Dear Wash:

Your letter is most kind and I am grateful for the nice things you have been good enough to say about me personally and as a National Guardsman. I am grateful, too, for your fine friendship throughout all the years and I hope we shall not lose close touch with each other during the years to come. If I can help you with the Guard in any way you have but to let me know and I certainly shall do my best.

I retire from the Guard after more than 40 years of service with a feeling of great satisfaction for whatever I may have been able to accomplish for my state and country, and for the close friendships - the finest of my life - that it afforded me. Rather than being regretful that I am retiring for age, I am happy that everything was so fine in every way. I certainly shall come out and make myself at home.

With best wishes to you all all of our mutual friends out there, I am

Cordially yours,
