

Tennis Team Practices Daily At K.S.B. Striving To Annex Victory

The tennis team under the supervision of Mr. Alfred Church, K. S. B. instructor, is rounding into shape for its coming interscholastic matches. The members of the team are really interested in tennis this year and are practicing diligently to make a creditable showing in the 1938 campaign. The championship has never been won by Kamehameha, and so the Cadets will be striving to annex their first title. The crown will be defended by Leilehua school, and six teams will vie for honors in the league; they are Leilehua, Iolani, McKinley, Roosevelt, Punahou, and Kamehameha.

Many Warrior veterans are reporting to practice daily and some new prospects are also swinging their weapons. The returning Warrior netmen this year are Jonathan Kahana-nui, George Bartels, Hoffman Kunewa, William Wilson, John Awana, John Allen and Clayton Benham. Probably 10 members will comprise the team, and among these 10 a ladder tourney will be held to determine the top ranking players to fill different posts.

With a large turnout of smaller boys a junior team will be formed to give them experience and stamina. They will serve as substitutes to the team.

The season starts about February.

Sophomores Nearing Completion Of Deed

"Do Unto Others As You Would They Do Unto You" was really put into practice by the sophomore sewing class at the Kamehameha School for Girls, under the guidance of Miss Emma Pauline Garrison, when they made a baby layette and clothes for the little child of a needy family. The girls spent approximately two weeks to complete the layette for the expectant mother and enjoyed every minute doing this worthy deed.

The cost of the whole project was $3.00 which is the smallest amount of money ever spent for such a project so far. This was mostly due to the many things which were donated by the girls and a few from the faculty members.

The layette consists of three blankets, for the baby; one large blanket, two jackets, two kimonos, three garters, three nightgowns, four abdominal bands, one bed pad, three dresses, and 20 diapers. The girls also included in their project a dress and two sunsuits for the two-year-old child.

These 13 girls who are Effie Hamic, Miriam Aoki, Sarah Harrigan, Pauline Duvauchelle, Pauline Mookini, Pauline Mahikoa, Hester Adams, Lydia Afat, Alice Chang, Annabelle Awong, Dora Naumu, Amy Jones and Beatrice Sarmiento will pay for the things which were bought.

The clothing will be taken to the family by Miss Frances Scott White, nurse at the school for girls, very soon.

LONELY LANDLUBBERS RETURN FROM BARREN ISLES OF MID-PACIFIC

The United States Coast Guard Cutter Roger B. Taney returned to Honolulu on Tuesday, November 14, bringing back several boys who had been living on the lonely islands for the past nine months. The boys who returned are William Kaina, Aki Kuni Pea, Solomon Kalama and Joseph Kim.

Also returning on the Taney were Dr. Ernest Gruening and Governor Joseph B. Poindexter who visited American Samoa and the equatorial islands.

Material was left on the three islands, Howland, Jarvis and Baker, to build twenty-foot towers which are to be surmounted with a beacon furnished by the United States Light-house Service.

The light on Howland island will be marked with a granite slab and named Earhart Light.

The boys who are on the islands are well and seem to be doing quite a bit of fishing judging by the amount of dried wholehole that was brought back.

The boys now colonizing Jarvis island are Albert Akana, leader; and Eugene Burke and Charles Kaninau, assistants.

Baker island colonists are Charles Ahia, Elmer Williamson and Teddy Akana.

Howland island residents are Joseph Anakalea, Jacob Haili and William Tavares.

The Kamehameha "40 piece" band participated on Thanksgiving day football game during the half of the second game.

The band played for passing review "Glory of the Trumpets." "Military Escort" was played by all the bands. "Star Spangle Banner" was the closing number.

Besides Kam band participating there were four other bands — McKinley High school, Roosevelt High school, St. Louis college, and Punahou academy.

Each band faced the mauka side of the field and made letters forming the word "Aloha." The song

Student Completes Mechanical Drawing

Howard Choy, a student in the L-11th class, had his name put on the mechanical drawing honor roll on November, after finishing the required number of drawings. Howard is the first boy to finish his mechanical drawing in his class.

Mechanical drawing is a compulsory subject at the Kamehameha School for Boys and a student must finish the required number of about 56 drawings before he can graduate. When a student completes his mechanical drawings, he is given two credits.

New Biology Book Made By Juniors

A biology book, which was started by the class of '36, Stella Kaaua, president, is being added to, by the K. S. K. biology class. This book includes flowers on the campus of the Kamehameha School for Girls. Parts of a flower and its family and also its technical name will be found in the book.

