County G.O.P. Votes Dry At Convention

ISLAND DELEGATES STAND PAT 5 1/2 TO 1 1/2 FOR ENFORCEMENT AT STATE PARTY MEETING

Except for one delegate, Island county's representatives to the state Republican convention last Saturday stood pat for enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. Had the vote from all districts been registered as such the convention would have gone the same way. The main issue of the convention, however, resulted in an expression for modification, King county voting as a unit.

Island county was entitled to six votes, which represented 12 delegates, 5 1/2 voted for enforcement and 1/2 for modification.

GROUP OF BOYS DEAL DEATH TO CATERPILLARS

The caterpillar drive, sponsored by the Ladies of the Round Table last Saturday, resulted in the destruction of hundreds of nests of these tree-destroyers. The grade-school boys under the guidance of Rev. J. R. Butler and Mr. Edmundson did good work and were rewarded with a hearty noon lunch at the home of Mrs. Ralph Engle. The hostess was assisted by Miss Maxson, Mrs. Muncaster, Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Coupe in serving the fourteen lads. Ten or eleven adults also partook of sandwiches, baked beans, pie and cocoa. The boys kindly expressed their appreciation of the spread to the lady of the house. The thanks of the community should be given to the boys, the overseer and the Club Ladies, who always aim to take up and help out any good work in the community.

Commercial Club Formed For Island

ORGANIZATION WILL ADVERTISE COUNTY'S SCENERY, FARMING AND BUSINESSES

Howard, President

RADIO, PAMPHLETS, NEWSPAPERS AND THEATRES CONSIDERED AS PUBLICITY CHANNEL

A Whidby Island commercial club, after laying dormant for five years has now come to life and is once more a reality. It promises to be a vital, moving force for the general betterment of the island.

Out of a meeting of 35 representatives from various island points, held Monday night at the Starwina tavern, came a definite working plan and system of representation, and the election of temporary officers to hold office until the first meeting of the club in 1931.

William Howard of Langley will head the club. Mr. Peterson of Glendale is vice president and A. J. Whitney of Oak Harbor, secretary.

The need of some centralized system of publicity and advertising for the whole island was the occasion for the meeting called jointly by the Langley and the Oak Harbor commercial clubs. Individual community and private advertising was labelled as a waste of money. The greatest results will be gotten from a cooperative system, was the general opinion.

Radio, pamphlet, newspaper and theatre advertising were all discussed, with pamphlets being favored. In order to cut down the number of members in the club in order to make a better working unit, it was voted to split the island into three districts, Oak Harbor, Coupeville and Langley and have each district elect three members to the club. The club will then have a membership of nine representatives. The present officers will invite every community on the island to join in the election of delegates from their respective districts.

The functioning of the club will not be limited or hampered by by-laws and delegates will have a free rein to select its own ways and means for advertising the island.

All districts will be asked to call meetings immediately in order to elect members in time to attend the next meeting of the club called for Tuesday, June 10. The club will act as a board of censorship to rule on all advertising solicitation schemes coming on the island from the mainland.

MONEY, LABOR NEEDED TO SAVE BLOCKHOUSE

MEMORIAL DAY

This is the day set apart for the decoration of soldiers' graves. The day was originated in the south to commemorate the memory of Confederate soldiers who fell in the Civil War. The observance was copied in the North. In 1868 General John A. Logan, then commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued a general order setting aside the 30th of May for the purpose of strewing flowers on the graves of old soldiers and for such exercises as the local posts may direct.

Owing to the earlier appearance of flowers in the South, April 26 is set apart as Confederate Memorial Day by Alabama, Florida, Georgia, and Mississippi, and May 10th by North and South Carolina. Credit for this beautiful courtesy belongs to the women of the South.

As the years go by the day takes on a broader significance and becomes more universal. Today the graves of all soldiers are decorated regardless of what side they fought on or in what war they served.

TO THE GRADUATE

And another school year has come to a close. There are many rising young men in the Coupeville high school graduating class. In fact, some rose more often than others at the commencement exercises held a week ago yesterday (Thursday).

