

Planner To Be Heard By Commission

Floyd Jennings planning consultant for the Bureau of Government Research and Services University of Washington, is being invited to attend the October 1 meeting of the Island county planning commission at the courthouse in Coupeville.

The group, which this week began consideration of a county planning ordinance, will hear Jennings' remarks on planning operations elsewhere in the state and hopes to profit by relating such information to its own efforts.

The commission headed by L. B. Loers is seeking to assemble an ordinance tailored to local needs but based on measures in successful use in other parts of the state. Franklin county's ordinance in particular is being used as a model, although with drastic changes to fit Island requirements.

When completed and ready for submission to the county board of commissioners, the ordinance will be the product of discussions touching on every phase of the county's needs.

If granted the approval of the top county officials, the ordinance will be followed by a zoning map classifying the county into areas of use.

The vicinity around the Whidbey Naval Air Station poses the most pressing problem in the matter of planning, commission members have observed.

Milk Price Up Cent Per Quart Here

Area milk prices advanced one cent per quart Tuesday of this week after the buying price paid by local dairies had increased by 40 cents per hundred-weight.

Last Thursday Seattle Milk Shippers organizations and the Washington Milk Producers Association announced a 40-cent price increase to the distributors.

On the same day, letters were sent out by various distributors to their shippers that the price was granted as an average to the Federal Milk Order price because of economic conditions in the area, according to Phil Cornelius, manager of the Skagit County Milk Producers Association.

Asked just what this milk will mean to the local Grade "A" shippers, Cornelius stated that the full forty cents per hundred-weight will be reflected in the October Class I sales and that if the Class I sales amount to 70 per cent of the base milk, then 28 cents will be added to the blended price.

He cautioned that since September milk will call for this additional price only on the last half, the milk checks received by members on October (Continued on Page 7)

Abandonment Of Girl Scouts And Brownies Eyed

Girl Scouting in Oak Harbor may be at an end, according to leaders of the movement who met Tuesday night at the Chimes to lay plans for the new year.

There were 13 present, leaving a total of 11 Girl Scout troops and 19 Brownie Troops without leaders.

Leaders are needed badly in the Clover Valley district as well as in others. Any woman either experienced or inexperienced in the work who would be interested in taking a group is asked to call Mrs. Kooyman at OR 5-2374 or Mrs. Weindl at OR 5-2472. The Scouting movement in Oak Harbor is over ten years old.

More Than 600 At First P-TA Meeting Of New School Year

Oak Harbor school teachers were honored at reception on Monday evening at the high school gym, when P-TA members held their first fall meeting. Over 600 persons attended.

Following a short business session conducted by Mrs. Delmon Anderson, president, grade school principals LeRoy Rowland and Ernest Neuman and high school principal Ted Knutson introduced each teacher, and parents stood for "room count." Wilbur Gilbert, superintendent, told briefly of progress on the new school.

The reception also honored the tenth birthday of the reorganized P-TA in Oak Harbor, which began with 116 members. Last year there were nearly 700 members and more are expected this year when school enrollment has reached 1,700.

The refreshment table was decorated with pastel fall flowers under the supervision of Mrs. B. T. Russell and Mrs. Doris Cook of the Oak Harbor Garden Club. The Garden Club also made corsages for the teachers.

Pouring were Mrs. J. W. Rhodes, Mrs. Carroll DeVries, Mrs. Harry Balda, Mrs. Howard Weidenbach and Mrs. John Blattman.

The following chairmanships were announced by the president: Mrs. Hubert Morgan, program; Mrs. Larry Siler, publicity and editor of the Oak Leaf; Mrs. John Blattman, hospitality; Mrs. J. W. Rhodes, membership; Mrs. Sally Jones, magazines; Mrs. H. W. Siler, budget and Mrs. Ray Walters, room representation.

Times Wins State Award

The Island County Times was selected first in a state-wide contest for "excellency in the handling of news." The award was presented to Mr. and Mrs. A. Glenn Smith, publishers of the Whidbey Press newspaper, at the annual convention of the Washington Newspaper Publishers association in Yakima, September 13, 14, and 15.

The plaque will be presented to Dorothy Neil, editor, responsible for the honor. The paper also won honorable mention in "advertising."

The contest has been conducted for several years by a panel in the State College of Washington known as the Better Newspaper Clinic. This group studies all the papers in the state for three top awards in as many town-size classifications. The Island County Times is in the third division or smaller circulation class.

Three years ago the Island County Times won first in advertising. It is also the holder of the coveted Schoenfeld trophy for inspirational community service. At the same convention in 1951 the Oak Harbor News received first for make-up and general appearance. Altogether the Whidbey Press newspapers have received over 20 awards under its present management.

Dental Study Begun Here

Oak Harbor has been selected as a site for a dental study jointly sponsored by the Washington State Department of Health and the Washington State Dental Association.

Each child will receive a dental inspection to determine the condition of his teeth, and parents were asked to fill out a questionnaire containing the complete history of the sources of water used by the child for drinking purposes.

The study is designed to improve dental health through study of water used in the different communities in which a child lives.

Paper Features Oak Harbor In Picture Page

Oak Harbor made the pages of the Seattle Times last week when Staff correspondent Gene Hills and photographer Vic Condit arrived to get a "picture page" study of the area.

Mayor Ray Maylor was host to the reporters, and piloted them to the Naval Air Station and through town, explaining Oak Harbor's rapid growth and the problems attached to such a growth.

The full page of pictures showed a Naval Air Station view from the air, a picture of the USO building with Queen Patsy Arthur and Navy personnel playing croquet, a view of homes within the city limits, Oak Harbor's new high school and a group of teachers, a view of main street being protected by the Police Chief Murray and a group of city officials meeting with CAPT Paul Emrick of the Naval Air Station to talk over cooperative plans.

"They thought we were a happy people up here," said Maylor, speaking of the Times reporters, "and why shouldn't we be? Oak Harbor's the best."

Crab Fishing To Begin October 1

Commercial crab fishing in Puget Sound will open October 15 this year instead of October 1 as in previous years, the Department of Fisheries announced today. It will be illegal to import fresh crabs into the state during the period October 1-14.

The Puget Sound catch of the succulent and widely known crustacean, usually called Dungeness crab, amounted to 655,725 pounds in 1955, a total of 1,212,743 pounds. Most of the fishery occurs in the Blaine-Bellingham area.

The coastal crab season will end September 30. Last year landings in the Grays Harbor area amounted to 1,595,793 crabs weighing 3,269,131 pounds; Willapa Harbor area totaled 1,250,723 crabs, 2,457,479 pounds.

County, City Budgets Studied

Oak Harbor Council Pares Spending To Meet Income

City councilmen met last Thursday to review and reduce departmental budget requests until the proposed expenditures matched the municipality's anticipated income for 1957.

Budgetary requirements for the city's various departments—including the current expense fund, sewer, garbage, street and water funds—total $174,070. At last week's session the departmental requests exceeded prospective income by some $3,000.

Most of the slashes taken to reduce the budget to its smaller proportions were in the current expense fund division, including police and fire department and library expenditures. Other departments like those of sewer, garbage, street and water, are administered under separate funds and largely adjusted budget requests to established revenues.

A public hearing on the preliminary budget now adopted by the city will be held at 8 p.m. October 2 in the town hall.

The new budget's changes in the city expenditures include such salary adjustments as the following: Clerk salary, from $275 to $315; treasurer - librarian, $236 to $256; addition of one policeman, $3624; police chief salary, from $4,440 to $4,620; assistant chief, $3,624 to $3,900.

Sewer, water and street department laborers, now paid $1.82, will next year go up to $1.92.

An added outlay next year will be a $200 item allocated to civil defense for expenditure within the city.

Three Attend WEA Meet At Cheney

Attending the WEA leadership roundup at Cheney Sept. 18, 19, at the campus of Eastern Washington College of Education were Ed Nelson, Walt Shadney and Dillon Kimple of the Oak Harbor faculty.