Ruby Pua, Joan Chalmers and Pansy Kahanu were chosen to draw pictures of flowers. Minerva McNicoll, Henrietta Cooper and Betty Stewart are to analyze the flowers; Eloise Akana will do the printing, and Dorothy Goo and Winifred Cheong will write the preface.

Each biology class will add new ideas to the book every year.

Looking Around Other Campuses

The Hui Iiwi members at the University of Hawaii recently held a novel initiation. The occasion was marked with an initiation luau.

During the initiation the new members were called upon to present, in front of the club, something which would prove entertaining.

Some of the new members of the Hui Iiwi are graduates of the Kamehameha School for Girls; they are as follows: Eleanor Horswill, Gertrude Kamakau, Leilani Lee, Emma Macy, Beatrice Vasconcellos and Juanita Wong.—Ka Leo O Hawaii.

Walter Mookini, a graduate of the Kamehameha School for Boys, was recently appointed a representative to the council for the Ather-ton house at the University of Hawaii.—Ka Leo O Hawaii.

Jean McIntyre, a former member of the Punahou Academy, recently spoke at the University of Hawaii concerning the art of theatrical performances.—Ka Punahou.

A tea honoring the members of the Ke Anuenue club will be held this Saturday at the home of Mrs. Houston.

Some of the members in the club who will attend this tea are graduates of the Kamehameha School for Girls; they are as follows: Lucia White, president of the A. W. S.; Muriel Swift, Leinaala Lee, Rebecca Macy and Thelma Kauka.—Ka Leo O Hawaii.

Lucia White, graduate of the Kamehameha School for Girls, recently was a guest of honor at a picnic given by the University Episcopal students, at Kahala.—Ka Leo O Hawaii.

Some girls are very active in sports. Recently a report was given stating that Muriel Swift, a graduate of the Kamehameha School for Girls, was given the "berth" of basketball manager at the University of Hawaii.

Other graduates who were given similar "berths" were Elizabeth Haia and Wilma Barringer. — Ka Leo O Hawaii.

The junior class of the University of Hawaii will sponsor a turkey hop soon. Hay lofts, corn stalks and other items that show things on a farm will be used for the decorations. Many graduates of the Kamehameha Schools will have some work to do to see that the dance is a great success. Haunani Cooper, a graduate of the class of '34, is a chairman and other graduates that are on the committees are Leinaala Lee, Mamie Jensen, Maile Cockett, Rebecca Macy, Walter Mookini, Belle Lowry, Gladys Naone and Ellen Stewart.

Kaliko Burgess is the secretary of the University of Hawaii junior class. Kaliko is a graduate of the class of 1934.—Ka Leo O Hawaii.

The total enrollment at the Iolani school at the present is 446 students. This is the largest enrollment Iolani has ever had.—Imua Iolani.

leaders and yell leaders marched in when the bands were playing "Military Escort."

Kamehameha received many compliments and praises for its performing.

JAPANESE INVASION OF CHINA WIDELY CONDEMNED AT HI-Y

Japan started the Japanese-Chinese war was the conclusion drawn in the discussion in the last Kamehameha Warrior Hi-Y meeting at Bishop hall last Monday. Japan started the war to obtain more land to take care of her over-population. The land that she is apparently taking over is also supposedly filled with ore which Japan needs.

The Kam Warriors planned a discussion on the present negro situation for next week's meeting. Definite plans for the Hi-Y dance which is going to be held at the school for girls in the near future will also be announced in the next meeting.

Seven members are going to play the President Hi-Y club in a game of basketball at the Nuuanu Y.M.C.A. gymnasium next Saturday night. The players under the captainship of John Morrison are as follows: Herman Brandt, George Mills, Peter Elmer Lau, Fred Melin, Daniel P. Hano, Aghenart Ellis, and Michael Apana.

The club has recently had three new members join. They are Clayton William Benham, James K. Blevins, and George Mills.

The members of the club have suggested a letter to Mr. Daniel J. Stone, last year's Kamehameha Warrior Hi-Y club adviser, who is now residing at Palo Alto, Calif. Secretary Richard Allen Hart is going to write the letter which is to be approved at the next meeting.

ARTISTS WORK ON CHRISTMAS GIFTS

The senior art class of the Kamehameha School for Girls is now working on different articles. Block prints have been made during the past few weeks and are now ready to be printed. Girls are making articles for Christmas presents and themselves.

The girls and the articles they are printing are as follows: Wynona Kaiama, Bernice Mundon, Thelma Haia, window curtains; Helen Naumu, bureau scarfs; Evelyn Dias, Frances Afat, Christmas cards; Anita Thompson, Margaret Dunn, Idamae Sims, luncheon sets; and Barbara Leith, table mats.