Just how far any one graduate will rise depends on the mental attitude of the individual. College or other training will do little good unless the individual has a will to rise.

To high school graduates we have this advice to offer:

Go to college! If you think you can't afford it go anyway. Every college has an employment bureau and the chances are in your favor to get work. Many of the world's greatest successes had to work their way through school.

Stay in college until you have taken everything in your chosen profession that the college has to offer! To accomplish this put first things first. That is, don't let activities and electives dull your zeal to accomplish the thing you have set out to do.

While you are training for a profession learn a trade! Remember, you are obliged to make a livelihood at all times. A good football team is one that has reserve strength sitting on the bench. When one backfield man falls or is injured there should be a good reserve ready to take his place. Just so, you should have more than just one means of a livelihood at your command.

The unemployment problem would be partly solved if most of the unemployed could do more than just one thing. Serve an apprenticeship in a machine shop, garage, printing shop, clerk in a store, or run a street car, then if you find your profession crowded or that an opening is not ready in your profession when you have finished college you will have something to fall back on, until you can get a position to your liking. Idleness is one of the biggest sources of evil and discontent. You can best keep busy by knowing one thing well and another thing well enough to make a living at it.

The advice we would give the high school graduate, then, is: Go to college, stay in college, and train for a profession and learn a trade.

WEEK BY WEEK IN COUPEVILLE BY A. A. PERSON

Funny—ain't it?—how wimmen folks will foller the fashuns, jest the same as one little pig will foller another to the trough of hot stuff an' run away squealin' with a burnt tongue, jest as the one before it did? Seen an apparently sane female the other day with a brilliyunt red fingernail. Seems they do it in gay patee. Course, she said she had hurt her nail and had put some cure-a-comb on it, but ----

This here is jest a snake tail, not a fish story a tall, altho it does sound kinder fishy. A girl saw her cat bringin' a little snake into the house an' quick's a flash she snatch'd it (the snake, not the cat,) and openin' the cook-stove door she throwed it into the flames. Believe it or not, that same afternoon as she set meditat'in', possibly over comin' events, she was astounded to see that same young reptyle glide slowly from the stove and meander out the back door! How 'bout it, folks?

GRADUATIN' ECHOES

Of all the "sweet girl graduates" on the stage last week, it is our private opinion publicly exprest that the prettiest of all (menshund alphabetically) were Catherine, Elizabeth, Leona, Llewellyn, and Winabel. Pretty hard to pass judgment on the male bipeds, on the stage, as they didn't have any flowery costumes to enhance their manly beauty but the majority of us agree that Clank tower'd above all the rest.

An' then they must have funny kind of axes up to the University when they clean up the grounds, for Mr. Secretary of their Executive Comitty menshund som'pn about two-headed axes. How many of the pesky critters did the grade-school boys destroy last Saturday when they had the caterpillar drive? Well, they wasn't any count kept, but it is safe to say that the figgers run up into the millions, if not more so. An' judgin' by the way they et, they must a worked awful hard doin' it. But they didn't get 'em all by enny means, fer after they had left the dinner table an' gone away, it was found that a flock o' the varmints had et up ev'ry nearle straw'ry in the patch.

THE HOME OF VALUES

CAR OWNERS TO HAVE GREATER PROTECTION

Satisfactory experience by insurance companies in connection with the theft of extra equipment such as extra tires, tubes, rims and ornamental fittings and a desire to give all policy-holders the benefit of broader protection has caused the leading insurance companies of the country to announce that car owners will now receive, without additional cost, theft insurance on these items without the necessity of having to pay an additional premium.

Where permissible, policies which are now in force will be changed by endorsement or by interpretation so that present policy-holders will benefit by the increased protection. The additional coverage will apply to losses occurring on or after (May 26) the effective date of the change.

According to the Everett Trust & Savings Bank, Coupeville, Wash., local representatives of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, this means that a car owner who has not specifically insured the extra equipment on his car will be automatically insured against the loss of such equipment.

If the car owner wishes to take advantage of a reduction in the theft rate applicable to his car, there is now a deductible form of theft coverage which permits him to do so.

