VOL. XXI. NO. 36

COUPEVILLE, WASHINGTON, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1911.

WHOLE NO. 1126

Another Pioneer Laid at Rest.

After a lingering illness of over two years our pioneer citizen, Mr. Charles P. Eaton, quietly breathed his last, surrounded by loving relatives. He had been afflicted with heart disease for some time and the end was not unexpected, yet came as a great shock to the loving and faithful wife who has watched and cared by his bedside so long.

Mr. Eaton was a pioneer of Puget sound having come to Port Gamble some forty years ago and engaged in the logging business. He afterwards moved to Whidby and logged for the Puget Mill Company and about thirty years ago settled at Coupeville. We can best give the biography of his active and useful life by quoting from Rev. Ireland's remarks, preceding his funeral sermon:

"Charles P. Eaton was born in Sebect, Maine, on the 4th day of March, 1844, and died at his home in Coupeville, Washington on Sunday morning August 27, 1911, having lived in the flesh 67 years 5 months and 23 days. At the age of 18 years Mr. Eaton enlisted in the U. S. army and for three years was engaged in active service during the great Civil war. His army record is somewhat remarkable because of his connection with that distinguished regiment of Maine, The First Maine Heavy Artillery, in which he served. It is recorded of that regiment that it has the distinction of having lost the largest number of any regiment in the service by battle, and the largest percentage, of the total number of men enrolled. Mr. Eaton was in every battle in which this regiment was engaged during the war. One engagement in particular is worthy of note: It took place on the 18th of June, 1864. It was before Petersburg on what is known as the 'Hare Field.' In that engagement this First Maine Heavy Artillery regiment sustained the greatest loss of men of any regiment in any one engagement during the war. Although young in years he was promoted to the position of Corporal. It is to men of his courage and patriotism that we owe a debt of gratitude for the preservation of our nation, for had they not rallied to the support of the army the Union would have been dissolved, and we would not be the strong united nation we are to day. Mr. Eaton was mustered out and received his honorable discharge from the army on June 6, 1863. Some eleven years afterwards he came to Washington, and engaged in lumbering for a time. Then turned his attention to farming having settled on Whidby island and built a home at Coupeville where he has resided for many years. About four years ago, on account of ill health, he was obliged to give up business, and ever since he has been more or less afflicted, and during the last two years has suffered very much, but in all his suffering there was no complaining. He knew the end was approaching and made up his mind to be resigned to the inevitable. He wanted to live. He loved his home, his family, and his friends, and gladly would have remained, but it could not be. He leaves his wife, two children, six grandchildren, one sister, two brothers and other relatives and many friends to mourn his departure. The ways of Providence are mysterious. We cannot understand them now. But we are firmly convinced that he doeth all things well. You all know Mr. Eaton as a loyal citizen, a good kind neighbor, a man who loved justice, mercy, truth and righteousness, and a useful man in the community. And while we may not agree with all the views which he entertained we can testify to the sincerity of his purpose. This fraternity to which he belonged loses an efficient member. The community loses one to whom they have been accustomed to look for support in whatever is for their benefit. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to her who by this great loss must pursue the remainder of her journey through life comparatively alone. But let us remember that our loving Heavenly Father will be ever mindful of our needs and will give comfort and consolation to the widow and fatherless which earthly friends cannot give, and will cause all things to work together for our good. He will never leave or forsake thee."

The immediate relatives of Mr. Eaton are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. George Mitchell and Mrs. Ralph Engle of this place, two brothers Thomas Eaton of Billings, Montana, Willard Eaton of Bangor, Maine, and one sister, Mrs. Ferris of Massachusetts. His nephew, Mr. C. O. Judkins, who formerly lived here but now resides at Chehalis, and a nephew, Mr. Walter Ferris, lives near Fort Casey.

Mr. Eaton served Island county two terms as county commissioner and always took an active part in politics. He was a charter member of the Odd Fellows lodge here, also a member of the Rebekah lodge, and was held in great esteem by all. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of Glenwood Lodge No. 107, I. O. O. F. at their hall and was largely attended. Some of the most beautiful floral offerings ever seen here were laid on the coffin. The remains were laid at rest in beautiful Sunnyside cemetery.