Articles to be sold are now being made by a group of girls in the Art-craft club at K.S.G. Some of the articles are place cards, tags and block printed paper. The girls in this group are as follows: Bobbie Leith, Lulu Pali, Frances Afat, Wynona Kaiama and Thelma Haia, all of whom are seniors.

Girls Gather Twines On Three-hour Trip

The Outdoor club, under the direction of Miss Mabel Catlin, instructor of the commercial department, at the Kamehameha School for Girls, went on a three-hour hike in the back of the school. This hike was to get some ei ei, Hawaiian twine, and some morning glory twine, to use as rope in building their Hawaiian hut, which will be built behind the school, with the help of the boys from the school for boys.

The girls of the club are going to try to improve the little ponds that are behind the school, so that when the girls go hiking, they can also go swimming, and swim in peace with no frogs bothering them.

Miss Frances Scott White, nurse at the school for girls, also went with the girls.

Wilcox And Kaopua Talk On Engineering

"The tramp ship is the foundation of all merchant marines," said Isaac Kaopua, who is taking the course of marine engineering.

Theodore Wilcox and Isaac Kaopua who were in charge of one of the morning assemblies gave the highlights of types of ships and their uses as passenger or freight ships.

Their talk was about the merchant marines and the power or greatness of the United States merchant marine.

Project Is Assigned To K. S. B. Students

Mr. William D. Jones, machine shop instructor at the school for boys, has assigned some of the boys from the machine shop to make a table saw as a project, which will include the students' own idea of designing and the making of the patterns. Each student was given a certain part to make.

After each of the designs is completed, the boys will get credit for it as one mechanical drawing.

The pattern making is the second step in the process of making the table saw. There again the boy follows his own design in making the pattern. After the pattern is completed it will be molded into the particular part the pattern calls for.

The boys who are working on the patterns for the table saw are George Newton, John Ah You, Richard Dreier, Michael Apana, and George Stender.

Mr. Samuel K. Toomey Tells Of Employment Conditions At Aiea

By LOUISE AKANA

"All of the Kamehameha school graduates that are employed at this plantation are very satisfactory workers," declared Mr. Samuel K. Toomey Jr., graduate of the class of 1930 at the boys' school. They all have responsible jobs and are getting good pay."

Among those K.S.B. graduates who are at Aiea are George Groves, graduate of 1927, who worked his way up from the fields; Samuel Haina, class of '30, who is a field luna; Alakaihu Hayseldon, 1931 graduate, who now holds the position of an electrician; Joseph Sakuma, who also is an electrician and who has been on the plantation since his graduation in 1933; Michael Wood, associated with the agriculture department, is a graduate of the class of 1931.

Mr. Toomey has been athletic director of both the girls and the boys on the plantation since 1933. He also is assistant in personnel. His positions take him into the boys' boarding house where he orders the food and supervises the running; into citizen labor where he employs people, discharges them, and raises their pay if he thinks they ought to have it raised; into their personal records where he investigates their activities

Wilfred Lee Heads Typing Title Lately

Error rate of six and words-per-minute rate of 36 have been set for the low-eleventh class, now taking typing for its second year, by Mr. A. A. Bailey, typing instructor.

The class has two ten-minute tests every week. The word rate is kept fairly high with Wilfred Lee hammering away with an average of 43 words a minute and a maximum of 59.

Ninth Grade Starts Project In English

The freshman class at the school for girls has started as its new English project summaries of the many short stories read. The girls have been divided into many groups and each group is to make up a summary of the story given to the group. The short stories the girls have completed are "Sir De Male-troit's Door," "Tennessee's Partner," "The Adventure of the Norwood Builder," "The Third Ingredient," "The Pet and the Pendulum" and also "Edward Randolph's Portrait."

When asked which story they liked best, the girls replied that they liked "Tennessee's Partner" the best. It was written by Brete Harte.

Yardman At School For Girls Buys Hat

"Hey, do you want any news?" "Certainly, what is it?"

"Suzuki has a new hat on." Suzuki, the yard man at the school for girls, had bought a new hat on Saturday. He was very proud and happy of owning a brand new hat.

The question was asked, "How does it feel to have a new hat?" Preparing his Bull Durham cigarette, his only reply was, "Hehehehe."

Mechanical Drawing Completed By Two

George Kekauoha and Solomon Williams of the senior class have just completed their course in mechanical drawing.

The requirement made by Mr. Robert Lowrie, instructor of mechanical drawing and physics, is 57 drawings.

Ford Model 'T' Near Completion At K.S.B.

