It grows with a branching, treelike stalk to a height of two or three feet and bears a small pod containing a yellow, waxy bean which will yield in the neighborhood of twenty-five bushels per acre under favorable conditions. The plant through the agency of bacteria which frequent its root system deposits nitrogen taken from the air in the surrounding soil as do other legumes.

THE VALUABLE SILO.

A big cattle feeder near Maple Hill, Kan., is this year building four cement silos 20 by 60 feet and having a capacity of 500 tons of silage each. He owns a big ranch in the southwest part of the state and brings range cattle to his farm for fattening. He feeds and markets as high as 3,000 steers in a season and has fed as high as 100,000 bushels of corn in a single feeding season. The unusually high prices of grain and hay prevailing for the past two years are responsible for these silos, the owner believing that they will reduce his feed bills considerably.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO STATE CONSTITUTION.

State of Washington,
Office of the Secretary of State.
To whom it may concern: In obedience to an act of the legislature, approved March 17, 1911, entitled as follows: "An Act to amend article one (1) of the Constitution of the State of Washington, authorizing and empowering the voters to call a special election at any time to recall and discharge any elective public officer and to elect his successor, by adding thereto at the end of said article one (1) two new sections which shall be numbered sections 33 and 34 of said article one (1)," there is hereby published for the consideration of the voters of the State of Washington the following proposed amendment to the constitution of said state:

That at the general election to be held in this state on the Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday in November, 1912, there shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state, for their adoption and approval or rejection, an amendment of article one (1) of the constitution of the State of Washington, authorizing and empowering the voters to call a special election at any time to recall and discharge any elective public officer and to elect his successor, by adding thereto at the end of said article one (1), and which shall read as follows:

ARTICLE 1.
Section 33. Every elective public officer in the State of Washington except judges of courts of record is subject to recall and discharge by the legal voters of the state, or of the political subdivision of the state, from which he was elected whenever a petition demanding his recall, reciting that such officer has committed some act or acts of malfeasance or misfeasance while in office, or who has violated his oath of office, stating the nature thereof, is signed by the percentages of the qualified electors thereof, hereinafter provided, the percentage required to be computed from the total number of votes cast for all candidates for his said office to which he was elected at the preceding election, is filed with the officer with whom a petition for nomination, or certificate for nomination, to such office must be filed under the laws of this state, and the same officer shall call a special election as provided by the general election laws of this state, and the result determined as therein provided.

Section 34. The legislature shall pass the necessary laws to carry out the provisions of section thirty-three (33) of this article, and to facilitate its operation and effect without delay: Provided, That the authority hereby conferred upon the legislature shall not be construed to grant to the legislature any exclusive power of law-making nor in any way limit the initiative and referendum powers reserved by the people. The percentages required shall be, state officers, other than judges, senators and representatives, city officers of cities of the first class; county officers of counties of the first, second and third classes, twenty-five per cent. Officers of all other political subdivisions, cities, towns, townships, precincts and school districts not herein mentioned, thirty-five per cent. There shall be printed on all ballots provided for the said election, the words:

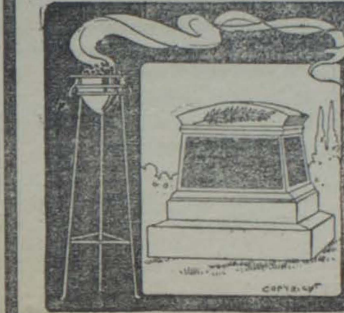

"For the proposed amendment to article one (1) of the constitution, by adding thereto at the end of said article one (1) two new sections to be numbered sections 33 and 34 of said article one (1) authorizing and providing for the recall and discharge of any elective public officer and election of his successor." "Against the proposed amendment to article one (1) of the constitution, by adding thereto at the end of said article one (1) two new sections to be numbered sections 33 and 34 of said article one (1), authorizing and providing for the recall and discharge of any elective public officer and election of his successor."

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the State of Washington.

Done at Olympia this 1st day of July, 1912.

Cornet Toots.

[By Our Regular Correspondent.]

It was a shock to this community early Saturday morning to learn of the untimely death of Mrs. Bonnell. The heartfelt sympathy of all goes out to the bereaved husband, sons and daughters. It was a calamity.

The people of Cornet school district are proud of their new schoolhouse. It is modern, well located and is an ornament. The school board is deserving of praise for the care they have exercised and the time they have spent in attaining so satisfactory a result. A good word must be spoken for the contractors too, for the care and skill they have shown in turning out so good a job from the material at hand.

In connection with the above it is well to remember our worthy school superintendent, Miss Kohne, who, by her tactfulness has managed the diversity of opinion and made us all see the advantage of one large central school.

Capt. Ely and Judge Dwelly from La-Conner, were at the Pass on their annual fishing excursion last week. They report poor luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Sharpe from Rosario were at Cornet Sunday. Mr. Sharpe says threshing is about done on Fidalgo Island, and that only a little better than half a yield is the result.

It is interesting to watch the boats hike for shelter in this southeast gale.

HIDEOUS PUNISHMENTS.

Murderers Were Once Buried Alive Tied to Their Victims.