Theme of the meeting and of the NEA Centennial celebration was "An Educated People Moves Forward." The state goal of this group of WEA leaders was "How Can We as Teachers Keep Education Moving Forward in Our State?"

The meeting held approached the problem of how local WEA units can help to maintain high professional standards, establishing better public relations with the parents of children.

Ten Drivers Given Fines

Ten motorists drew fines or other penalties in Judge Clarence Wright's Oak Harbor police court Monday, and two other drivers are due to appear before the court next Monday.

Those hailed before Judge Wright by Police Chief Fred Murray and Assistant Chief Ed Gantz this week included: Jackie Lev Lawrence, speeding, $20 fine.

Leslie A. Strickney, speeding, no drivers license; $25 fine on first offense, $10 suspended on second.

Boyd Mason, failure to report defective equipment within five days, $10 fine.

Nelson A. Mitchell, reckless driving, $50 fine with $25 suspended; driver's license suspended for 30 days.

Sandra A. Duke, speeding, $25 fine.

Robert A. Gilman, speeding, failure to stop for stop sign, $25 fine.

Robert Dale Branson, speeding, $25.

Edward D. Ellis, speeding, $20.

Dillard E. Bates, charged with speeding, running a stop sign, and with having no driver's license on his person, is due to appear next Monday, as is Waylon R. Varvold, accused of using "loud pipes" and speeding.

Police Chief Fred Murray said the 15 miles per hour limit in the Oak Harbor school zone is to be strictly enforced.

Island Shriners Slate Stan Boreson Show

Tickets were to go on sale to Island county Shriners this week for the group's dinner and social evening Friday, October 5 at the Fleet Reserve hall.

An entertainment program scheduled for the event will feature television performer Stan Boreson.

Conway, Summit Park To Seek Aid From Island Group

A delegation from the Conway School district and one from the Summit Park area in Skagit County will attend the meeting scheduled for next Tuesday night of the Island County Chapter of Voter's Rights Organization, when that group will meet at the Courthouse in Coupeville.

Both the Conway and Summit Park areas are subject to possible consolidation with larger districts, the Mount Vernon and Anacortes areas respectively. The two delegations hope to obtain help from the Island organization to defeat the movement in their own districts.

County Budget Items, Cut $12,000, Still Unbalanced

Island commissioners, who at a special meeting Monday lopped $12,000 from proposed county budget items, placed the still unbalanced spending schedule on ice until a hearing scheduled for October 1.

The budget remained $20,500 out of balance after commissioners quit making cuts at their Monday session.

Current expense items, embodying the bulk of county expenditures other than such outlays as road expenses, now total about $128,000. At the same time, anticipated revenue amounts only to $107,500.

Cutting the county's expenditures for the coming year to the latter figure would present a budget lower by some $3,000 than last year's schedule. That budget left the county current expense fund in such precarious condition that a special levy was necessary to carry the municipality through the year.

According to reports, budget cut-backs will include elimination of two deputies from the county assessor's office.

Virtually every phase of county government will feel the commissioners' axe before the approximately $140,000 in departmental requests is reduced to the level of the county's anticipated income.

A special levy will be required to supplement the current expense fund again this year, it was indicated.

Of tax funds received by the county, but 6.9 mills goes to the current expense fund. That restriction prevents shifting of money from other county departments where finances are in better shape.

County Mortgage Total For August

Tops July Figure

Mortgages filed in Island county during August reached $263,235, or $86,331 more than July's total, the Skagit-Island County Title company reports.

Financial firms and the mortgage volume filed by each include:

Everett Trust and Savings bank, $50,248; Brunswick Bank-Callender company, $40,549; Federal Land Bank, $36,500; Coats Mtg. and Inv. company, $22,700; Seattle First National Bank, $22,500; USA, $16,575; Tye Land company, $16,300; First National Bank of Stanwood, $8,000; Sunset Life Insurance company, $8,000; Langley State Bank, $6,250; First Federal Savings and Loan, $3,500; private loans, $32,113.

Civil Defense Program Set

A special civil defense program will be offered at the junior high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday by the Atomic Biological Defense Mobile training unit, US Navy, under the command of LCDR W. E. Mann.

The program includes showing of movies entitled "A is for Atom," "Medical Aspects of Nuclear Radiation," and "Protection during 'A' Attack." A question and answer period will follow each showing.

Thursday's meeting has been called by Oak Harbor Mayor and North Whidbey Civil Defense Chairman Ray Maylor.

91 Kids Take Part In Derby Saturday; Nine Win Prizes

Ninety-one youngsters competed last Saturday in the fourth annual Kids' Salmon Derby sponsored by the North Whidbey Sportsmen's association. The event saw nine cash prizes presented.

Winner of the top award for game fish was Valerie Arnold, whose catch was a 5 lb., 4 oz. silver. She received, in addition to a $10 prize, a fishing pole.

Second place and $8 went to Susan Zylstra. She caught a 3 lb., 13 oz. silver. With the two top spots taken by girls entrants, the remainder of the nine prizes went to boys, including Roger Mercer, whose 3 lb., 12 oz. blackmouth won him $7 and third place in the game fish class.

In the bottom fish category, winners were: Lloyd Ruth Jr., $6, for 4 lb., 12 oz. codfish; Bill Morrow, $5, for 4 lb., 7 oz. flounder; Billy Heller, $4, 2 lb., 15 oz. flounder.

Top scrap fishermen were Pete Kinch, $3, 13 lb., 2 oz. dogfish; Roger Zylstra, $2, 12 lb., 2 oz. dogfish; Doug Henderson, $1, 10 lb., 15 oz. dogfish.

On behalf of the Sportsmen's association, Arnold Freund extended his thanks to the merchants and individuals who contributed the prizes, and to the boat owners and operators who made it possible to take the youngsters out on the water from City Beach.

An error in last week's News carried the derby as scheduled for Sunday. To correct that misinformation, school authorities passed along the correct date to youngsters.

Same Job---But More Work

According to data supplied by the Washington state department of health, an unofficial count of population growth reveals Island county experienced an increase of 18.2 per cent between 1950 and 1955, the largest growth in all the 19 western counties. In contrast, King county showed a gain of but 5.6 per cent; Thurston, 5.2 per cent, and Whatcom 5.5 per cent.

In the case of Island county, all signs point toward more and accelerated growth.

These facts have many implications, not the least of which are those concerning the county's government. Adjustments there are clearly called for, since the load of administrative duties varies closely in proportion with a municipality's population.

Island county commissioners, in common with the top officials in counties of similar class, meet but once a month and at occasional special sessions. Their deliberations are devoted for the most part to consideration of road matters.

In a vigorously expanding community, we think such a schedule and scope of activity are both in need of expansion. To dispose of increasingly complex problems in legal and financial matters as well as those of highway development, and in good planning, more frequent meetings are indicated.

Some have suggested that the commissioners maintain a schedule of staggered office hours at the courthouse, to make them more readily available to citizens, and also to keep the officials "on top" of the county's changing problems.

If the commissioners in the past have not been eager to devote more time to their office, they have had some reason for hesitancy: Their pay is hardly prodigal. It does not take many days by present wage standards to exhaust the official salary of $100 per month. (An equal amount can be earned, it's true, by the commissioners' working on road matters.) There will be no change however, in that pay schedule until the county has changed to another class.

But commissioners now seeking office should bear the county's hectic growth conditions in mind: From now on, irrespective of pay, the job will take more time to do the required minimum, and more time still for the desired maximum.

It Says Here

By CLIFF DANIELSON

TRUE magazine, an eminently fair publication, once slighted the Pacific Northwest by describing its skunks as being of lesser stature and odor than those residing on the East Coast. The magazine now moves to set things aright in this odorous world by giving the Northwest credit for a large portion of what it calls "Football's Biggest Stink."

