Mrs. A. C. McLeod wishes to announce to her friends and patrons that on October 1 she will have a full and complete stock of Fall and Winter Millinery.

The supper given by the Ladies Aid Society on Friday, August 25, was a great success, both socially and financially. There were about 80 present and cleared about $25.

CAPITOL NEWS-LETTER

by Howard L. Hensley.

Harry D. Moore is again on the road for the Industrial Insurance Commission after a week in the Olympia office.

"No running of deer with dogs" is the ultimatum from the attorney general's office. That's what the legislature meant.

North Yakima has over $539,000.00 on the right side of the ledger according to the recent visit of the state board of accountancy.

Fire Warden J. R. Welby is patrolling the forests of Okanogan, Stevens, Ferry and Pend Oreille counties "from a car window."

The Public Service Commission will hear the differences between the Burbank Irrigation Company and its customers September 4.

Commissioner C. A. Pratt, of the Industrial Insurance Commission, will speak at Elma on Labor Day on the workmen's compensation act.

State Geologist Henry Landes has issued a report on soil and rock survey in Southwestern Washington that shows up opportunity with a capital "O."

The tax commission says that Uncle Jim Hill's Great Northern properties in the state are worth $67,000,000, which is $7,422,788 better than last year.

The endless O. W. R. & N. wheat rate squabble has been ended by the railway's filing of the same rates for competitive as for non-competitive points.

The Hay administration is credited with retiring $1,200,000 worth of bonds, turning back $314,000 unused appropriations and reducing the state tax 1.80 mills.

Tenting, the Olympia quarry suburb, and Tunnawater, given that made the water famous, have been certified by the state board of accountancy as financially O. K.

J. F. Gillies, of Seattle, an expert railroad accountant, has been appointed bookkeeper and auditor for the Industrial Insurance Commission with headquarters at Olympia.

Publicity for the findings of the county boards of equalization is decreed by the State Tax Commission. They must be printed in the county official paper at the county's expense.

Captain Ihmar Martindele Howell, secretary of state, will be governor pro-tem during the chief executive's visit to the East. The gallant bridegroom surely looks the part.

Grant Neal, of Anacortes, former member of the State Board of Control, has been appointed traveling auditor for the Industrial Insurance Commission, and attached to the Seattle district.

Spokane's staking fund sticks as a legal proposition and the inland empire capital may lay aside $125,000 for fifty years, thus retiring the million dollar bond issue; so says the supreme court.

"Is an iron bridge a bridge or a steel frame structure?" Answered by the Industrial Insurance Commission: Its a bridge and takes a 6% per cent rate not 8 per cent as applied to steel frames of big buildings.

The contract for the new Temple of Justice and the group scheme for the new Capitol buildings is well under way with Architect W. R. Wilder, of New York, and calls for bids on the building are expected December 1.

The Industrial Insurance Commission has ruled that the manufacture of glass jars, insulators, etc., goes in class 35 with tile, brick, pottery and porcelain; and the manufacture of ammonia in class 37, with breweries and bottling works. Both take a 2 per cent rate.

Dr. J. W. Mowell, of Olympia, newly appointed chief physician of the Industrial Insurance Commission, is a Pennsylvanian by birth, a Missourian by education, and an Olympian by marriage and adoption. He will have an office in Olympia, with jurisdiction of the district examining physicians, to be appointed later.

Lone Lake Jottings

John Schunacker is building a new barn.

Mr. Halverson was a Seattle visitor last week.

Mr. Becker is working at Pecks ranch now.

Alfred Siemera was an Everett visitor Saturday.

Miss Lillie Olsen spent a few days at Everett last week.

Miss Annie Eric visited with friends at Everett last week.

Miss Florence Lund, of Seattle, is visiting her parents here.

Remember the Box Social on Tuesday evening, September 5.

Messrs. Brown and Bartlett were business visitors to Everett Monday.

Mr. John Boch and cousin, Miss May Burk, of Stanwood, are visiting here now.