Mr. C. O. Judkins, formerly of this place but now living near Chehalis, was here to attend the funeral of his uncle, the late C. P. Eaton. Mr. Judkins owns a farm where he is living and says he has some excellent land.

Mr. Wallace Benson, of Seattle, and his mother who came out from Wisconsin some time ago to visit her sons, came up on the steamer Monday evening to visit their relatives, the families of Herbert and Milton Benson.

You had better watch out, you boys under sixteen who chew and smoke on the sly. Sheriff Rosenfield has notified the storekeepers here not to give or sell tobacco to boys, under penalty of the law which makes a violation of the same subject to a fine of from $10 to $50.

Dr. Sprague is to be a widower for awhile. Wednesday Mrs. Sprague left for a visit with relatives at Pocatello, Idaho. See was accompanied by Mrs. J. N. Ireland and Mr. J. P. Congdon, of Pocatello, who have been here visiting the Doctor and wife and now return home.

Mr. Albert Kineth has bought of F. P. Race an acre of waterfront land west of town and will have a cottage built on it right away. He is having a well dug and informs The Times that the quantity and quality of the water secured will determine to a certain extent, the size of the house he will build.

Mr. "Billy" Hofer, a fur dealer of Seattle, was here Tuesday visiting his old friends, Burt Nuttall and George Muncaster. He was formerly head scout for the government in the Yellowstone National park and has hunted and hob-nobbed with Ex-President Roosevelt on various occasions and has been entertained by him in the White House at Washington.

Miss Anna Jo Hutter, who is to be principal of our schools the coming year, has returned from her summer's vacation in Montana and is at work getting things in shape for school which begins Tuesday of next week. As assistant principal last year Miss Hutter did excellent work and we predict the same success for her at the head of the schools. The assistant principal is to be Mr. Milard S. Bullardick, a graduate of the university of Montana.

Want Another Freight Boat.

Some twenty of the leading business men of Coupeville and vicinity met here on Monday evening with P. H. Mackie, of Maxwelton, and talked with him as to the advisability of putting on a daily freight boat between here and Seattle. The Mackie brothers own the steamers Vashon and Columbia and it is proposed, so we understand, to put one of these on the run daily between Coupeville and Oak Harbor and Seattle. We are told that the reason for wanting another freight boat is that it is needed daily and also that there is much dissatisfaction with the Island Transportation company for its not settling with parties who lost freight when the Whidby was burned, for the slow settlement of old claims and, in some instances, the inequality of freight charges. It is also claimed that practically every business man in Coupeville have agreed to sign a contract to ship with a new freight boat should one go on the run. It begins to look as though we are to have another steamboat war.

Miss Nettie Cook was an Everett visitor Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brown spent Tuesday with Everett friends and on business with Mr. Brown's firm of Pillman & Brown.

Mr. B. F. Jewett, of Langley, was in town Monday on business connected with the settlement of the estate of the late Andrew Peterson.

Captain and Mrs. Tom L. Merrill, of Seattle spent the first part of the week here, visiting the gentleman's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Merrill.

Sheriff Jack Rosenfield went to Everett Wednesday, a friend said to get married, but Jack denied the allegation, although we all think a good looking fellow like him ought to get married.

Three notices of final hearing in petitions for naturalization were filed with County Clerk Mark Wangness last week. They were for Carl Edward Hollman, Age Jurgen Reinstra and Jurgen Ages Reinstra. The last two are father and son. These gentlemen will now receive what are known as their second papers and will then become fully fledged citizens of the United States.

Miss Edna Jenne, who was one of the graduating class of the Coupeville High school of 1911, left Tuesday for Bellingham where she will attend the State Normal school. Miss Jenne is a bright scholar and a fine young lady and her numerous friends here hope she will meet with the best of success in her work at the Normal. Mrs. Jenne accompanied Edna to Bellingham to help her get located and Mr. Jenne also went to Seattle on business the same day.

In a letter written by H. B. Dewey, the state superintendent of public instruction, Lena Kohn, the superintendent of schools of Island county has been notified of the meeting of the annual convention of the superintendents of the state which is to be held at Olympia on September 22. At this meeting there will be discussed and considered many matters of great interest to every school district, and every county should be represented at the meeting, as much is done toward increasing the efficiency of the schools and unifying the work in the various counties by these meetings which are now held annually, although formerly they were held but once in two years.