A handy and detailed compendium of the Pacific Coast Conference's excesses, an article in the October issue of True devotes a generous amount of space to the University of Washington, which is still itching from a bad case of intellectual athlete's foot. True's facts are of course not new; they are merely marshaled in fairly complete form and hung out where anyone who wants to read the sordid record may do so. The magazine then draws the point that the iniquities of big college football may well prove its undoing as a collegiate sport.

Well, that might not be so bad. In fact it would be an improvement all the way around if the colleges returned to their books and left the game to outfits that are both honestly and openly professional.

HABITS ARE HARD to break, as Miss Thriftway proved last week.

The Rhodes craft, which has adopted the commendable custom of coming in first, continued to observe the practice last Sunday at the President's Cup—even though a damaged sponson multiplied the hazards of the race.

And Thriftway, which in the past has found the post-race period most dangerous of all, this time came away undisputed winner and without being the target of even one public whimper by the eastern opposition.

Thriftway driver Bill Muncey, while here September 7 to visit the Marketown store, told Oak Harbor high school athletes that it pays to keep in shape. Should they have had any doubts, he showed them last Sunday how much it pays: Something close to $35,000.

ISLAND COUNTY Democrats were still savoring the strange taste of victory this week as they scanned the county's primary voting record and marvelled again and again at the unheard-of results they found there.

There was no guarantee of course that the same thing would happen in November. However, the Democrats point out that historically the Island has been virtually as rock-ribbed Republican as Maine, and you know how that went.

Maybe you have already done your ciphers and come up with the (very good) (very bad) final sums:

Only Jack Westland and the 39th District's Wes Eldridge among the national and state candidates polled a GOP majority; otherwise the Republican vote in each race was surpassed by Democratic ballot-ing.

Here are the unofficial tabulations of party votes in each of the above contests:

US Senator, 2,014 Democratic, 1,679 Republican; Congressman at-Large, 2,094 D, 1,415 R; Congressmen, 2nd District, 2,187 R, 1,379 D.

In state races: Governor, 1,933 D, 1,786 R; Lieutenant Governor, 2,000 D, 1,464 R; Secretary of State, 1,839 D, 1,473 R; State Treasurer, 1,684 D, 1,611 R; State Auditor, 1,991 D, 1,344 R; Attorney General, 1,633 D, 1,586 R; Commissioner of Public Lands, 1,839 D, 1,524 R; State Insurance Commissioner, 1,727 D, 1,483 R.

State Representative, 38th District, 4,336 D, 2,772 R; State Senator, 39th District (Camano), 246 R, 1,227 D; State Representative, 39th District, 356 D, 336 R.

The Republicans were in better form however on the county level: Commissioner, District 1 (South Whidbey), 1,251 R, 494 D; Commissioner, District 2 (North Whidbey), 789 R, 685 D.

In the commissioner races there was probably more cross over voting than elsewhere. But on South Whidbey subtraction of even a very substantial number of Democratic votes from the Republican total would still leave a sizable GOP majority.

At the North End though, the Republican commissioner vote is comparatively much weaker, as it has had to be in the past to permit election of the lone Democratic commissioner.

Social Security Offers "Partial" Income Coverage

In its report on the social security amendments of 1956, the committee on finance of the U.S. Senate describes old-age survivors insurance as a program "designed to provide partial protection against loss of earned income upon the retirement or death of the worker."

The word "partial" in this description is significant. This earnings-related social insurance program is not intended to offset in whole the loss of wages or self-employment caused by the family breadwinner's old-age or death. It does, however, provide a continuing income, and with this assurance, individuals can plan to build up additional security through private arrangements and savings. For example, a worker, knowing that the earnings credited to his social security account will entitle his dependents to a monthly income in case of his death, can better plan to supplement this with private life insurance protection for his wife and children. Also, a worker, forearmed with the knowledge that he will get regular monthly retirement payments in his old age, is in a better position to plan additional savings in his later years through savings and investments during his working years.

While social security insurance payments are curtailed or withheld entirely if a beneficiary returns to or continues in employment or self-employment, payments are not affected by income derived from investments or savings or company pensions. A beneficiary, moreover, is permitted to engage in part-time work and have earnings of as much as $1,200 in a year without giving up any of the monthly payments to which he is eligible under old-age and survivors insurance. If he works in all months of the year and has total annual earnings in excess of that amount, he will forfeit one or more months benefit payments. If he works only in certain months of the year, he gives up social security benefits for just those months in which he earns over $30 in wages or in which he renders substantial services in a self-employment enterprise. In no case, however, will he forfeit a payment for a month which he does not earn over $30 in wages or render substantial services in his business regardless of what he may earn in other months of the year.

Benefits paid under the old-age and survivors insurance program are not only a source of support for the worker and his family but also a stabilizing influence on the economy of the country as a whole. They effect every community in the land because the benefits paid monthly under this system go to persons who cannot at the time they receive them earn the means to buy the goods and services they need to have and the community needs to sell.

A representative of the Everett social security office will be at the city hall in Oak Harbor on Wednesday, September 26 from 10 a.m. until 12 noon for the convenience of people in this community.

Coast Guard To Give Exams For Academy Entry

Young men of Washington have an opportunity to participate when competitive examinations are held in 111 U.S. cities next February 25th and 26th for entrance to the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, Senator Warren G. Magnuson, D., Wash., said today.

Magnuson, Chairman of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, emphasized the opportunity offered young men who choose this four year course which leads to a bachelor of science degree and a commission as a career officer in America's oldest sea-going service.

"There are no appointments or geographical quotas for entrance to the Coast Guard Academy," Magnuson said. "I urge all qualified young men who are interested in a worth-while profession to write for details and applications as soon as possible to Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, D.C. Applications must be postmarked on or before January 15th."

A candidate for the next examination for the Coast Guard Academy must be single, must have reached his seventeenth birthday by July 1, 1957 and must be in excellent physical condition.

A high school diploma is the minimum educational requirement, although high school seniors assured of being graduated by June 30 are eligible to take the examination if they will have at least 15 credits by that time.

All applicants must have three units of English, two of Algebra, and one in Plane Geometry by graduation, Magnuson said.

Acres Reserve Pay Rate Noted

Payments to Island county farmers who put land in the 1957 Wheat Acres Reserve will amount to $1.23 per bushel for the normal yield for the acres put in the reserve, according to Arthur L. Kineth, chairman of the Island county ASC committee.

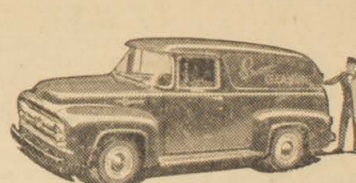

The payment will be made to the participating farmer to make up for the reduction in income resulting from the reduced acreage.

The county ASC committee will determine the normal wheat yield for the farm and for the acreage placed in the Acres Reserve, and payments will be based on the smaller yield. The amount of payment will be figured by multiplying the bushel rate for the county by the normal yield per acre, and multiplying this by the number of acres placed in the wheat Acres Reserve.

It's The Law

CO-SIGN

Smith needed $1,000 to take care of his current obligations. He applied to a loan company for a six-month loan. They refused to make the loan unless he had the promissory note co-signed by someone acceptable to the company.

Smith thereupon approached his friend, Jackson, and asked him, in view of their long friendship, to co-sign with him. Jackson reluctantly agreed to do so.

Since Jackson's credit rating was excellent, the loan company readily agreed to make the loan. Six months later Smith's financial condition was worse, rather than better, and Jackson had to pay off the loan.

Now most people realize that in co-signing a note the surety making themselves personally liable. But, despite this knowledge there is the temptation to yield to the plea of a friend or an acquaintance on the theory that, after all, one isn't actually being called upon to lend cash, only to back up another's loan.

A person being called upon to co-sign a note should realize that, as far as he is concerned, the situation is the same as though he were himself to go to the loan company and borrow the money so that he could lend it to his friend.