Old time punishment for offenses at sea was most severe. The code of the time of Richard I. of England, drawn up for the government of his fleet on the crusades, provided "that whoso killed any person on shipboard should be tied with him that was slain and thrown into the sea. And if he killed him on the land he should in like manner be tied with the party slain and be buried with him in the earth."

In Elizabeth's time a thief was to be ducked three times, towed ashore at the stern of a boat and marooned with a loaf of bread and a can of beer. Mutiny was punishable by the culprit's being hanged by his heels "until his brains were beaten oute against the shyppe's side."

The penalties imposed for sleeping on watch were progressive. For the first offense the man was to be "headed" with a bucket of water; on the next occasion he was to be strung up by his wrists and to have two buckets of water poured into his sleeves; the third time he would be loaded with weights and bound to the mast, and "for the fourth time he was to be hanged to the boltspire, with a can of beere and a biscotte of breade and a sharp knife, and so to hang and choose whether he would cutte himself down and fall into the sea or hange still and starve."

Among the rules issued by Raleigh for the governing of his South American expedition in 1617 was that no man should be allowed to gamble for his arms or clothes "on the pain of being disarmed and made a swabber of the ship." A general punishment for blasphemy at this time was for the offender to be bound to the mainmast with an iron bit between his teeth, the alternative being a scraping of the tongue. All sorts of odd and frequently hideous punishments are to be found described in old manuscripts. In 1775 a man found drunk aboard or ashore was taken care of until the following morning, when in the presence of the ship's company he was presented with a pint of salt water, which he had to drink.

The dreaded "cat" is probably the best known of these old naval punishments. Whipping was provided for at least as long ago as the fifteenth century, and in Drake's time the regular trouncing of the ship's boys by the boatswain on Monday morning was regarded as the only means of insuring a fair wind for the rest of the week.—Chicago News.

Marking a Bullet.

When a leaden bullet traverses cloth characteristic marks are left upon the projectile which are not obliterated by the subsequent passage of the bullet through flesh, provided that it does not strike a bone. It is even possible to identify the nature of the garment through which the bullet has passed by a careful examination of the marks on the bullet.

The Intelligent Oyster.

It was Mr. Justice Darling who once defined a sheriff as something halfway between an oyster and a lord mayor. But Thackeray anticipated him in attributing human intelligence to oysters. "I was walking with him one evening from the club," wrote Edmund Yates, "and, passing a fish shop in New street, he noticed two different tubs of oysters, one marked 1 shilling a dozen and the other 1s. 6d. a dozen. 'How they must hate each other,' said Thackeray, pointing them out."—London Telegraph.

Surprise Party

A surprise party was given at Mrs. P. J. Mullers last Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Witte, who left the next morning for Tacoma. Mr. Witte has been cooking in Neil's camp for the past six or eight months and was well liked by the boys who sprung the surprise on them. After songs, music and recitations, they all adjourned to the dining room and enjoyed a bountiful supper. Covers were laid for twelve and it was the early morning hours when all departed, some for the boat and some for their beds to get a few hours sleep.

NOTICE AND SUMMONS IN FORECLOSURE OF TAX LIEN.

No. _____ IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON, FOR ISLAND COUNTY.

F. M. Vroman, Plaintiff,

vs. A. M. Henderson and all persons unknown, if any, having or claiming an interest or estate in and to the hereinafter described real property, Defendants.

THE STATE OF WASHINGTON to A. M. Henderson the owner or reputed owner of, and all persons having or claiming an interest or estate in and to the real estate hereinafter described.

You and each of you are hereby notified that the above named plaintiff, F. M. Vroman, is the holder of a delinquent tax certificate numbered 714 issued on the first day of November, A. D. 1910 by the treasurer of Island County, State of Washington, for the amount of $4.14 the same being the amount due and delinquent for taxes for the year 1908 and the further sum of $3.94, $3.46, and $3.93 paid for the subsequent years of 1909, 1910 and 1911 together with penalty, costs and interests on the said amount at the rate of fifteen per cent per annum. Said delinquent tax certificate being for delinquent taxes upon the tracts or parcels of land situate in Island County, State of Washington, described as follows: The South half of the South half of the Northeast quarter of the Southeast quarter; and the North half of the Southwest quarter of the Northeast quarter of the Southeast quarter of section 35, township 29, North of range 3 East W. M.; also known as tax lot 29 in said section.

And you are further notified that plaintiff will apply to the above entitled court for a judgment foreclosing his lien against said property.

Now, therefore, you are hereby summoned to appear within sixty days after the date of the first publication of this Notice and Summons to-wit: within sixty days after the 13th day of Sept. A. D. 1912, exclusive of the day of said first publication and defend this action in the above entitled court or pay the amount due, and in case of your failure so to do, judgment will be rendered foreclosing said tax lien for such taxes, penalty, costs and interest against said lands and premises hereinbefore mentioned.

Any pleading or process may be served upon the undersigned at the address below stated.

JAMES ZYLSTRA, Attorney for Plaintiff. P. O. Address, Coupeville, Washington. Date of first publication September 12, 1912. Date of last publication October 25, 1912.