In the list of more than 250 schools turning out teachers for the state of Washington there are 36 states and 2 provinces in Canada represented, and one of these different institutions of higher learning, the Ysillanti Normal school of Michigan heads the list with 158 of its graduates teaching in the public schools of Washington. Of the total number of teachers in Washington, Wisconsin furnishes 336 and Michigan 334, while Washington not counting its normal school graduates is third in the list with 328.

The county assessors acting in the capacity of clerks of the county boards of equalization are certifying abstracts of assessment of real property in their various counties to the state tax commission. In Island county it is shown that the total number of acres of land not including town and city lots is 120,024.52 and that the aggregate equalized valuation of this land including improvements is $1,238,465. The equalized valuation of city property is $133,913 making a total of $1,372,378 as the valuation for the entire county. The average valuation per acre is $11.25.

State Insurance Man Here

Mr. C. D. Allen, traveling auditor of the state Industrial Insurance Commission, which was created by an act of the last legislature, was in town Friday of last week. This commission insures the life of every employee who is engaged in a hazardous occupation in the state of Washington. The employer pays to the state a quarterly percentage, based on the salary of the man he employs, into the state treasury. This creates a fund which is used to pay an insurance to the wife or children of the one who is injured or loses his life while employed. Mr. Allen's duty is to secure a list of men and women employed in hazardous occupations and as printing offices come under this class he called at The Times office and secured statistics in regard to our help. The law goes into effect October 1 and after that our regularly employed help will have $4,000 insurance, secured by the state of Washington.

Mrs. Emma Moffitt left this morning for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Hagerdon, at Los Angeles, California.

Mrs. Van Horn, of Anacortes, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. I. L. Todd of this place, for the past week, left for home this morning. Mrs. Todd accompanied her as far as Everett.

Mrs. Susie Sill and daughter, Miss Mabel, left this morning for Bellingham where Miss Mabel, who was one of our brightest and best graduates of the High school class of 1911, will attend the State Normal.

Dr. T. H. White arrived home Wednesday from Alaska where he and the Jenne boys have been prospecting and hunting all summer. The Doctor came home by steamer and the boys will follow in the launch later. We understand they struck some good gold and copper ore and got some fine game, having shot eleven bear.

ISLAND COUNTY TIMES,

This is too bad: A New York "sassy" lady says that American women do not know how to dress. Some of us might agree had she said, not dress ENOUGH, but we shall have to contradict and say that, on the whole, the American women are the best dressed in the world.

Workmen along the Panama canal cannot swear. Such vulgarity has been prohibited. The poor men are deserving of the sympathy of the ladies who will live at the "Suffragette Retreat," the women's colony founded near Whittier, California by Miss Emma Hall. Emma says she will suggest that her proteges cultivate the use of the word "damn." "Fudge" and "Oh, sugar," are too tame as a good stout safety valve when hard work is being performed.

The State department of education is doing a very commendable act in having prepared a set of seven standard plans for rural school buildings, covering practically every required variety, and copies are being sent out to the county superintendents, to be placed on file for the convenience of directors of rural school districts. Hence if a district contemplates building it would do well to first see these plans before beginning, as they are prepared with a view to securing the best light, attractive architecture and seating capacity.

A recent item in the daily papers says that the children of the King of England are excellent swimmers. This should be a reminder that there are few places where this accomplishment is more needed than right here on Puget sound and especially to Island county people. All of us ride on the water more or less. Many go boating and fishing and bathing in the summer. And yet it is surprising to find the large number of men and boys who can not swim, although many of them work on the water. Every boy, especially, and every girl, if possible, should be taught to swim. Besides being a healthy, clean sport, it may at any time be the means of saving one's life.

The state has been put on a cash basis during the past two years by the retiring of $1,200,000 worth of bonds which leaves the general fund free from debt, and from the unexpected portion of the appropriations made by the 1909 legislature there has been returned to the general fund the sum of $314,000. Although this is a very good showing Governor Hay thinks that this record can be bettered, and has therefore ordered that each department send in monthly reports of what they are doing so that a closer check can be kept on their operations and so that he may know just what is being done in each department. This is in line with his policy of a business administration.