Although it is true the loan company could proceed against either or both parties on a co-signed note, it is most probable that it would primarily look to the cosigner for payment, since it was his signature that justified the loan in the first place.

Generally, a person who is unwilling to make a loan with his own money should be just as unwilling to co-sign a note. This column is written to inform, not advise. Facts may change the application of the law.

*****News From*****
DUGUALLA BAY

*****By Alice Elles*****
Here we are—up to date on the lives and loves of Dugalla residents. Got no privacy round here no mo'.
Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sisler have been entertaining Mrs. John Beck of Nanaimo, B.C. She is a sister of the delightful Dorothy Devlin who was here in August.

Persuaded friend husband to chauffeur my trek around to the three new families in our neighborhood. Called first on Mr. J. L. Powell who prefers to be called by the name of Lee. He is bacheling at present in the brown and turquoise house that he bought from Frank Lang. Mr. Powell is employed at the Base and recently moved from Concrete where he lived about five years. He originally came from Colorado but lived for a time in California.

Mrs. Powell and Roy who is 3 1/2, Rod who is 2 and little baby Glenn are with her parents in Marblemount. Lee will go up this weekend to bring them home. Congratulations on the birth of the wee one and welcome to our Bay neighborhood.

Elna Pike's mother, Mrs. Harrington of Boston, left beautiful, sunny Whidbey by plane from Seattle to spend the rest of the month in hot, smoggy, California. Sort of wish we were in her pocket when she gets home to have a Saturday night supper of baked beans, green tomato relish, chocolate cake and coffee. Then warmed-over beans and coffee for Sunday breakfast but tea the rest of the week. Sign of age to start living in the past, eh?

Next port-o-call was to meet Clarence and Rosemary Dionne who are living in the Fred Johnson house. Don't know why, but sort of expected older people with children. Instead, they are a good looking young man and a pretty little redhead, plus a wooly looking puppy, as yet unnamed. Mr. Dionne is with the crash crew at NAS. In his six years in the Navy, he has been on six ships but finally the powers-that-be decided to give him shore duty long enough to get married and live in a house for a change. To prove the old adage "tis a small world," these two were raised within 90 miles of each other in Michigan and Wisconsin but both brought them together on a blind date in Los Angeles where they entered the state of marital bliss six weeks ago.

An interesting fact about Mr. Dionne is that his father and the Quints' father are first cousins. As we were checking that relationship the little bride exclaimed "You never told me that." Anyway, best wishes from all your neighbors for long and happy years of marriage and we hope you enjoy your stay on Whidbey.

On up the road a trifle, we called on LTJG Randy Jaycox and wife, Jean. They are second-timers to this area, having been here in 1954-55. Jean taught third grade in the Oak Harbor school and Randy was with VP-29. That unit is now in San Diego but is known as VAH-2. The Jaycox's are both from California but when given a choice between staying in San Diego or returning here to help form VAH-4 out of VP-57 they elected to come back (San Diego C of C, please note). At present the ruler of the roost seems to be a dachshund named "Bruno" but he will soon be demoted when a little Jaycox arrives.

Lois Gustafson tells me that some nice silvers were caught at their resort this week. Guess the fishermen don't close up shop on Labor Day like the rest of the summer playboys.

The Dean and Archie Anderson families, plus Roberta Gustafson and Joyce Fairfield drove up to the Twin Lakes area on Sunday and picked enough blueberries to make pies.

George Doman, that energetic man, is building a concrete block addition to his basement, erecting a fence above his driveway, and clearing and burning off an area for a target range below his house.

Adrienne Austin, five year old daughter of the H. O. Austins, celebrated with cake and ice-cream on Saturday. Her guests included Stevie Pike, Janet and Helen Jaworski, Marilyn Babbitt and Valerie Austin and their mothers.

Austins also had a slight tragedy this week when their dog, which they have had for three years, took sick and died.

Probably won't have too much more news on Bill Rohman as Helen is moving back to Sedro Woolley this coming weekend. Bill is up on crutches however, and may get home the end of the month if all goes well.

The Shearers were down from Alaska to attend their son's wedding and have been calling on friends. Along with Bud and Clara Doolittle they stopped in to see the Lochbrunnners at Bayview.

Miss Judy Anderson spent the weekend with Miss Alice Kirk. Delmon's sister, Mrs. Lyle Udlin with husband and family from Seattle came up to help remove the wooden forms from the basement of the new house. Juanita's father, Albert Van Dyk and brother, Bob, also lent their strong arms. They had intended to have a picnic at the building site but the icky weather sent them to Delmon's where they had a pot luck lunch. That evening they had dinner at the Anker Anderson home.

Chief and Mrs. Paul Koontz have as houseguests Mr. and Mrs. Hedy of San Diego, Calif., and their teen-age son and daughter. Mr. Hedy is with the Navy and they are househunting. Bobby Koontz is sporting two black eyes as a result of surgery last Monday. She is recovering satisfactorily but the result will not be definitely known until an examination in about six weeks. At that time it will be decided if further surgery is needed. Now she has to go to Bellingham once a week for treatment. Bobby is just under school age so next year she will be ready to start without a visual handicap.

Remember when a certain gal in this neck of the woods ran out of gas on her way home from the fair? Well, it seems it can happen to anyone. Archie Anderson was bringing his riders home from work at midnight recently and although the needle said half full, there was nary a drop of petrol in the blooming car. The filling station owner couldn't be awakened to help them but the sheriff's wagon stopped by to see why they were stopped. He gave Archie and Delmon a ride to Juanita's folks home and her brother supplied the needed gas.

Civil Defense
Aid Asked Of Church Units

Olympia, Sept. 12—A resolution urging every congregation in the state to form a civil defense committee was adopted by ministers representing major church denominations, meeting last week at the state civil defense office.

The resolution also asked the pastors of the state to take an active part in local civil defense activities.

A newly formed state civil defense religious affairs committee will result from the meeting, according to Admiral Daniel Barbey, state civil defense director. This group will undertake a program to stimulate civil defense activity among the churches and clergy of the state.

Chairman of the new committee will be the Rev. Bernard J. Barry of Spokane, representing the Catholic Diocese of Spokane, who was elected by the clergymen at Tuesday's meeting. All major denominations and their area divisions, and the state council of churches, are to be represented on the committee of approximately seven members.

It was emphasized by the ministers that the churches have an essential part in civil defense, including spiritual counseling, personal activity in reception centers, first aid stations and registration teams, and in many cases provision of physical facilities for use as emergency hospitals and reception centers.

You gals who didn't take the opportunity to go to the Home-makers' Club missed out on a good time. Whole house full of women and kids, including the month old Lam baby. We made baskets out of popsicle sticks, and next month someone is going to demonstrate the art of gift wrapping. Put the date on your calendar because Christmas will soon be here.

Promised not to mention any names but there is one enterprising gal who is driving pulpwood to Everett. More power to her—who said that women were the weaker sex?

The Elles family got out of its own tracks Saturday and went to Anacortes for a free loading of canned fruit along with some business and shopping. Stopped to pick up some sandwich makings and on to Lochbrunnners where we begged for a cup of coffee and one tea bag. Ruth and Alice went to the Big Bargain Barn sponsored by the Hospital Guild of Mount Vernon. Had a gay time giggling our way through the rummage and white elephants and drooling over the bazaar table with the items priced beyond our budgets. The plants and shrubs were tempting and we finally parted with a few shekels. Hope it was a big success as it was for a very worthy cause. Got home in time for our big boy to get dressed for his first high school sock hop. As Wilma Rhodes said "No I'm not getting old, I was a child bride."

Classroom, Field Training By FAETUPAC Survival Unit Prepares Airmen For Worst

Even though our Naval aircraft is maintained and operated by the world's best trained airmen, once in a while the unexpected happens and the Navy airmen finds himself faced with the unpleasant prospect of spending days adrift on the open sea, or marooned in an unfriendly wilderness.