This is not the only benefit to be obtained by car owners for the Everett Trust & Savings Bank, explains that there are several new forms of collision insurance to meet the needs of every car owner. There is no reason for any one to be without proper automobile insurance since the introduction of these new forms of coverage.

Many car owners have 'taken a chance' in the past. Now there is no need to do so.

CHIC GLOVES ARE IMPORTANT; OUTFITTING OF LITTLE GIRLS

HUSBANDS and fathers please take notice, from now on the dress allowance for wives and daughters must be increased. Henceforth and until further notice the budget must be made to cover the expense of gloves ranging from the most formal types to every conceivable kind such as time place and costume may demand.

At every Paris couture opening, the glove is being made a theme of out-illustration herewith carries the point with emphasis.

The graceful drooping leghorn which this little girl is wearing is trimmed with a broad velvet ribbon matched to the rose color print of the frock. Which is as it should be, for even in the little folks' realm, the costume must present a related color scheme from head to foot to be fashionable. In this instance the winsome standing importance. Perfectly fascinating long gloves in pastel tints are registering for formal evening wear. A preferred type is the 16-button mousquetaire suede glove in such baby colors as pink, pale blue and light yellow. Worn with the right evening gown, they create nothing less than a sensation.

Long white lace kid gloves are in demand but the eggshell and suede tints are newer. Very handsome and exclusive types finish their top edges with borders of rhinestone or bead embroidery. Offsetting these fanciful creations are the very long black suede gloves, the same considered tres chic worn with colorful evening gowns.

Quaintest of all are the very long and not so long black lace mitts which are complementing the gown made all of lace, also smartly in evidence with demure frocks which are sleeved with cunning short puffs.

In selecting gloves one needs to consider the style, the color and even the leather in relation to the costume and dress is made of shantung printed in a delicate patterning which silhouettes blue and rose against a white background.

Designers, manufacturers, also the family dressmaker and home-sewing women in general are rejoicing in the wealth of lovely materials which this season are at their disposal for the making of little folks' apparel. They cite particularly the prettiness and at the same time practicality of printed shantungs and printed linens which flourish in the fabric showings, likewise the wearableness and attractiveness of printed crepe.

In making up youngsters' fashions the very style points which are contributing so conspicuously to the smartness of adult fashions are being exploited in the children's realm with utmost enthusiasm. For instance, the little dress in the picture is styled with the popular cape sleeves, the circular-flare hemline, and a most sophisticated jabot made of self-material.

Another mode which appears in replica of the costumes designed for mother and grown-up sister is the jacket suit, made of lively print silk. Most cunning models in miniature are laying siege to little daughter's heart. Outstanding among these is the jacket-and-skirt suit of printed crepe, as well as those of shantung or linen. For every day wear polka dotted effects are perhaps in the majority. For tots the pleated skirt buttons on to blouse, while older girls may if they so desire find cleverly devised yoke shirts which fit over frilly tuck-ins of dotted swiss, handkerchief linen; also cotton net, which is so very popular this season for frocks and the blouse.

Very charming printed silks, which are designed for the very young, are patterned in quaint Dresden effects, depicting children at play. Suits of monotone pastel spun silks or of flat crepe in a solid color are also voguish for little daughter.

"We think that conspicuous events, striking experiences, exalted moments, have most to do with our character and capacity. We are wrong. Common days, monotonous hours, wearisome paths, tell the real story. The vision may be dawn, the dream may awaken on some mountain top, but the test, the triumph is at the foot of the mountain, on the level plain."

SUSTAINING SOUPS

One may prepare with milk vegetable soups which are most nourishing. The vegetables may be asparagus, peas, beans of various kinds, celery, potatoes, turnips, carrots, spinach, onions, corn, cabbage or some of these in combination. The soup should be slightly thickened. The following will be a good basic recipe:

Thicken two cupsful of milk with one tablespoonful of flour and the same of butter well blended, add seasonings and two-thirds of a cupful of cooked vegetables chopped, mashed or strained. If the vegetable is not starchy, more flour may be added.