Mrs. Olat Olson and son, of Oak Harbor, visited among friends here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hennessen and family of Seattle were visitors at the Thompson home last week.

Visitors to Everett Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mubbr, and Mrs. Otto Olson and daughter.

The Ladies Aid Society will give a quilting party at Mrs. B. O. Lund's residence on September 7.

Everett visitors last Saturday were Messrs. Harth and daughter Beatrice, C. G. Melandy and son, Frank Jewett, O. Eric, and Chas. Muhr.

Freeland Notes

H. B. Blair was in Everett transacting business last Saturday and again on Monday.

Mrs. Addie Post went to Langley last Saturday to transact business, returning Sunday.

P. A. Bendershot, a traveling salesman of Seattle, was interviewing our merchants last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wright and daughter, Miss Nettie, were out of town visitors last Monday.

H. Botten of Everett, and M. Botten of Belingham, came over Saturday night to look up the land one of them had purchased, returning Sunday by way of Langley.

The Himalaya Giant blackberries, which are at their best right now, are very beautiful to see. This country is certainly adapted to berry raising and especially the Himalaya Giant.

The people of Taylor's Camp chartered the launch Ruby Marie last Sunday for a trip to Desception Pass, which is the second one up there in the last two weeks. A fine time is reported.

Miss Olive Erehlinger, one of our new teachers, came from Tacoma last Thursday, and is stopping at the Crest House until Saturday. She seemed pleased with the outlook here, and we are all pleased with her appearance.

Robert B. Pitzer, who has been visiting friends here for a week, left last Thursday for Camano, where he visited until Saturday, going from there to Seattle to attend the teachers' institute before beginning his school at Holywood near Lake Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Brunell have moved to Greenbanks, where Mr. Brunell will be assistant superintendent and Mrs. Brunell will handle the culinary department and will have from six to ten men to cook for. That it will be well handled goes without saying.

N. G. Anderson and Olat Eklund were guests at the Crest House over Sunday, coming up from Seattle to look at some land they are thinking of purchasing here. Sunday afternoon each of them picked a crate of Himalaya blackberries at Mrs. Pierson's to take home with them.

Camano Happenings

A. E. Prissel was a business caller at Everett Monday.

Mrs. J. O. Garrison was a passenger on Everett Tuesday.

A. H. Cramer spent Tuesday in Everett on business.

Miss Cecile Johnson returned to Seattle Saturday morning after spending a few months here.

J. C. Russell and J. E. Garrison spent a couple of days at Oak Harbor getting a donkey engine ready to ship here.

Miss Minnie Richards, of Langley, spent a few days visiting with her sister, Mrs. Carl Purkin, at Elgers Bay.

Miss Pearl Milligan entertained a few of her girl friends before her departure to Seattle, where she goes to attend school.

Austin Notes

Most every one in Austin has gone camping.

We are glad to see the Islander out again and wish the new editor success.

The fish traps in this locality are getting more fish than they can handle.

Mr. and Mrs. Springer, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Coull this week.

The school directors of District No. 10 are adding to the old building until they get the new school building up, which they expect to have done as soon as possible.

Fred Howard, with the launch Colad, took the following parties up the canal camping and fishing: Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Coull, Mr. and Mrs. Springer, Mrs. Charles Fish, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Johnson, Mrs. Coxson and son Raymond. They don't aim to do much but eat from the amount of grub they took with them.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $1.00 PER YEAR
Advertising Rates made known on application

Entered as second class matter October 1, 1909, at the postoffice at Langley, Washington, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

To criticize a federal judge seems to be a very serious crime in Seattle. A mass meeting was held in one of the large halls last week, and prominent speakers were present to protest against the actions of one of the federal judges, and as a result nine prominent citizens are now in jail, awaiting trial for contempt of court. Federal judges are elected for life, and the only way for their removal is by impeachment; and the only way the people can show disapproval of their actions is by protest. A courts decisions should be so fair that they will stand discussion. Judges are human, and there is no divine sanctity that guards their utterances. Ministers may invoke divine inspiration to uphold their views, and none dare dispute; but judges must show to the satisfaction of the people why they make their decisions.