Since it stands to reason that a man trained to survive under rigorous conditions has a better chance of doing so than an untrained one, FAETUPAC has in operation a school to do just that—train men to survive under conditions extremely unfavorable for the sustenance of human life.

In a course lasting about seven days, pilots and crewmen are taught what to do to remain alive, from the moment the bail out order is given to the moment they are picked up. During a two-day classroom period of instruction, the airmen are taught the uses of the various survival equipment, and survival tactics.

Some of the survival equipment Navy birdmen learn to properly use are: the parachute, the life jacket, and equipment found on the five-man and seven-man life raft.

Parachute rigger first class W. P. Hedrick, a man well experienced in the use of the parachute, handles the instruction of this subject, as well as instruction on use of other survival equipment found in the aircraft. D. N. Larson, TD3, and J. F. Troxell, TD3, round out the survival instruction team headed by R. K. Edgett, AMC.

Following the two-day period of classroom instruction, Navy aircrewmembers and pilots migrate to the woods to put their newly acquired knowledge to use. Formerly the period of survival instruction in the field was three days, but it was recently increased to about five.

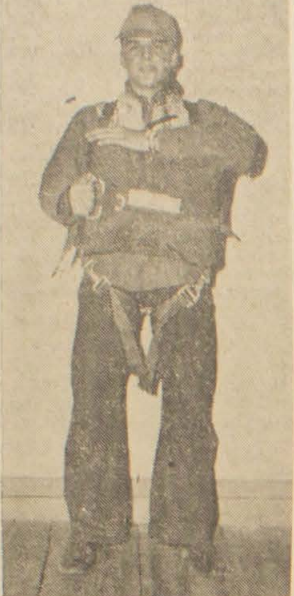

In the near future, classes composed of about 20 men will journey to the Quillayute Naval Auxiliary Air Station on the Olympic Peninsula. From there they will be trucked into the tangled wilderness of the Olympic forest.

Their first ordeal will be a seven or eight-mile river trip upstream by life raft. Leaving their life raft the airmen will live in the forest, constructing their own shelter and procuring most of their own food.

On being asked what sort of woodland creatures are edible, a survival instructor drolly replied, "You eat anything that doesn't eat you first."

Settling down for a good night's sleep after a hard day of grubbing for food and in other ways trying to keep alive, the woodland Eddie Rickenbackers are apt to be awakened by a fusillade of gunshots, heralding and attack by the enemy—in this case survival school instructors dressed in red army uniforms and armed with blank loaded weapons.

While in the wilderness, survival students are under close supervision by instructors (presumably to make certain that no one starves to death) who give them pointers on survival tactics in a realistic atmosphere. Among the things the marooned airmen learn are: how to signal for help and in other ways cooperate with rescue teams. The survival school's field instructors are L. O. Siebenmorgen, TD3, and W. D. Cox, AO3.

"GERONIMO"—D. N. Larson, TD3, one of the FAETUPAC Survival instructors, models one of the most important pieces of survival equipment, the parachute. Other pieces of equipment survival students learn to use proficiently are the life jacket, long termed by airmen the "Mae West," and the numerous articles of life saving gear found aboard the Navy life raft. — Navy Photo

His period of trial finally over, the Navy airman drags his weary, malnourished frame back to NAS Whidbey, confident of his ability to survive under extremely unfavorable conditions, should he ever have to.

Mrs. Scheiber Laid To Rest

Funeral Service for Mrs. Libbey M. Scheiber, was held in the First Methodist Church, Saturday, Sept. 15, 1956, the Rev. Darrel L. Iwerks, officiating.

Mrs. Libbey M. Scheiber, 76 years of age, died Wednesday, Sept. 12, in the Virginia Mason Hospital in Seattle.

As Libbey DuVall, she was born in Marion County, Ohio, Feb. 14, 1880, to Daniel and Elizabeth DuVall, one of 14 children. When she was still quite young, her parents moved to McBain, Michigan. Her father, a Civil War veteran, homesteaded at Falmouth, in Missaukee County. Here she grew to womanhood.

On Oct. 4, 1899, she married William A. Kennedy. In 1919 they brought their family to Oak Harbor, Wash. On July 17, 1921, Mr. Kennedy died.

September 14, 1925, Libbey Kennedy was married to Clarence Scheiber, in Oak Harbor, Wash. The remainder of her life was spent here in Oak Harbor, with the exception of a short time in Moose Pass, Alaska.

Clarence Scheiber preceded her in death, Nov. 1, 1955.

Libbey M. Scheiber was a member of the First Methodist Church in Oak Harbor, Wash., and active in the Woman's Society of the Church. She was also a member of the Rebekah Lodge, Oak Leaf Chapter No. 254, and a Past Noble Grand of that order.

Surviving are: two daughters: Mrs. Jessie Ely, Seattle, and Mrs. Elaine Julusser, Anchorage, Alaska; three sons, Forrest Kennedy, Oak Harbor, and Gordon Kennedy, Anchorage, Alaska; two sisters, Mrs. Lola McInnon, Seattle, and Mrs. Katherine Brink, Chico, Calif.; three brothers, Ernest, Kenneth and Clifford DuVall, all of Michigan; seven grandchildren, and 19 great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Maple Leaf cemetery, with the Rebekah Lodge in charge.

Mrs. Scheiber will be remembered as one who was little inclined to think of herself, and even when she should have been the object of concern and sympathy, she could think of the little things that could be done for others.

Ride Brake Or Duck Hurdled Book Motorists Told

Motorists have all kinds of things to worry about, and one of those things is Langlie Boulevard, the portion that slopes down from the Whid-Haven club to Gate 2, Ault Field.

The upper part of the hill has a speed limit of 25 miles an hour for northbound traffic, and the lower part has a limit of 20 miles an hour. That makes it very tricky, indeed.

To add to the peril, there is a school crossing half way down and an apartment project just beyond. Beyond the apartments, there is a sharp-eyed Marine, with a stop-watch.

Under the circumstances, the best thing a driver can do as he passes the Whid-Haven Club is put his car in second gear. And the right foot should stay near the brake pedal than the accelerator.

The word is that the book is going to be thrown at offenders in the future, and a heavy, met-

New Speed Zone Set Up Near Seaplane Base

A new reduced speed zone has been established on the street running northward from the OOD's office, Gate 1, Seaplane Base.

Proceeding northward from the OOD's office corner, one passes the Baptist Church — a white building with a roofed-over basement extending from it toward the road. Proceeding on northward, one passes the Homojo Home area.

The section from the Baptist Church past the Homojo Homes is now a school zone. The speed limit in that section is 15 miles per hour. This zone is patrolled and the speed limit is strictly enforced.

ber 18 will show only half the increase in Class I sales.

The new paying price to the dairymen poses a new problem to the Federal Order pricing system which was set up June 1, 1951. The reason is that local changes have taken place which have no bearing on the pricing formula.

R. S. Waltz, president of Consolidated Dairy Products Co., Seattle, is going to Washington D.C. this week, says Phil Corneli. One of his tasks will be to go over this situation with the people who write the federal orders.

Winter Fishing Season Dates Unchanged

Traditionally, the winter fishing season in Washington opens on the first Sunday in December, and this year is no exception, with the opening date scheduled for December 2nd.

Basic winter regulations are little changed from last year, although some minor changes are of interest. Among these are the following:

Minimum size of trout, 12 inches, statewide.

Big River added to open streams. This is a tributary of Ozette Lake and contains some steelhead.

Fifteen days removed from extended seasons on the Bogachiel, Calawah, Soudac and Quillayute rivers because of preponderance of spawnouts in the rivers during this time.

Descutes River opened to take a returning cycle of fish planted in this stream. It was previously closed to upstream migrants because of a falls which have now been laddered.