Vegetable Vitamin Soup.—Take one cupful each of diced carrots, chopped onion, one and one-half cupsful of chopped celery, one cupful of diced turnips, two cupsful of diced potatoes, two quarts of meat stock, one cupful of tomato juice, two tablespoonfuls of chopped green pepper, six tablespoonfuls of butter and a few dashes of pepper. Brown the vegetables, except the potatoes, in the butter, add three teaspoonfuls of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper. Boil twenty minutes and add the potatoes.

Bean Soup.—Soak one cupful of dried beans over night in a quart of water. Cook in the same water until soft. If onion flavor is liked add a slice or two to the beans while cooking. Mash the beans through a sieve and add water, milk or meat broth enough to make a full quart. Add a little flour to bind and keep the thick part of the beans from settling to the bottom. The flour may be added by mixing it with equal parts of butter. Season to taste and serve hot. Garnish with a sprinkling of minced parsley. Slices of lemon and hard-cooked egg are liked for another garnish.

Turnip Soup.—Heat four cupsful of milk in a double boiler, add one tablespoonful of flour with two tablespoonfuls of butter, then add two cupsful of fresh grated turnip, one teaspoonful of grated onion, one and one-fourth teaspoonfuls of salt, a half teaspoonful of sugar. Cook until the turnip is soft. Sprinkle with parsley and serve. Serve with croutons.

Onion Soup.—Cook six medium-sized onions (chopped) in a very little water until tender. Add two tablespoonfuls of fat and cook down until the onions are yellow. Mix them with three cupsful of meat broth, season well. Add a little water to four tablespoonfuls of flour; when well blended add to the soup, cook until the starch is thoroughly cooked. Serve with grated cheese sprinkled over the soup plates.

VARIOUS GOOD THINGS

This is the season of the year when lamb is at its best. A crown roast of lamb makes a most imposing appearance for a dinner. The nice thing about the crown roast is that it is so easy to carve. There is an old saying among the French that it is as disgraceful for a host to be ignorant of carving as it is to have a fine library and not know how to read.

The art of carving is a most useful and graceful accomplishment, and it should form a part of the education of every young man and woman. Begin with the easy meats to carve, and the more complicated will not seem so overwhelming.

The carver's seat should be high enough to bring the elbows on a line with the table, with ample room for moving the arms. The cut of meat or fowl should be placed on a platter large enough to allow the joint to be carved without danger to the cloth. The garnishment should never interfere with the work of the carver. Such garnishes as parsley and watercress may be laid aside and will not prove objectionable. With a crown roast all the carver has to do is to cut down between every rib. Each piece is then ready to serve.

Cocktail Sauce.—Those who enjoy the shrimp or oyster cocktails or the simpler one of fruit prepared from grapefruit or oranges will like a homemade sauce. Take two teaspoonfuls of grated horse radish, three tablespoonfuls of catsup, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, four tablespoonfuls of grapefruit juice and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of tabasco sauce. Mix all the ingredients and pour over the cocktail.

For spring lamb mint sauce is favored. Crush a bunch of mint, cover with a tablespoonful of each of water and lemon juice, boiling hot, add a tablespoonful of powdered sugar and serve. Have the mint finely chopped. Serve mayonnaise on cooked cauliflower instead of the usual butter or cream sauce.

ROOSTERS SPREAD POULTRY DISEASE

More Cases of Bacillary White Diarrhea Noticed.

Male birds help to spread bacillary white diarrhea among poultry although the disease does spread without males, according to the New York state college of veterinary science at Cornell university.

Until recently the cause of the spread of this disease among mature chickens has been unsolved. Experiments were conducted in which pens were made up of infected and non-infected hens. Cock birds were placed in some of the pens and others were maintained without males. A period of months was necessary before any evidence of this dissemination was seen.

Bacillary white diarrhea has been found to be the most widespread and serious disease of baby chicks. To assist poultrymen to control the disease, the veterinary college has encouraged local veterinarians to establish laboratories which are maintained under its supervision. These laboratories are located in Erie, Orange, Onondaga, Otsego, and Greene counties. Long Island also has a number of similar laboratories conducted on the same plan.

Although testing under this plan has been in operation only one year up state and two years on Long Island, nearly 100 flocks have been handled. Approximately 52,000 chickens have been tested and progress is being made in lowering the amount of infection in these flocks and in decreasing the chick mortality due to this disease.