Now that the summer campers are departing, carrying with them messages of the delightful climate, that next year will bring many more back here, would it not be a good time to make preparations for our fall display of the products that we raise. Island County does raise as fine grain, vegetables, fruit, and berries as any county in the state. Let us gather from the different localities samples of the best, and have them on display here for a week. Then invite people to come and see. The competition will help, and the amount of advertising received will do good also. Snohomish is already making arrangements for such a display, and the business men of Everett will have an exhibit for a week. Let us invite the Everett people here so that they may see what we produce.

The gradual improvements that are being made in a community are not generally noticed by those who live in a place, but outsiders who visit occasionally are better judges.

We are informed by visitors that Island County is being well advertised by tourists and summer campers. Each person who spends a summer here, and experiences the pleasant climate, and other congenial surroundings, does more to bring settlers here than any other kind of advertising.

There is much room here, and demand for many more homes, as only a small proportion of the fertile lands are yet in cultivation. Besides there are many beautiful places for homes, valuable mainly for their location.

The campaign for the election of a president of the United States will soon assume active form. That President Taft will be a candidate is now fully assumed. He has planned a trip to the Pacific Coast, and federal office holders along the route are sparing no effort to make the event notable. He will be in Everett on October 16, and a brilliant reception is being planned by the Business Men's Association. Battleships from Bremerton will be in Everett harbor for this occasion, and no doubt but that many Island people will avail themselves of the opportunity to see the Big Show.

The passenger trade between Langley and Everett has greatly increased in the last few years. At least fifty people each day go from this point to Everett, and return with arms full of goods. No point in the vicinity of Everett furnishes them more or better trade. Could not some way be found whereby most of this trade would be kept at home. There are many things purchased away that could be bought cheaper here at home. A good way would be to spend your cash where you get trusted when you have none. "See Langley first" would be a good motto for shoppers.

A new boat service has been established between Bellingham and Everett, calling at Langley and all way points. Hereafter freight shipments can be made direct to and from Bellingham without having to make the round by Everett. Also LaConner freight will be handled both ways. Good business will always bring good service.

School Matters

At the request of the patrons of Clinton and vicinity the School Board, accompanied by Professor Hutchinson, held a public meeting in Deer Lake School Monday. About fifty persons were present, good will and harmony prevailed throughout.

It was decided to hold school in the Beach School, and also at Clinton, and if necessary maintain two rooms at Deer Lake.

There was considerable discussion about building near the center of population and concentrating all the school of that district, but it was deemed advisable to maintain matters as they are for this year.

Miss Jessie Woodin, one of the teachers elected, arrived here Monday and is now looking over her work and taking examination.

Northwest Notes

Although next June is some time off, plans are already being made for the holding of the Northwest Development Congress in Seattle next year. This organization will hold a land and irrigation show in St. Paul in November. The governor has authorized a committee to see that Washington will be duly represented there and at Chicago. There Development Congress plans to become the chief exploitation force for the seven states along the country's northern tier west of the Mississippi. The Seattle meet will attract several thousand delegates.

Moving pictures are being used by the Washington Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis in the prosecution of its work. The organization appeared before the State Editorial convention recently and interested the newspapers in helping it to make a more general appeal. A motion picture exhibit has been assembled, which tells the story in graphic form. At present the pictures are being shown in Western Washington. The Association will exhibit them wherever a community wants them. School boards are taking special interest in the anti-white plague campaign.

As things are lining up now, 1915 will be the biggest year the Pacific Coast has ever seen. World's fairs will be held in San Francisco and San Diego to commemorate the opening of the Panama Canal. Seattle Elks have announced their intention to bring the annual reunion of that order to Puget Sound. Portland will entertain the the antlered herd next year, so that it will be time for them to come back to the Coast again, three years hence. Plans are also forming now for a number of important conventions, all of which will stimulate travel this way.