Satsop River open to bridge at Shaeffer Park instead of mouth of Tarnow branch, as the latter was difficult to locate.

Skykomish River season extended to May 20th, to utilize a run of steelhead which usually occurs in this stream in May.

Extended season on the Skagit open to Government bridge at Marblemount instead of the mouth of Grandy Creek.

Part of Stillaguamish River opened from Canyon Creek to Boardman Creek, to utilize a returning cycle of fish released two years ago which should be coming up over the new fish ladder at the falls.

Kindergarten System Operating In Homojo Area; Navy Kids Enrolled

The first kindergarten program in the Oak Harbor area since 1954 enters its second week of operation tomorrow with about 114 pupils enrolled. An estimated 60 percent of the youngsters are children of Navy personnel.

Kindergarten sessions are being held in a part of the Homojo Hut area, aesthetically named Olympic View School. The kindergarten children are divided into four groups of classes, each receiving two and one-third or three hours of instruction daily. Each of the kindergarten's two teachers teaches two sessions a day: a morning session from 0900 to 1200, and an afternoon session from 1300 to 1520. As in elementary and high school, the program lasts nine months.

During the first months of kindergarten, the children learn to work alongside other youngsters in the classroom, doing mostly art work, drawing, and other creative work. In the spring the juveniles will enter a school preparation program designed to teach them the fundamentals of first grade work, such as elementary words and numbers. A specially designed workbook will be implemented in this preparatory program.

Since the state of Washington does not contribute support to the kindergarten program, parents of children enrolled have to pay a tuition fee of $8 per month. Included in the tuition fee is the cost of one ration of milk per kindergarten child per day.

Mr. E. O. Neuman, principal of the elementary school system and in direct administration of the kindergarten program, made this statement as to the kindergarten situation: "The present situation is that all sessions are filled and we'll have to start a waiting list."

Mr. Newman said, though, that parents wishing to enroll their children would probably only have to wait about one to ten days. To be eligible for the program, a child must have reached his fifth birthday by 31 October of this year.

It is not yet too late for parents wishing to enroll their children in kindergarten to do so. A school official said that some of the children would be expected to drop out of kindergarten due to transfer of the family to a different duty station, and that openings for new children would

Alabama Brothers, Wed To Twins From Brooklyn, Stationed At NAS Whidbey

Marvin and Vernon Stewart have a lot in common besides the fact that they are brothers, both chiefs and both attached to VP-2. The story goes back some thirteen-odd years ago when a diminutive Italian girl went to Coney Island. While there, she met a sailor. Now it so happened she had a twin sister back in Brooklyn and he had a brother—a sailor too.

That trip to Coney Island began a chain of events which leads up to the fact that the Stewart Clan now resides in Whidbey Apartments.

As for the twins in the story, Carrie and Vicky, they are alike in regards to birthdays and friendliness. In temperament and dislikes, they are like night and day. Vicky, the more easy-going of the two, married Vernon Stewart and Carrie married Marvin.

Marvin and Vernon Stewart, who hail from Jackson, Alabama, enlisted in the Navy in June of 1941. Another link in the chain of events is the fact that they both made Chief in 1951. Marvin, AEC while on duty in Hawaii and Vernon, BMC while stationed in Japan.

In 1952 the Navy issued a directive stating that brothers could be stationed together when possible. At that time, Marvin Stewart was serving with NAMTD in Memphis. Vernon was due to ship out from Long Beach but a request has been made for him to join his brother. Thirty minutes before the ship was due to shove off, orders came through and Vicky and Vernon were Memphis bound.

Following their tour of duty there, each family headed west, the Marvin Stewarts to NAS Whidbey and the Vernon Stewarts to a series of stations including San Diego. It was a happy day for all when orders came through sending Vernon and Vicky to Whidbey.

Both brothers enjoy the fishing and hunting the area offers, but on a recent fishing trip, Marvin's 10 year old son Don took the honors with a 3½ pound sea bass. It seems Father and Uncle were going to teach him how to fish.

The Marvin Stewarts have four children, Peggy, 11; Don, 10; Carol, 8, and Bill, 1.

The Vernon Stewarts have three: Patty, 9; Betty, 7, and Junior, 3. A tabular in anyone's language when they all get together.

The Girls, who come from a family of ten, are happiest when they can be together and are the only two separated by miles.

from their family. A recent leave in Alabama united the brothers with their family again, a trip that doesn't happen often when it involves seven children. Navy families usually scatter to the four winds but in the case of the Stewarts—they are making the most of being together at NAS Whidbey.

Twenty five thousand dollars' worth of mink capes, stoles and coats were featured at the Officers Wives Club luncheon last Wednesday afternoon when John Shapton of Frederick and Nelson's fur department and Mrs. Drummond, a New York buyer, presented the latest fur fashions. Shapton explained why the full length mink coats were so expensive and showed how each pelt is split down the back and then cut into extremely narrow strips which form numerous seams in the completed garment. Elizabeth Elton, Nancy Moran and Audie Waggoner served as models for the fashion show which was hosted by officers wives of VP-2.

Had several inquiries of what happened to the Penn Cove News last week... well it was due to complications. Busted in the last stages of moving and then the head of the household took ill... talk about confusion!!

Also on the sick list last week was Mrs. Ed Cunningham. She spent several days in the Navy Hospital but is now home convalescing and doing fine.

Mrs. Floyd Nelson has and will be among those on the sick list. Her mother is here to help with their family while Mrs. Nelson is confined.

Two birthdays the past week went over with a bang. Little Debbie Carleton celebrated her third birthday Sunday Sept. 2, with several neighborhood children enjoying the games, opening of gifts and the party refreshments served by her mother. The traditional birthday cake topped with three candles was a conversational centerpiece. It was an angel food cake with a red painted twig emerging from the center with lollypops and all sorts of stick candy tied to the branch. Later the lollypop tree was given as a prize for one of the games. Enjoying the afternoon were Evelyn and Ellen Heising, Jim and Mark Schader, Margaret McLeod, Marcia and Allan Carleton.

The second birthday of the week was that of four year old Bobby Mulkey. It was his first party and was one he'll long remember. Enjoying the party last Saturday were Hal and Marla Hightower, Kathy, Debbie, and Ricky Bush, Johnny Morgan, Scott Bergquist, Sharon Remington, Sharyl Harington and Bobby's sister Barbara. Games were played, opening of gifts and the traditional birthday cake was served with accompanying refreshments.

Birthday greetings to Wayne West went over the telephone lines last Saturday shared by the Remington family. Wayne is stationed at Amarillo, Tex. He recently was promoted to Airman 3rd class and thoroughly enjoys the service. He is expected home on leave next month.

The Fordham residence was most popular last Saturday with the numerous children stopping by to see Ginger's litter of ten puppies—so if you are interested stop by.

Over the weekend Mr. and Mrs. William Klieiman entertained friends from Wallace, Idaho Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Andrews enjoyed a tour of the Island a day at Mount Baker and the visit with the Klieimans. Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Klieiman were school girl chums in Wallace.

Dinner guests Friday evening were the Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Stroops of Oak Harbor and their son and daughter in law, Ed and Mitzie Klieiman.

Madison Mulkey who was recently promoted to Chief Warrant left Tuesday for limited schooling at San Diego before permanent duty. Mrs. Mulkey and family plan to stay here until they learn of his status for duty.

Friends of Mrs. C. Heighton have received word from her recently. She and a friend are touring South America. Lu Ella wrote from Peru and enjoying it to the utmost. They plan to be gone several months.