Ducks for Breeders Are Fed Differently

When ducks are raised for breeders they are fed differently from those intended for market. They are not forced so much as are the latter, and less fattening feed is given them. The corn meal and beef scraps are reduced to one-half the quantity used in the above rations. The following is an excellent ration: Equal parts corn meal, wheat bran, green feed, 5 per cent beef scraps, and 5 per cent coarse sand or grit.

A ration for breeding (laying) ducks is recommended as follows: Fifty per cent by measure, corn meal; 15 per cent wheat bran; 15 per cent green feeds (cooked vegetables, such as potatoes, turnips, etc.); 12 per cent beef scraps, and 8 per cent coarse sand or grit. Mix with water to a dry, crumbly state and feed twice a day—morning and night.

Proper Feed Selection for Raising Ducklings

The proper selection of the feed is extremely important to secure the rapid growth of the duck, and the ingredients of the feed must be such as will afford a well balanced and substantial ration. As a whole, it may be said that the rations used by the largest duck raisers are essentially the same, differing only in the quantities used in the mixing.

Investigations show the real value of the feed to be the same for producing rapid growth and early development. The duckling grows twice as rapidly and is a much heavier eater than the chick, and to produce the best results its feed must be such as will be easily assimilated. Various methods of feeding are recommended for raising ducks successfully.

Poultry Facts

Profitable turkey raising is largely a matter of proper management.

Hens need minerals both for body maintenance and shell formation.

The best time to market Leghorn cockerels is when they are broiler size, and the earlier you market them the more you get for them, though they bring a good price up to July 1.

It is probably best to use two geese with one gander. Sometimes three are mated but best results will be had from the closer mating.

In feeding geese it is always advisable to have plenty of water near at hand as they do not swallow well unless it is washed down.

Chilled chicks will often show signs of diarrhea. Keep the brooder stove regulated to furnish the right temperature and much trouble will be prevented.

Broilers pay good returns when they are marketed sufficiently early in the spring.

The cockerels from the early hatches may be satisfactorily marketed as broilers.

Fastening hardware cloth or baby chick netting under the low roosts, then slanting it down to the floor helps to teach chicks to roost when no more than a week old. The roosting habit will save many a chick from being smothered.

was, on that day, running right into the double fate that was to change
my life.

It began in the oddest manner conceivable. I had finished my cigar, looked at myself in the long mirror
as I strolled out on deck, and decided that I was at least not unrepresentable.
I was in a peaceful mood; I found a chair, and dropped into it, wishing I knew how to purr like a cat; for I felt that way.

I was simply lifted out of the chair,
before I had time to settle down, by shrieks proceeding from forward,
where there was a wide unoccupied space of deck. Girls' shrieks—at least three were in it; and they were screaming at the top of their voices.
Of course I made for the space of foredeck, extremely ready to come to the aid of beauty in distress. I don't know what I expected; certainly it was not what I saw.

Three ship's officers, attired in all their tropic glory of white drill and gold, were cantering down the deck like horses. On the shoulders of each sat, astride, an extremely pretty girl, dressed in a bathing suit of the kind known as "one-piece." The girls had jockey caps on their heads, and they

I didn't need to look at the Catnara
—now motionless, a long way off—to know that the boat she had lowered stood no chance in that life-and-death race. I knew what a shark could do in the way of speed, when once it scented food. This shark was only cruising—so I thought—but if it made up its mind to attack us, twenty seconds would see the finish.

The shark was getting curious; zigzagging about; coming nearer with every tack. "Look here," I said suddenly, "are you game to do just what I tell you and ask no questions?"

"Aren't I? Try me."

"Then put your mouth down to the water, and blow as hard as you can."
She stared; was about to speak—
but something in my face (I think) checked her. Awkwardly she bent her lips to the swaying green that barely held us up; strugglingly but determinedly blew. I blew also. Bubbles went streaming from our lips under water; a string of silver bells, a web of pearls. Years ago, in mid-Pacific
I had heard about this way of keeping off sharks; had even seen the girls who swam in the Prussian-blue pools of Niue, blowing bubbles every now and then, just as a measure of precaution.