Alaska newspapers unite in calling Theodore Roosevelt's writings on Controller Bay and its possibilities as "the most gigantic literary blunder of the age." It seems that someone has been "peddling bad dope" to the contributing editor of The Outlook and this fact is greatly regretted by the people "up north," because the former president's word still carries conviction with many. The mere fact that "Dick" Ryan has been dignified with some importance is also unfortunate. Photographs and charts made by the government demonstrate that Controller Bay never will make a good harbor. Gradually the facts are becoming known, but in the meantime Alaska is made to suffer.

As a state, Washington has practically gone out of the publicity business despite the fact that it needs several million settlers to cultivate its vast areas of unoccupied lands. Recently Secretary of State Howell was forced to admit that he could not supply literature to the many inquirers he hears from almost daily. The last legislature cut off the fund out of which "The Booster Book" was printed each year. Now Washington's advertising depends wholly on the commercial organizations and the railroads. In the face of this, Oregon as a state is spending more money than ever. People interested in seeing Washington developed believe that Publicity and Funds to Provide It should be one of the biggest issues in the next campaign.

When the State University opens its doors for the fall semester next month, the students will miss some of their favorite faculty members. One of the latest to leave the institution is Prof. Merle Thorpe, who founded the journalistic department. Thorpe goes to the University of Kansas at a larger salary. It has been the misfortune of Washington's foremost school to lose a number of good teachers in the past year because better inducements are held out elsewhere. As President Kane has frequently observed, it is almost discouraging to try to build up and hold an efficient faculty, considering the salary allowance made.

Well! Well!

Ma, do cows and bees go to heaven? Mercy, child, what a question. Why? 'Cause if they don't the milk and honey the preacher said was up there must all be canned stuff.—Boston Transcript.

Mr. Bryan may be a tetotler, but there's no man in the world who knows better what that morning after feeling is.

Island County, Washington,

The Ideal Homeland—The Scenic Island of the Pacific—
Its Resources and Advantages

This county was one of the first in the state to be settled. Land patents were issued where the town of Langley now stands when Abraham Lincoln was president. It lies in the center and is one of the largest islands in Puget Sound, surrounded by deep water, fine harbors, and innumerable coves and bays. The surrounding waters abound in fish of all kinds, from which many people secure not only their livelihood but a competence as well. The county is closely surrounded by all large cities of the Sound, and the ocean traffic of the Orient and the rich Alaska trade call at our ports. The innumerable lumber camps, mills and manufacturing plants furnish employment for all who desire work.

Island county has an area of about 150,000 acres, less than ten per cent being yet in cultivation. The population at present is estimated at 6,000 but is rapidly increasing—the increase during the last nine years being more than 200 per cent.

The climate is unsurpassed, being an even temperature, caused by the invigorating ocean breezes. The freedom from malaria and the absence of storms make this a most desirable place in which to live.

Whidby Island is the largest in Puget Sound, being about sixty miles long and from five to ten miles wide. A steel bridge is now in process of erection across Deception Pass, which, when completed, will make us part of the mainland. As soon as the bridge is completed an electric line will be run throughout the county, coming through Anacortes, passing over Deception Pass bridge, and then through the highly cultivated fields of Oak and Crescent Harbors; passing through San de Fuca, with its picturesque and romantic scenery; along the ocean beach of Oceanic Park; through the rich prairies that surround Coupeville; in sight of Fort Casey, and on down through Freeland, Mutiny Bay, Langley, Clinton, Glendale, ending at Skagit Head; and ferried to mainland, only two miles distant. This electric line will be the scenic line of the world, running parallel and always in sight of the two chains of mountains, the Olympic and Cascades; passing through forests and cultivated fields and orchards; along the shores where the ocean surf beats, always surrounded by evergreen trees; the air laden with the smell of the fir and the pine. Already capitalists are seeking to secure franchise for this road, which, when in operation, will add undreamed-of wealth to the county. All points will be accessible to the road, and land values will increase so greatly that none but the wealthy can secure property.

We have a complete telephone system, few homes being without an up-to-date telephone. We are connected with the mainland, and in fact can telephone anywhere where telephones are in use. We have twenty-two school districts, and good roads and driveways; also churches in each community.