Work on the Ford truck for the carpenter shop is being completed by the L-11th boys assigned to the job by shop instructor Mr. C. T. Parrent. The student mechanics are as follows: July Simeona, Fred Melin, Raymond Lee, William Kahapea, and John Ogawa. Various jobs experienced for the first time by most of these boys were valve grinding, reassembling the engine and soldering the tail-light coils.

When completed the machine will be delivered to the carpenter shop to transport heavy articles.

Mr. Daniel Kapaona, assistant shop instructor, helped the boys with the operations.

Impersonater Will Entertain Students

Mrs. Eleanore Lent, impersonater of characters, will appear on this Saturday night's program which will be held at the Kamehameha school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. She will entertain her audiences by impersonating different characters, chiefly picked from the play by Mr. Leonardo Da Vince.

and earnings. He also has charge of all of the celebrations such as Christmas, Fourth of July, and New Year's eve.

Asked whether he was in favor of statehood or not Mr. Toomey stated that he was not. "I don't think we should have statehood," Mr. Toomey said, "because as it is now the Hawaiian islands are the strategic point and we will be separated if we do become a state." Mr. Toomey also pointed out that the big interests would control the territorial votes.

Asked his opinion on dual citizenship he emphatically said, "the Japanese ought to declare one citizenship or the other and be good citizens of one. I believe, though, that the younger generation of the Japanese is getting away from that sort of thing."

Bob King Discusses Ancient Government

Mr. Robert King, the brother of the ever popular Delegate Sam King, was the speaker at the Kamehameha School for Boys' assembly on Tuesday morning.

Mr. King spoke about the land boundaries of the islands during the reign of the Kamehamehas.

"Before the annexation of the Hawaiian islands to the United States, Hawaii had what is called the feudal system," said Mr. King.

"The people were divided into three classes, the Alii or nobility, the Kahunas or priests, and the Makaa-inana or common people."

Facts & Fumbles

George Akana's team (Hui Akanas) defeated the William Hutchinson's team (Hui Willis) by a score of 10 to 7 in the first baseball game of the year.

Effie Hamic, a sophomore at the Kamehameha School for Girls, suffered a nose-bleed just as the bell for assembly rang on Wednesday. The bleeding continued for three minutes and fifteen seconds. Effie did not seem to mind it as this was the first time that she had so much attention paid her by members of her sex.

Dick Hubbell and Aaron Neff of the Warriors' eleven have been placed as second team, Advertiser All-Stars, halfback and center respectively. Hubbell played a fine season but Bill Sing proved more powerful than the Warrior's ironman, according to those who picked the all-stars.

The hardest senior intramural basketball game was fought when the Eleuans turned back the Moi squad 27 to 15. Moi led from the second quarter to the last three minutes of the fourth quarter. In the last three minutes the game was "in-the-bag" for Moi until Edward Kalahiki, Eleu's center, sped down the floor and dropped a basket. This brought on Eleu's fighting determination which is known to all of their rivals. Gilbert Williams, the "Mercury Dribbler" sank two baskets. Kalahiki then sank another basket and a free try and James Comard, Eleu's star digiter, dropped in four baskets in a row to help trample the surprised Moians. The Moi squad was spellbound when they saw Eleu register 20 digits in the last quarter to win the game.

In the second game Imua defeated Alii 23 to 5. Eckley Yim, Imua's center, sank four baskets while Leopold Waiau, another Imua ace digiter, sank four baskets and two free tries. Imua played a fast game and caught the Aliians off guard many times and registered many points on free tries.

DAVENPORT HEADS OUTDOOR CLUB AT GIRLS' INSTITUTION

Iwalani Davenport, a member of the junior class, has been elected chairman of the Hui Alii. The other members of the Hui Alii are as follows: Emile Akeo, Frances Nohokaiu, Kuulei Kaeo, Annabell Awong, Josephine Keanonoo, and Pilani Clark. All of these girls are from the senior division of the Outdoor club.

Iwalani Davenport will lead the Wednesday club, while Josephine Keanonoo will take charge of the Thursday group. Both clubs are under the guidance of Miss Mabel Catlin. Each member of the Hui Alii, which is composed of seven girls, will have her chance in leading the club. The members of the Hui Alii are the big chiefs of the club, there being no president or other officers.

The Outdoor club will meet every Wednesday and Thursday to make plans for its grass hut or do outside work. On every first Wednesday of the month joint meetings will be held, having a speaker or the presentation of old Hawaiian songs and dances. The purpose of the group is to keep alive the old Hawaiian songs and dances which are slowly disappearing from Hawaii.