But was there really anything in it?
Had any human creature, attacked,
or in danger of attack ever kept away
these tigers of the deep by merely puffing bubbles at them? I didn't know. I only knew that there was nothing else to do.

It was impossible to go on blowing forever. We halted, for a rest. By this time the girl had certainly guessed what was happening; but she said never a word. Her laughter, her silly bravado, had vanished; she held to my shoulder with a clutch of iron, and her breath came short as sobs, but she still kept her head, still refrained
from grabbing or hampering me.

I looked at the fin again. "G—d," I said, and didn't know I spoke, "it's coming!"—for it had turned end on and I saw it as a black spike sticking out of the water, incredibly huge.

I put my mouth down again, and blew—blew till my lungs were one hot pain all down my back. The black fin poised. I felt the girl's finger nails like claws in my neck; heard her spluttering uselessly into the water, game to the last; swung her round, I don't know how, so as to get my body between her and the sea
tiger that was hungering for our blood;
saw it go off with a rush like a torpedo, and thought the end was come.

What I had forgotten about was the boat.

I don't think for a moment that our blowings and bubblings had any effect upon the shark, other than to excite its curiosity. It was the near approach of the ship's whaleboat, furiously rowed, that gave it pause. Pause, I say, because, when the boat had dashed between us and the shark, and four strong arms were busy hauling us up over the gunwale—a thing that can't be done in seconds, try how you may—the shark suddenly seemed to realize that its dinner was leaving it,
and made such a determined charge that the sailors had to fight it off with all the available oars.

They got us into the boat, and the chief had a tot of whisky ready. I never saw a man look more as if he wanted one himself, but that was small wonder; if he had not been playing the giddy goat, nothing would have happened. I think I told him as much; also, that I was not in the least cold, and would have a dry shift in ten minutes; didn't need a drink. The lady, I said, had better have one.

She and he shared it. Her face looked very white, under her wet red hair, and I dare say he may have thought she would take cold; anyhow,
he put his uniform coat round her,
and was making all fast with his arm
when she wriggled apart from him, and flung herself down on the seat beside me.

"I'm going to sit next the bravest man I ever met," she said, her breast heaving up and down very fast under the white and gold coat. I saw she was almost in hysterics, so I simply answered, "Rats. We fell over together." And nobody said anything more, till the whaleboat nosed against the ship's side.

When they got us on board, it was the very devil for five minutes. People came and shook my hand, and told me I was a brave man; some of them
thumped my back; several wanted me to come and have a drink.

"We all know Gin-Sling is game,"
said somebody, "but you're gamier."
"We couldn't have done without Jinny," cut in some one else. "No, by Jove!"—"Jinny for ever!"—"Gin-
Sling's preserver!"—"Hooraay!"

They would have it; I was fairly mobbed. I could hardly get to my cabin for a change of clothes without being carried on the shoulders of the crowd. But that I was determined against; I slipped down a steward's companion, and got away.

I dropped on the lounge; it was some time before I even thought of dragging off my golden shoes, and shedding my wet clothing. I had not touched the chief officer's flask, or accepted the champagne that others
had been anxious to uncork for me,
but I was drunk, mind and body, on one look that I had caught as I came slowly—drenched with weariness and wet—up the ship's ladder. A look from blue eyes below black shingled hair. A look that cast a girl's fa-soul at my feet.

Would you like to try this doctor's laxative free of charge?

Every family has occasional need of a laxative, but it should be a family laxative. One that can't form a habit, but can be taken as often as needed.
When breath is bad or tongue coated. Or appetite fails. Only a doctor knows the right ingredients.
Dr. Caldwell discovered the correct combination years ago. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin combines harmless herbs and pure senna. It starts muscular action and soon corrects constipation. Gently, but surely, it relieves a bilious or sluggish condition. It is mild. Delicious. Effective. All druggists keep this famous prescription ready, in big bottles. Or

What this Doctor
did for Humanity

As a young man the late Dr. R. V.
Pierce, practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and near for his great success in alleviating disease.
Finally he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and put up in ready-to-use form, his
GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY,
the well known tonic for the blood.
This strength builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective when in private practice.