On account of its location the south part of the county has experienced the greatest development during the last few years—being near Seattle and Everett the people naturally stop here first. The fine soil, the good water—running springs everywhere—and the sociability of the people attract the visitor.

Our boat service is excellent—boats to Everett and Seattle almost every hour from Langley, Clinton and Glendale, all thriving towns and surrounded by fertile land capable of supporting a large community.

Langley is the commercial center of the county. Here will be built the largest town. The surrounding country will be cleared and densely inhabited. A court house will adorn "Court House Hill," for here is the logical place for the county seat, being more accessible to a greater number of people in the county than any other point. Great development has been made in the past few years. New stores and residences have been built. We have two church edifices and two school buildings; two of the best hotels in the county. The town is well supplied with water and electric light. We have a fine, well equipped gymnasium, where the people can enjoy their leisure time—it is open to both men and women. Besides, we have one of the best equipped newspaper plants in the county.

What we grow: Everything in fruit, berries, vegetables and grains. This is the natural home of Bartlett pears and cherries. Nowhere on Puget Sound do they thrive as here, attaining a color, flavor and size that cannot be surpassed elsewhere. Chickens and dairying are profitable, many families making a comfortable living from a few acres.

Opportunities: We have adjacent to Langley and throughout the southern part of the county a large amount of unimproved land that can be bought on long time by those who will improve it, giving opportunity to those of small means who desire to establish homes while lands are cheap.

Needs: We need canneries to take care of the vast amount of fruit, berries and vegetables that fail to reach the market. A creamery or condenser will do well here and will open up much new territory for dairying. There is an exceptionally fine opening for a bank, a general hardware and furniture store, a dry goods and clothing store, and many other kinds of business can here find an opening.

We have the location, the climate, the soil, and all other facilities needed to make this the most desirable place to locate on Puget Sound. We lend every encouragement to those who desire to locate here. Nowhere will you find the people more hospitable or the surroundings more agreeable than in Island County—the ideal homeland.

Minor Notes

A nation-wide campaign against the white slave traffic has been planned by women of the National Socialist Party. A meeting of the committee made plans for a campaign that will extend all over the United States to reach the traffic in young girls.—The Commoner.

Spokane's delegation of ten representatives and five senators in the state legislature of 1913 will include two women if the plans outlined by officers of the Woman's Nonpartisan Political league and the Political Equality league of Washington are successful. The candidates probably will be Mrs. A. P. Fassett, president of the first named organization, and Mrs. May Arkwright Hutton, wife of a millionaire mining operator, who gave material assistance in securing the ballot for the women of Washington at the last state convention.

And now Uncle Sam is talking about building a third drydock at the Puget Sound Navy Yard. The first dock was a dandy, and ample for all ships upon the Pacific Ocean at the time it was constructed. The second dock, however, is much larger, and capable of receiving easily the biggest dreadnought afloat. But the demand for dockage on the part of the Navy has so increased that Uncle Sam now begins to think about a third dock. This indicates how rapidly naval necessities are increasing on the Pacific.

Oil for fuel at the government forts on Puget Sound is one of the experiments now under way. Casey has been selected as the place at which the test will be made; and, if successful, the entire triangular system, embracing Flagler and Worden, will be included. Oil as fuel has passed the experimental stage with respect to steamers and locomotives, and there appears to be no convincing reason why it should not be employed in the manner indicated.

Sentiments expressed by Secretary Fischer at Denver will go far toward allaying the discontent of the West provided a means is found to put them into effect. In defining "conservation" the secretary of the interior announced that he supported the development of "the West for the West." Furthermore, he is trying to find out what the "real West" wants in the development of the public domain. There is the right ring to the secretary's remarks when he opposes the principle of compensation to the Federal Government for the use of the public resources of the public domain, except as it will aid in the development of these resources. The exception may prove to be elastic, but on the whole Secretary Fisher appears to favor sensible conservation, as distinguished from utterly impossible "Pinchotism."—Seattle Times.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Young-peters, editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by Pioneer Store.