A welcome to newcomers recently, is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Blatnick and family. They purchased the home formerly owned by the Sanfords. Mr. Blatnick is stationed here with VP-4. Their next door neighbors are CDR and Mrs. John Wester and family of three children. They are renting the Wades' home. Mr. Wester is with VP-57. On down the road next is Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ackley. They bought the home that the Dietzman's owned. ENS and Mrs. Donald D. Law have moved into the former home of the Buddy Mathis' which I understand they are buying. Mr. Law is with VP-2. Mr. and Mrs. John Scarborough have purchased the former home of the Skeas. Mr. Scarborough is a CPO in VP-1. Their former duty was in Hutchinson, Kansas. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Patrick and family are "just in," the way he puts it. They have bought the Butterbaugh home. Mr. Patrick is a lawyer in Oak Harbor moving here from Mount Vernon.

LT and Mrs. James Schader entertained his sister and family Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Keeter and their two teen-age boys. They are from Portland and enjoyed a week here visiting and fishing. The boys were quite thrilled to have caught their first salmon from the Sound.

LT and Mrs. Rod Miller have been enjoying several weekends out in the boat they have been building for some time. They have about the raciest sails around on their boat. A beautiful shade of red—so you could not miss it out on the waters of the Cove.

The Board members of the Jaycee Wives Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Klieiman Tuesday night. After the business meeting refreshments were served.

ALUMNI... The Van Attas, who have been attending line school at Monterey, Calif., will be leaving there for two years of college at Rochester, New York. This is warmly received by them, as that's near their parents' home. They soon will be leaving their lovely home they purchased and worked so diligently fixing it up to the utmost with a patio with two motorized waterfalls in a pool and that sort of thing. Vera was involved with the Ebb and Tide radio program and several other commentary functions, besides their new home and keeping a family of five children going.

The former Penn Coveites, CDR and Mrs. Arne Havu are the proud parents of a boy, John Eric born last month in the Navy Hospital in Glenview, Ill. They have already visited with LCDR and Mrs. Ken Sanford and family who have been on new duty there for about a month. The Sanfords have already indulged in the process of buying a home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wallace and their granddaughter Sheryl Martin enjoyed visiting with her sister Mrs. Carl Sandell of Enumclaw. They left Friday and returned Sunday. They were among the first of the throng to have visited the fabulous Puyallup State Fair and enjoyed it tremendously. They saw everything at its best and freshest.

And speaking of the fair, we have a share along with several others in the grandstand building. We'd like to invite you to stop by should you attend the Fair. While father is demonstrating the difference between a high pressure and a low pressure oil burner next Saturday, the rest of the family will be there enjoying all that can be derived from a fair in one day!

BY THE WAY... The Toskeys drove all the way up from Seattle last Tuesday to cast their votes... Betty Fordham on hands and knees comforting Ginger and arranging her pups, sympathetically stated "Aren't you glad you're not a dog." to yours truly... CDR William Arnold hurried a check that goes along with moves, which was designated for another W. Arnold, Rt. 2, explaining he wasn't expecting said check from the sender... Penn Cove was well represented at the P-TA meeting Monday night... The Van Attas, knowing they'd only be there nine months bought a new home, worked madly on it, only to leave it all for some one else to enjoy... Richard Skea tired of this camping that goes along with moves, declared after being questioned why he'd like to move back to the 'old house'—"Cause we had more glorious meals there!"

This is it until next week—and as a reminder, plan to attend the Community Club meeting next Wednesday night, Sept 26, the first of the season.

Neither here Nor there ..

By Phyllis M. Smith

It must be fall. We've had two indisputable pieces of evidence. We arrived home from the Washington Newspaper Publishers Annual convention and we found an oil bill on the counter.

Conventions in the fall in Yakima are wonderful things. The sun is warm, the hills are purple, the setting sun is two sizes too big, and there never are any dishes to wash. Oh yes, we got an award. A board of experts takes every newspaper in the state and examines them all year long to name the ones which excel in advertising, news and make-up. This year we received one for the Coupeville Island County Times for excellence in news. But why not, with Dorothy Neil punching the typewriter keys? Dorothy's scintillating wit was not lost on the panel who do the judging, and this is one time when we agreed we deserved it.

As usual we learned at the convention that we don't have all the problems in the world. In fact some publishers who pay their wives have even more.

We always hear some quips from the imported talent so good we are forced to open our purse, dig through the eye-brow tweezers, lipstick and fruit bowl propaganda for a pencil, and jot them down. This is the one I like best. It was told by Duke Norberg, publisher of one of the country's largest weeklies in Albia, Iowa. Herbert Hoover and his wife met a little girl once in their

Junior High Votes On Thursday

The Oak Harbor Junior high school student body elections will take place on Thursday, Sept. 20, when each home room will vote separately as if it were a voting precinct.

travels who showed great interest in penguins. His wife thought it would be nice to send the child a beautifully illustrated encyclopedia telling all about penguins, which she did at the end of the tour. The little girl wrote back: "Dear Mrs. Hoover: Thank you for the book about penguins. It was more about penguins than I wanted to know."

Mr. Norberg used that as a point to tell the publishers to be concise in their treatment of stories. He said sometimes the reader didn't want to know all there was to know on a subject. Now, aren't you glad we went? Of course we come home and find we've been going back the same time in September for the past continue along in the same old seventeen years.

MORE POWER FOR MORE PEOPLE

The Puget Sound-Cascade region, richly endowed by nature, has become a vital link in the economic progress of all America. Recent authoritative forecasts of population and per capita income growth place this region as one of the most promising sections of the country. The region's creative and productive people have the challenge and opportunity to achieve this greater destiny. Progress is depending heavily on an upward boost from all of us together.

Basic to the economic health and growth of the region is ample, low-cost electric power. And we of Puget, together with the other electric utilities of the Puget Sound Utilities Council, are bound and determined that the people of this region are going to have all the power they need for all purposes at the lowest possible cost.

Realization of Puget's present plans would provide power in 1965 to meet a peak demand of around 1,000,000 kilowatts—or more than double that of 1955. Among the sources of new and additional hydroelectric power are: Baker River, Snoqualmie Falls, Priest Rapids and Rocky Reach. Most of these projects are part of the Puget Sound Utilities Council's coordinated power program.

To gear its facilities to anticipated load growth, the Company plans to spend around $90 million for new construction in the years 1956-59. Work is now under way on Puget's 140,000-kilowatt Baker River hydroelectric project—estimated to cost $35 million and to be completed in 1959. The enlargement of the Company's Snoqualmie Falls plant to provide 20,000 additional kilowatts will be completed in 1957.

This year alone Puget is spending $20 million for construction, which includes over a score of new substations, miles of new transmission and distribution lines and new office and service buildings.

And so it goes—in all areas of its operations—Puget is forging dynamic plans into realities. It is on the job round the clock to bring more power for more people—to give customers ever better service for modern electric living—and all the while wholly dedicated to the region's growth and progress.

OH Junior Rifle Club Sponsored By NW Sportsmen

At a recent meeting of the North Whidbey Sportsmen's association it was unanimously agreed to sponsor a Junior Rifle club in Oak Harbor, affiliated with the National Rifle Association of America. Membership will be open to all boys and girls 11 to 18 years of age having an interest in shooting and safe gun handling. Parents' consent will be necessary.

Work will soon be started on a 50-foot outdoor range at the grounds of the sportsman association lodge. As soon as prospective members have been signed up a meeting will be held explaining the new club's by-laws and plans.

A prerequisite to joining is that all prospective members must complete a National Rifle association hunter-safety course, in which proper handling and use of guns is taught, along with conservation of game.

All boys and girls wishing to join the club are urged to leave their name, age, address and telephone number at the Whidbey Press in care of Harold Lang. Or a card bearing same may be mailed to Whidbey Press.

Wildcats To Meet Second Foe Friday

By Orson Christensen
After opening the season with a 7-7 tie with Lynden, the Oak Harbor Wildcats will be out after their first victory Friday night when the big and fast Ferndale Golden Eagles invade Oak Harbor Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m.

The Wildcats will be biting off a big chunk when they meet Ferndale—rated by many as the top team in Whatcom county.

Ferndale has a big aggressive line and some backs that are faster than any seen in the Memorial Stadium gridiron for several years.