It aids digestion, acts as a tonic and enriches the blood—clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear.

Commencement Edition

THANKS

The school term has finally ended and the balmy days of summer await us. Are we glad? Yes, and we should be. We are glad because we have reached another of the stepping stones in our education. We are glad that we know a little more now than we did at the beginning of the school term.

The Seniors are prepared to take their next big step, that of college. The other classes of high school are prepared to enter a higher class.

We are glad of these steps because they mean knowledge and life. These lower steps, the foundation of our future, are made possible only through your efforts and cooperation, and before we leave for the finish of this term we want to express our appreciation for your efforts and we'll try to repay through our efforts.

And all we can say in closing this year is—Thanks, and we'll do our best in the next step.

MORE THANKS

The Seniors wish to thank everyone who, in any way, aided in our commencement program. We are writing cards, or personally thanking those who sent us gifts. But due to carelessness, or the excitement of the exercises, some of the names on the packages were lost, and, we are unable to remember who sent them. If you do not receive a written card, or letter, of thanks, within ten days, will you please let us know so that we may thank you? We would appreciate this very much, for we have several gifts, that either have names on them, or else the name card is lost. Thank you very much.

WHAT THE GRADUATES WILL BE DOING

Kay Clark will be working at home this summer and will be going to California this summer.

Clarence Edmundson is going to Alaska the latter part of June and will probably be going to Pullman in the fall.

Lel Mitchell is going to Seattle this summer and to business college this fall.

Albert Leetola is working at home this summer and has not decided where he will go this fall.

We all know they are a fine group of graduates and want to wish them lots of luck.

CARD OF THANKS

The Student Body of the Coupeville High School wishes to take this last opportunity to thank the community at large for its wonderful support in the athletic games, dances, plays and for the school spirit they displayed.

We also want to thank everyone for their contributions in sending Clarence Edmundson to Pullman.

The Senior Class wishes to thank all who contributed to the success of the Senior play, especially the Starwana Tavern which contributed most of the furnishings for the play.

The Student Body also wishes to thank the teachers, Mrs. Wanamaker for her fine help in debate, oratorical contest, news writing and plays.

Mr. Fish for his fine coaching work, Mrs. Smith for her work in plays and typing and Mr. Lauderdale for his leadership of the Senior class, track work and play work.

TYPWRITERS RENTED

The typewriters of the Coupeville high school are being rented to some of the pupils for three dollars for three months. This is being done so that the first year typists will be in shape for their second year typing next fall.

He failed in Math.
The boy said with a hiss,
"I'm looking for
The guy who said
That ignorance is bliss."

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

It might be well to glance back over the work completed by the students of C. H. S.

In the first place, the school sponsored two benefit dances which went over big. Next the football team, chalked up a very impressive season, by beating four out of six teams from larger schools. Under the able coaching of Coach Fish, the fellows rounded into a fighting machine which battled larger teams to a standstill. The basketball team, under Coach Fish, won 10 out of 12 games, winning the county championship only to lose it due to a technicality of the athletic rules. The girls' basketball team also won the county championship and played fine ball throughout the season.

The debate team won two out of three debates and tied with Everett for fourth place in the district, which speaks well for the debaters and their coach, Mrs. Wanamaker. In the oratorical contest, Jack Engstrom placed second in the county contest with a fine oration.

In baseball neither boys or girls showed up very well, but are to be complimented for their spirit and work.

The track season was highly successful with the girls taking a close third and the boys winning the county meet. The highlight of the season was the work of Clarence Edmundson who set a new record in the discus throw for the county, won the district meet and placed seventh in the state meet with heaves that were not up to par for the big boy.

The school also sponsored three plays including the Senior play, all of which will be long remembered. The Junior Prom was a big success and went over in grand style.

In the county typing contest Win-abel Jackson and Leona Solid both earned honors.

Then to cap the climax, the school graduated a Senior class of whom six of the twelve were on the honor roll. This is a very high average for a school of the size of C. H. S. and speaks well for the school.