Our neighboring city of Mount Vernon will establish a course of agriculture in its high school. Most of us will watch the experiment with interest and with certain misgivings as to the ultimate success of the venture. There is just as much necessity for the farmer, or the dairyman, or the poultryman, to thoroughly understand his business as the doctor, or lawyer, or other professional man, but it is a serious question whether the common schools should seek to supply the additional knowledge, necessary to make a scientific successful farmer any more than that they should try to educate the doctor or the dentist. Of later years the great trouble with our school curriculum has been its overcrowding. An attempt is made to teach the boy and girl a little of everything and the consequences are that he and she go out from school with a poor smattering of even the elements of a thorough education. The ground work has not been made and when one goes out to enter business and fight life's battle's he finds that he must himself acquire certain rudiments that the schools should have given, but neglected. The question that naturally arises then is: Shall the school make more thorough the elements of an education, such as a better knowledge of arithmetic, bookkeeping, physiology, psychology, history and language, or shirk some of these and attempt to teach what the agricultural college does?

The more the citizens carefully consider the question of good roads for Island county the more are they becoming convinced that the only solution of the problem is the voting of bonds with which to construct a central highway from one end of each island to the other. The question of assuming a debt of this kind should not deter any one from favoring the project. Were the county to vote $100,000 in bonds at a five per cent interest we would have no bigger taxes to pay to raise this $5,000 than we are annually paying out now for road work, much of which is poorly done. And with the increased population and development of the county, which such a road would bring, the burden of raising a sinking fund, to pay the bonds when due, would scarcely be felt.

The Observatory.

What a contradictory lot we are, anyway. Here is a St. Louis man who, after being married seven months, attempted suicide because his wife hugged and kissed him too much. "I love my wife," he said after he had been taken to the hospital, "but she is unreasonable. She hugged and kissed me so much that it got on my nerves. When I came home she began to kiss and during the evening either sat on my lap or kept on kissing. I did not even have time to smoke a pipe." And a Kansas City woman wants a divorce from her husband because he is too affectionate and writes poetry. "Too much poetry, too many kisses, too much love, too many smiles and too little work make an unfit husband," she said. "Now why could not the kissing St. Louis lady have married the poetical kissing Kansas City gentleman? Then there would have been no attempted suicide, nor divorce asked. One couple could have kissed all through life and the other would have gone along in their humdrum, prosaic way without even an uncongenial flutter. What a boon to the human race it would prove could some sage devise a way whereby this misnating could be stopped.

It seems to the Observatory that this summer has given to us an unusually large number of enchanting evenings. Take Saturday evening at twilight as an instance: All was serene and still. The sun set in the west amid a halo of red which cast a reflection upon the waters, making it beautiful beyond comparison. With this inspiring sight before one's eyes and the lovely shores all clothed in their verdure of green, the dancing waters with the boats upon its surface, and the cheerfulness of the atmosphere, made it all an inspiring scene never to be forgotten. Italy and her famed Bay of Naples could not have appeared to better advantage.

And It Surely Is.—Teacher was telling her class little stories in natural history, and asked if any one could tell her what a groundhog was. Up went a little hand waving frantically.

"Well, Carl, you may tell us what a groundhog is."

"Please, ma'am, it's sausage."

"I love but her," sang the lovesick swain. "If it's butter you want you can get that at the corner grocery," called out her irate father.

"An heirloom," explained the farmer's wife to her thirteen-year-old boy, "is something that has been handed down from father to son, and in some instances is greatly prized."

"I'd prize these heirlooms I'm wearing," remarked the youngster, "a good deal more if they wasn't so long in the legs."

When the "Utopia" was first published it occasioned a pleasant mistake. This political romance represents a perfect but visionary republic in an island supposed to have been somewhere in the Atlantic, near these western shores.

Chattel Mortgages.

A man who gives a chattel mortgage should always examine it carefully to make sure it is not "on demand." Sharp money lenders who loan funds on chattel mortgages often try to have this clause inserted, and when it is the borrower may expect to part with his chattels at almost any moment. It is a trick by which advantage is often taken of the unwary.

The most the men do is to hunting and robbing. The domestic work, such as tending the cattle, collecting fuel, drawing water and, short, everything, falls on the women. While the wife is working incessantly all day long the husband grows weary with idleness and does not go to his assistance unless she is physically incapable of doing any work at all. The horseback women are as dexterous as the men. To catch any horse strikes out of the troop, lay her hand on its mane and quickly spring on to its back of the barebacked steed and ride off in any direction she wishes as an ordinary feat for any young Amdo woman."—Chicago News.