Oak Harbor will be playing without the help of 195-pound tackle Dave DeGraaf who was injured in the Lynden game. Coach Passmore will be working hard with reserve tackles all week to find a replacement for the All-Conference line man.

In other departments the Wildcats will probably be about the same as they were in the Lynden game. They are working on their offense to provide greater strength and thus offset Ferndale's speed.

Sophomore Dale Abrahamse has been developing rapidly and will probably see a lot of action in the Wildcat backfield.

With all things added together the opening home game in Memorial Stadium promises to be a hard-fought grid thriller between determined opponents.

All Stars Victors In Anacortes Meet

Oak Harbor Little League's All Stars vanquished Anacortes' best in a game held there early this month.

A highlight on the contest in which the locals emerged victors by a 3-2 score was Bob Sumpster's home run with no men on in the third inning.

That swat proved to be the winning tally when Anacortes was unable to score off Oak Harbor's Ole Carlson.

Local Youths Listed On Whitworth Squad

Football roster at Whitworth College has been completed and two Oak Harbor students appeared on the list of those on the 1956 squad.

They are Ray Zylstra, center, and Ed Vander Stoep, backfield. The Whitworth Pirates are in their third week of practice.

It's the fellow who tries to do others who finds himself undone.

TOP SCRAP FISHERMEN in Saturday derby were Pete Kinch, left, with 13 lb., 2 oz. dogfish. Roger Zylstra and Doug Henderson, runners-up, hold similar catches.

Oak Harbor And Lynden Tie 7-7 In First Grid Game

By Orson Christensen
Oak Harbor's Wildcats opened their 1956 grid season with a 7-7 tie with the Lynden Lions on the Lions' home field last Friday night.

Oak Harbor scored its first touchdown of the season in the second quarter to take a 7-0 half-time lead.

This lead was short-lived though, as a fired-up Lynden football squad tied it up early in the third quarter.

The Wildcat touchdown was set up when Mike Teel intercepted a Lynden pass on the Lions' 30-yard line and ran it back to the 10.

A penalty set the Wildcats back to the 15 where it took them three plays to score. Dale Abrahamse made the Wildcat touchdown and Orson Christensen kicked the extra point.

On the opening kick-off of the second half the Wildcats suffered a serious loss when Dave DeGraaf, 195-pound All-Conference tackle, received a back injury that will keep him out of action for a couple of weeks.

DeGraaf spent the weekend at St. Lukes hospital in Bellingham, then was released.

Lynden's touchdown came in the third quarter when the Lions capitalized on a 15 yard penalty that gave them a first down on the Wildcat 9-yard line. They carried the ball around end on the next play for the touchdown. The game was all tied up when

Boy, is my face red. After the big build-up on Pass Lake last week, I find that the lake is closed for the season. No wonder fish were on the rise. And it sure is lucky my fly rod was at home or I would have been a guest of the County through the courtesy of Dode Berco and the game Dept. It could be worse, though, Joe Libbey I am sure would see that I got the best that the courthouse could offer.

So you can stop at the Lake and look. But leave your rods at home.

The Salt chuck has been good the past week. Both hooks and small silvers showing all the way from Lagoon around to Baby Island. Some days have been very good at Lagoon Point. On the right tides Mutiny Bay fishing has picked up with both hooks and blackmouth showing. Off Double Bluff the silvers are still hitting the dodger fly combo. And both spinners and moochers are doing well.

Cultus Bay phoned in to tell us that fishing the past week has been good. Trollers doing OK here. Jim and John's Resort and the hole at Clinton both had good fishing over the weekend. Kenny's Sunrise Beach at Langley reports fishing good for silvers and some good hooks coming in from Camano head. Don's Cottage Grove at Greenbank reports fishing at Baby Island extra good all week. Don has been getting nice catches all week. Very few out fishing at the Island so you will have lots of room.

We took a three day trip to Long Beach last week. Not a fisherman out. Near the mouth of the Columbia some dandy silvers were moving into the river near the north jetty, and the commercial trollers were bringing in nice catches of 8 to 10 pound silvers.

Next week we are going to try to get over to the potholes near Moses Lake, and try for some of those bass and crappie. I understand this spot is loaded and that the cool nights have put the spiny rays on the feed again. For the casting rod addict this is a top spot and believe it or not I would rather catch a three-pound bass than a 10-pound salmon.

Grouse season opens this Saturday and Sunday, with both ruffed and blue grouse open the 22 and 23, 29 and 30 and Oct. 6 and 7. Then all through the regular buck deer season, with bag limit 3, straight or mixed.

You are going to do a lot of walking to come up with your limit. This seems to be the low cycle in grouse. The blues are more plentiful than the ruffed. Hit the high ridges and cut over the land for blues. The valleys and foothills hold most of the ruffed grouse. Close by try the road that turns off the Arlington to Darrington highway to Oso and leads to Lake Cavanaugh, the Lake Menzel area near Granite Falls are good for both Ruffed and Blues.

The upper skagit and Nooksack valleys hold a lot of the Lions made good their extra point attempt.

The game was even-steven in every way. The score read 7-7 and when final statistics were figured both Lynden and Oak Harbor had 354 net yards to their credit.

The Wildcats had the edge in rushing yards gained, but Lynden made up the difference in punt returns.

The next game scheduled for the Wildcats is with Ferndale in Oak Harbor Memorial Stadium this Friday, September 21.

New Navigation Lights Set For Small Craft

Recent changes to simplify and standardize the requirements for the display of navigation lights by motorboats were announced by the Thirtieth Coast Guard District today.

Public Law 552, enacted by the 84th Congress, now permits motorboats of all classes to carry and exhibit in inland waters the lights required by the "Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea (1948)," commonly referred to as the International Rules. By so doing, motorboats will avoid the necessity of changing lights when they operated from inland waters to the high seas or Canada.

A number of changes also have been made to requirements for lights to be displayed by sailing auxiliaries. Copies of literature setting forth these requirements may be obtained upon request from the Commander, 13th Coast Guard District, 618 2nd Avenue, Seattle 4, Washington, or by calling the Coast Guard Auxiliary at SEneca 2902 in Seattle.

Lots of hunters go after grouse with too large a shot. Try 7 1/2 and a trap load is all you need. Most shots will be under 25 yards and you will have darn little time to do any sighting before they duck behind a bush. If you get one out of 3 you are a better shot than I am.

LADY BOWLER—Mrs. George Dyer is one of numerous Oak Harbor housewives who have taken advantage of the new local pastime following opening of the Oak Bowl. Both men and women's league competition was due to begin this week.

Three New Bowling Groups To Be Formed At Oak Bowl

Formation of three new bowling leagues—housewives, teenagers and juniors—was underway this week, with registration for the new groups as well as other leagues continuing at Chuck Dann's Sporting Goods.

Church league play began at the new Oak Bowl alleys Monday night, with men's league competition starting Tuesday.

In a switch from last week's tentative listing of team play, Friday night's teams have been shifted to Thursday and Tuesday nights to allow an evening for mixed foursomes. The latter should also visit Chuck Dann's to register.

Dann reports a large number of unattached bowlers are listed at the store, adding that team sponsors wishing to fill out their groups are invited to inspect the lists for possible players.

New hours were announced this week by Oak Bowl. Sundays through Saturdays, the bowling alley will be open from

1 p.m. until evening activity ceases, and on Saturday from 10 a.m. until bowling ends.

The housewives league now forming will play from 1 to 3 p.m. on days to be decided by members. Beginners are especially welcome in the league.

The teenagers' group is open to youth from 13 through high school. Bowling would be from 4 to 6 p.m. on days chosen by members.

The junior league is for bowlers 9 through 12 years, and bowling will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. One adult per alley is needed to help train this group. Such teachers are asked to register at Chuck Dann's along with league registrants.

It takes a lot of education and experience before a man really begins to realize how little he actually knows.

Drive Carefully.
