Company A To Hold Annual Picnic At Kailua Beach Park On Sunday

Company A will hold its "best company" picnic on Sunday, February 21.

Scoring the most number of points in last year's "best company" competition, Company A was rewarded with the annual picnic.

A new mode will be featured in this year's picnic. Breaking away from the custom of previous years, boys belonging to Company A were given the choice of inviting a girl from the school for girls.

Approximately 82 persons will enjoy this gala affair; 42 boys will be accompanied by 35 girls.

Included on the list as guests are: Capt. and Mrs. Louis McComas, Sgt. and Mrs. Dale Frazier and Miss Wava E. Morris.

Games are being scheduled to be played under the direction of Capt. Stewart Markham, present senior captain of Company A now in school.

The picnic will be held at Kailua. Busses will leave at 1 o'clock and will return at 9 p.m.

FORMER TEACHER AT K. S. B. SPEAKS TO STUDENT BODY

Rev. Frederic Withington, a former faculty member of the school for boys, delivered the sermon to the school for girls on Sunday morning, January 31. The subject which Rev. Withington spoke on was "Water-tight Compartments."

In opening the sermon, Rev. Withington referred to his name as being an odd one because he spells his name Frederic without a "k." But just three months ago he met a man in the navy with the same name, spelled the same way. This man has a son whose name is spelled the same way, his father also has the same name. This is also the same way on the reverend's side. "So you see, after all my name is not as odd as I thought it was," the Rev. Withington stated.

Continuing, Rev. Withington said that the other Mr. Withington took him on board one of the navy ships. He was greatly amazed at the thick steel doors and walls of the ship. He said that if a torpedo should hit this boat, automatically the steel doors would close, thus being water-tight and the boat would not sink.

He said that our lives should be a duplicate of this sort of a ship. He referred to many outstanding characters of today. He said we should be accustomed to many different occupations, so when there is no work in one field, we can still try others. Mrs. Frazier, a friend of Rev. Withington, who was principal of the Kailua school at Palama for the past 34 years, was one which the reverend used as an example. When Mrs. Frazier resigned from this position, she entered into another field of work. She studied the braille typewriter for the blind. When she fully understood this work she typed many stories on this typewriter so that the blind people could read. He referred to many other outstanding characters in the world.

Group Plans For Big Luau

Hawaiian Lessons Conducted
By Nahale-a And Pea

Led by Professor "Yush Yush" Nahale-a, the Hui O'iwi held a meeting on Sunday, February 14.

Opening the meeting with a few Hawaiian melodies, the members of the club later discussed their definite plans for their luau.

The members decided to have a pig on the date set for their luau. Donations toward this gala affair were also asked by the Kahuna, Levi Kini Pea. The amount to be paid to the treasurer was also discussed by the members.

The latter part of the meeting was taken over by Professor "Yush Yush" Nahale-a, who proceeded to teach the club members to count from eleven to twenty in Hawaiian.

At the end of Nahale-a's Hawaiian lesson, individuals were called upon to recite the Hui O'iwi motto. All who were present listened to Samuel Kahalewai's fantastic shark adventure which he had while diving down at the wharves. As everyone is aware of the way Samuel can "sling" his "oil," the boys were not surprised to hear him say that a shark about 20 feet long waved its tail at him,

Sophomores Victorious In Health Show

Kaninau, Mahoe, Markham
Make Decision; Seniors
Barely Nosed Out

The sophomore class at the school for girls won first place for presenting the best health skit, which was presented in assembly Wednesday morning. The senior class won second place and the seventh graders, third.

The reward for the winning class is a half day out.

It has always been a custom to have health skits presented in assembly on Wednesday morning during Health Week. The skits which are presented must pertain to health.

The health skits were judged on presentation, originality and whether or not they pertained to health. The judges were Charles Mahoe, Charles Kaninau and Stewart Markham.

Since the seniors received second place, they presented their skit in the evening, during the health dinner.

Chapel Again Opens Doors

The Rev. Paul Waterhouse
Preaches At B. M. C.

The Rev. Paul Waterhouse, chaplain of the Kalihi Union church, preached at the re-opening of the Bishop Memorial Chapel on "The Truth of Success." He said that it wasn't money or prestige that counted, but what was within your soul.

He told of a rich farmer and business man who had obtained great wealth through hard work. Everyone in the community looked upon him with respect and called him a good man. Yet, he was a fool, a fool because within his soul there was nothing. He did not think of God. Finally, "death" entered his home. He tried to bribe it with all his wealth, but to no avail. Previous to that he had laughed, and said that he wasn't a fool, that he was perfect, that he was the richest man in the community. All of his prestige and greatness was lost to him when death stalked into his home.