The Oil Bird.

One of the animal curiosities of South America is the "oil bird," a guacharo. It breeds in rocky caves and one of its favorite haunts is the island of Trinidad. It lays its eggs in a nest made of mud, and the young birds are prodigiously fat. The bird lives molts the fat down in clay and produce from it a kind of oil. The caves inhabited by the birds are usually accessible only from the sea and the hunting of them is something an exciting sport.

The word "rabbits" on board a Corish fishing smack arouses the ire of the crew. GERMAN LATCHKEYS.

Big Enough to Be Used as Weapons of Attack or Defense.

Locksmithing in Germany is today as important a trade as plumbing, blacksmithing or the vocation of the barber, says our consul at Hanover in a recent report. The first lock and key were introduced into Prussia in the fourteenth century and caused a considerable sensation at the palace of the elector of Brandenburg. He found that by these devices he could do away with the guard at his private doors and thus materially reduce his household expenses. Since that day the Schlosser, or locksmith, has been an essential factor in German life.

The present German house key could be used as a weapon of attack and defense, besides serving its original purpose. It weighs on an average about one-eighth of a pound, and as each person entitled to carry a house and corridor key has nearly a quarter of a pound of soft iron in his pocket it is conservatively estimated that the amount of iron in circulation in Germany in the pockets of the men and in the hand bags of women amounts to 2,695 tons, besides an additional 2,500 tons for the keys to the interior of German homes. Thus something over 5,000 tons of iron are put into keys of a size to be found nowhere in America. However large the house or numerous the apartments, the outer door is locked promptly at 10 o'clock, and as the German spends many of his evenings out every person carries at least one of these massive keys to effect an entrance.

ANSWERED THE SIGNAL.

The King Sent the Reply, and the Captain Kicked Himself.

Rear Admiral Sir Colin Keppel was given the command of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert by King Edward, and on one occasion when the late king was on board his majesty thought he would like to steer the yacht for a little while.

Admiral Keppel took him to the wheel, and, having ascertained the proper course to steer, his majesty tried to keep the yacht in, with rather poor success.

The vessel was being escorted by a squadron of cruisers, and the captain of one of these vessels, noticing the wobbly course of the Victoria and Albert, thought he would "rag" Admiral Keppel on his bad steering.

He signalled a sarcastic inquiry as to the erratic course of the yacht, and King Edward, seeing the string of flags go up, inquired their meaning.

Admiral Keppel went all the colors of the rainbow and tried to escape the question, but the king insisted. When at last he understood the meaning of the signal his majesty went off into peals of laughter, and after he had recovered a little he ordered a reply to be signalled.

A few minutes later the captain of the cruiser read this message: "Pray accept apologies, but a bit out of practice.—Edward."

Then the captain retired to his cabin and kicked himself.—Penton's Weekly.

Canes and Swords in Porto Rico.

Of all people perhaps none are more fond of canes or more skilled in their use than our fellow citizens of Porto Rico. The walking stick in that island would seem to mark social distinctions among men as fans do among women. Every Spaniard has a cane, the well to do own several, and the glided youth often have a small arsenal of walking sticks. The term "arsenal" is used advisedly, as the Porto Ricans, like the Spaniards, have quite a fondness for sword canes and dagger canes, and they make these with remarkable skill. The blades of the finer specimens come from famous smiths in Toledo and other Spanish cities, and are forged from the finest steel. Some are damascened, and others are inlaid with silver and gold; some have worked upon them the name of the owner and others the name of a patron saint.—Philadelphia Record.

All in Good Time.

Champ Clark at a dinner in Washington pleaded indulgence for a somewhat rambling speaker.

"He'll arrive," he said, "if you'll give him time. He is like Dr. Thirly."

"Dr. Thirly was dividing up his sermon into appropriate heads one Sunday morning when a member of the congregation shouted frantically: 'Meat, meat! Give us meat!'

"Well," said Dr. Thirly promptly, 'hold on, then, till I'm done carving.'—Pittsburg Gazette Times.

A Steady Watch.

"Henry," said Mrs. Gloompl at dinner, looking down at her watch, but speaking to Mr. Gloompl on the other side of the table, "my watch hasn't varied a second in a week."

"Remarkable!" said Mr. Gloompl. "How did you get it to vary so little?" "I broke the mainspring."

Politeness.

True politeness is that which when a man is lying to you and you know he is lying impels you to listen to him as though you believed him and impels him to go on lying as though he believes you believe him.—Chicago Post.

A Left Handed One.

He—a handsome woman smiled at me yesterday. She—Well, it is possible for even a handsome woman to have a sense of the ridiculous.—Scranton Tribune-Republican.

A beautiful eye makes silence eloquent; a kind eye makes contradiction assent; an enraged eye makes beauty deformed.—Addison.

NORTH-WESTERN

SANITARIUM

Port Townsend, Wash.

Few realize that right at their very door is located a medical and surgical sanitarium, planned and conducted on the same principles as those which made the great Battle Creek, Michigan, sanitarium famous. It is true, however, that at Port Townsend, just a little south of the city, is located the North Western Sanitarium. It is beautifully located on an elevation overlooking Port Townsend Bay. The building, a five-story structure, containing one hundred fifty rooms, is so arranged as to be well adapted for a sanitarium.

The institution possesses the best features of a first class hotel and all the medical advantages of a modern, scientifically equipped hospital and sanitarium. The means used comprise all of Nature's powerful remedies; complete bath rooms, where all forms of baths are given, including electric, electric light and vapor baths; massage-manual, Swedish, etc. These treatments, together with gymnastic exercises special dietary, and such natural remedies as pure air and water, sunshine, walking, riding, mountain climbing, sea bathing, swimming, outdoor exercise, and rest, comprise the system of treatment.

A complete and modernly equipped surgery for the care of surgical cases; complete laboratories for special examinations, a fully equipped electrical department, including the X-ray, static, faradic, galvanic and sinusoidal electricity. Maternity wards and a limited number of rooms for old people who wish a comfortable home. Rates are moderate and according to room occupied. Particulars made known on inquiry. Carriages will meet all patients when notified of time of arrival. Address, North-Western Sanitarium, Port Townsend, Wn., or W. R. Simmons, M. D., Superintendent.

While anchored near the wharf last Wednesday Aug. 23, a launch owned by H. Shotwell, was caught in the wheel of the steamer Fair-haven while making a landing and capsized, throwing Wm Nicol and H. Shotwell, who were working at the engine at that time, overboard.
Shotwell was rescued after going clear under the Fairhaven and nearly drowning. Nicol was caught in the wheel and rode it to the surface when he got inside the wheel on the shaft and managed to stay there until the engine was stopped.
Nicol escaped unhurt but Shotwell had his hand badly cut. The launch was badly wrecked, the whole top served and at 11 p. m. our good night song was sung. Those present were: Ezra and Cora Horton,

Fiske, Faun and Opal Barton, Ferne, Florence, and Coral Kingsley, Alferd, Martin and Theodore Simmons, Willie Romer and Mrs. Kingsley.

W. H. Campbell has purchased a gasoline launch, "The Mack," and is enjoying the fishing trips. He also succeeds in catching some fine fish. Isn't a launch almost as nice as an air ship?

An enjoyable week-end party was given at the Kingsley home and all were sorry when Tuesday came.
Those finding the days very merry were: Ferne, Florence and Cora Kingsley, Abbie and Grace Fiske, and Faun and Opal Barton of Lowell.

The school meeting at Deer Lake school house last Monday was well attended and the consensus of the meeting was "We find consolidation has several objectionable features and that we are sorry we are in a consolidated school district. If we had good roads everywhere, and could make transportation acceptable to the parents and the people could fully understand the advantages of consolidation it might be feasible, but the old regime will suit nearly everyone better.

Explanations to, and reconsideration by the board of directors, gave to the original Deer Lake school district three rooms with one teacher each, who will teach the eight grades, if necessary, in each room. If found later that two teachers are needed at the Deer Lake school we are to have them. The other schools, on the beach and at the brickyard offered, if those schools were given them to furnish house, grounds, fuel, janitor and foot all expenses except the teachers wages which the district will pay. I suppose it means they furnish their own books and school supplies also.