Grover Cleveland, while a young boy, according to Mr. Waterhouse, was very bad. He had quit school and had joined a group of boys who indulged in such vulgar activities as smoking and drinking, despite his mother's pleadings. One day while waiting for his companions on a street corner, he noticed a sign above a church door which read, "The Wages of Sin is Death." Then and there he decided to change his life. He returned to school and church. His companions laughed at him for reforming; he continued through school and later became a lawyer.

At his election, a man in the death house of the state penitentiary, upon hearing the news, yelled to the guard, "What, Grover Cleveland elected? Why he's my friend!" This man was waiting for his turn at the chair because he had murdered a man.

In closing Rev. Waterhouse said that the main thing in life wasn't glory and wealth but the devotion to God.

DEDICATION PLANS NOW UNDER WAY; PLAY SCHEDULED

Plans for the dedication program for the new auditorium are well under way at the school for girls, with members of the senior class working on drama.

The whole student body will have a part in it. Although quite a number of girls may not do the actual acting, they will help in getting information concerning ancient Hawaiian "meles" and "chants." A few girls are offering their services by handing their names in and the name of their hula teacher, so that they can be taught the ancient dances (standing and sitting.)

The dedication program promises to be a very exciting affair, with many surprises for all.

Glee Club Will Perform Today

F. Kernohan's K.S.B. Singers
To Croon At McCoy Home

The Glee club of the Kamehameha School for Boys will entertain at a planned concert on Friday, February 19, at the home of Mrs. McCoy, at Diamond Head.

The songs that the boys have chosen to sing at this concert are "Kuu Lei Aloha," "Kaleleonalani," "Imua Kamehameha" and probably "Pua Onaona," the senior division prize song.

According to Mr. Frank Kernohan, music and Glee club instructor at the school for boys, this program is being given for influential tourists who are now visiting in the islands.

"Kaleleonalani," a song pertaining to Queen Emma, will be the main feature song that the boys will sing.

The program is planned for the afternoon of Friday, and the boys will leave school at 3 p.m.

MISS FREDERICK TO STUDY FURTHER

Miss Pauline Frederick, former physical education instructor at K. S. G. who is on her sabbatical leave, was asked by the department of physical education of Teachers' College, N. Y., to remain there for another year. She will remain there in order to make a study of requirements for the advanced degree in that department.

This is a great honor, since Miss Frederick is the only student that is working for a degree of Doctor of Philosophy to be selected. If Miss Frederick's study is accepted, she will receive her degree at the end of two years.

CARROLL APPEARS IN MOB CLOSE-UPS

Minerva Carroll, senior at the Kamehameha School for Girls, was given the opportunity to appear in a few parts in the cast of "Waikiki Wedding" which is starring Bing Crosby and Martha Raye. She appeared in a few close-ups and mob scenes. Others who appeared with her were Caroline Hubbell, a former Kamehameha student, Joseph Mossman and Katherine Xavier.

A group of Lanani Hawaiian Village troupers, consisting of 20 people, also appeared in some scenes.

The scenes were taken on the beach at Waianae, Sunday, February 14, the weather having delayed the taking of scenes sooner. Coconut and banana trees were planted in white sand as a background, to carry out the Hawaiian atmosphere.

MR. G. W. EBEL IS HEAD OF NEW DEVELOPMENT

There has been a new development at the Kamehameha School for Boys. Under the guidance of Mr. George Ebel, English instructor at the Kamehameha School for Boys, pupils with two or more failures in their scholastic work have been compelled to write out an explanation explaining the reason for their failures.

Each student first consults his teacher, and receives a statement from his teacher. He later discusses his failures with his dormitory master. After all of these many consultations with his various teachers, the student hands his slips in to the committee.

HERRON SPEAKS ABOUT CO-OPERATIVE SYSTEMS

"One of the most interesting things about co-operatives is that the laborers are not the only ones talking and favoring it, but some of the big business men," said Mr. Carl V. Herron, secretary of the University of Hawaii Y.M.C.A., to the L-11 class during their Orientation class on Wednesday.

"Co-operatives came through the past," said Mr. Herron. "The commercial capitalists were the first organizations that worked toward the building up of the co-operative system in the United States. When we had the industrial revolution, and other co-operative organization was started which was called the Industrial Capitalist."

"Today there are about 20,000 co-operatives in the United States and about 42 co-operatives in the Hawaiian Islands now," said Mr. Herron.

Annual Junior-Senior Promenade Scheduled For Tomorrow Night

David Peters Places First In Big Compet

John Ilalaole Places Second
With Roy Benham Coming
Third In Junior Contest

The junior division of the social science contest got under way at the school for boys on Wednesday morning.

After proper elimination by the judges David Peters, a representative of the eighth grade, took first place. His class-mate, Roy Benham, finished third. The runner-up to David Peters was John Ilalaole of the ninth grade.

The boys who represented the various classes were:

William Hubbell and William Crabbe of the seventh grade; Roy Benham and David Peters of the eighth grade, and Leopold Waiau and John Ilalaole of the freshman class.

The judges of the contest were Mr. Daniel Stone, Mr. James Triolo and Mr. Lauren Sheffer, all of whom are social science instructors at the school for boys.

The senior division of the contest was held at the assembly hall this morning, but due to the early printing of Ka Mo'i the results could not be obtained.

Three Grads Continue Trip

Kam Boys Travel To United States After South Seas

Three Kamehameha graduates who went down to the South Seas with other Kamehameha students to work for the United States government as colonists on Jarvis, Baker and Howland Islands, returned to Honolulu last Sunday on the Coast Guard cutter Duane. They left Monday, February 15, on the Duane for the mainland where they will be employed by a construction company.

The three fortunate boys are Solomon Kalama, Jacob Haili and Joseph Anakalea.

The boys now on the Jarvis, Baker and Howland islands since the Duane returned are as follows: Jarvis Island—Charles Ahia, Edward Young and Joseph Kim.

Baker Island—Eugene Burke, Gabriel Victor and Albert Akana.

Howland Island—James Kamakaiwi, William Kaini and ten W. P. A. workers who are constructing an air field which will be used as a landing field for America Earhart Putnam's land plane flight around the world in mid-March.

On the last trip to the islands the Duane took some chickens to be kept on the islands. Each island received six hens and one rooster. There will be ham and eggs on the breakfast tables for the boys every day providing the hens keep up their duties.

The boys are reported well, happy and contented with the romance of the South Seas.

THREE MORE BOYS COMPLETE COURSE

Under the supervision of Mr. Robert H. Lowrie, Richard Hubbell, H-11; Theodore Wilcox and Samuel Martinson, L-11; recently concluded the mechanical drafting requirements at the school for boys.

The constituents of the mechanical drawing honor roll at present stand as follows:

Class of '37: Richard Kong, Charles Mahoe, James Morita, Levi Kini Pea, Leith Caceres, Stewart Markham, Llewellyn Strohl, Von Hulu Donlin, Frederick Lee, Charles Bailey and William Like.

Class of '38: John Allen, Clarence Braun, Raymond Lutz, John Naone, David White, Joshua Wood, Arthur Swift, John Fitzgerald, Samuel Kabelewai and Richard Hubbell.

Class of '39: Jonathan Kahananui, Walter Chang, Wing Look Seto, Theodore Wilcox and Samuel Martinson.

After a pupil has completed his range of drawings the period that has been provided for the subject may be essentially employed in whatever manner the honor-roll student desires.

A good time is in store for all members of the classes of '37 and '38, who will attend the Junior-Senior Prom tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the K. S. B. gymnasium.

Various committees for this affair are as follows:

Decoration: Barbara Leith and Harry Harris, co-chairmen; Lilinoe Wilson, Helen Naumu, Frances Afat, Maude Conant, Agnes Payne and Helene Cathcart, assistants.

Refreshments: Bernice Mundon and John Akana, co-chairmen; Nora Stewart, Thelma Haia, Evelyn Rabi-deau and David White, assistants.

Entertainment: Louise Kauaihilo and Richard Hubbell, co-chairmen; Anita Thompson and Solomon Williams, assistants.

Invitations: Hannah Goo and Clarence Braun, co-chairmen; Raymond Lutz and LuLu Pali, assistants.

The following guests have been invited:

Miss Maude E. Schaeffer, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, Miss Margaret Clark, Mr. Charles Hustace, Mr. Andrew Boyd, Mr. Richard Trent, Mr. and Mrs. Faxon Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Judd, and faculty members from K. S. G. and K. S. B.

Samuel Guerrero, William Daniels, Samuel Martinson, Quentin Gandall, Herbert Hussey and Charles Mokiao will help serve the punch during the evening.

The advisers of both classes, Miss Margaret Auman and Mr. William Caldwell will receive the guests with the assistance of Idamae Sims, Sarah Henrickson, John Naone and Isaac Ahue.

The master and mistress of ceremonies will be John Fitzgerald and Mabel Hitchcock.

The music for the occasion will be furnished by William Montero's "Blue Harmony" orchestra.

Prizes will be given to the best dancing couple and for the couple that wins the "spot" dance.

COLONEL ALFRED BOOTH DIES AT WASHINGTON

Word has been received of the death of Col. Alfred J. Booth, who was formerly professor of military science and tactics at the Kamehameha Schools. Col. Booth died at Washington, D. C.

Before becoming a professor at the Kamehameha Schools, he was stationed at one of the barracks in Honolulu when the islands were annexed to the United States. He joined the faculty of the Kamehameha Schools in 1912.

Besides being a military science instructor, he was also coach of the various sports which were conducted at the Kamehameha Schools in 1912. He visited the islands in 1932 and returned to Washington in the same year.
