

JAPANESE CRISIS NOT YET PAST

By LESLIE NAKAHIMA

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondent)
TOKYO, Oct. 27.—While Premier Koki Hirota's statement this week to cooperate with the army and navy's demands for a reform in the government's administrative system and his appointment thereof of two committees among cabinet members to study the plan of the defense ministers is believed to have averted a disaster of the tragic political observers are of the opinion that the present deadlock Sino-Japanese negotiations will eventually bring about a collapse of the present government.

It is not believed likely that the patient attitude of the Japanese public at present, but more especially of the military circles, will continue indefinitely. It is two months now since the outbreak of the Chinese incident which shocked the Japanese nation through the killing by Chinese mobs of the Japanese missionaries and the wounding of two Japanese. There are those of the opinion that the government authorities concerned have been too slow to act again by the enigmatic Gen. Chiang Kai-shek through his emissaries.

Chinese Suffer
Yokohama, Japan, consul general at Nanking, is returning to Nanking tonight after a hurried trip here, report on the current situation in China and his talks with Chinese authorities in connection with the negotiations. He is reported to have said that the Chinese attitude has stiffened during the last few weeks. The negotiations between Ambassador Sugawara Kawaguchi and Foreign Minister Chang Chin are expected to take a significant turn either for the worse or better upon Mr. Sugawara's return to Nanking, because it is believed he will confer with him when he leaves Tokyo to-night full instructions from Foreign Minister Hachiro Arima.

The foreign office itself, which has been maintaining a policy of absolute secrecy regarding the negotiations, attaches little importance to the trip of Mr. Sugawara.

Demands Uncertain
It is difficult here in Tokyo to ascertain just what the government's demands are. Foreign Minister Arima himself has had no definite correspondence that the Chinese and the other incidents cannot be solved at more moderate terms in the past, but that Japan aims at the suppression of anti-Japanese movements and the readjustment of Sino-Japanese relations to make secure peace in East Asia.

The spokesman of the foreign office made it plain that a foreign correspondent's investigation of the Japanese demands was correct in reporting that the Japanese are willing to meet all the Japanese demands with the exception of those relating to the question of Manchuria. The Japanese newspapers, he explained, are completely in the dark and are making various conjectures in the manner of the ancient oracles so that their articles can be interpreted either way to suit the occasion and whatever the developments may be.

Criticism Government
Tanaka, one of the country's foremost publicists, has criticized the government for its policy of secrecy in connection with the Sino-Japanese negotiations. The situation is made all the worse, he pointed out, when the larger project of the Japanese public is ignorant of the true situation in China.

There should be no hesitation on the part of the government to acquaint its national press with the facts made on Nanking. As a matter of fact, he believes it should be the step taken. If the conditions are reasonable, they will be supported by the entire nation, and under such circumstances, they will have greater influence on the Chinese authorities.

He would have the action of Chancellor Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini emulated in coming to the world the country's policy. It is probable that this isn't done in Japan because of the lack of leadership, he says.

On Oahu's Airways

By ELMORE GILSON

Showing stars, falling stars and movie stars has been as fascinating to Honolulu night owls this week as the red and green flash of lights on K. Tice's Tice as it caught the eyes of many observers Tuesday evening. Highly pitched motors hurried over Waikeiki in a theme song to the future of night flying.

At the airport 101 a huge pot of mud was dumped as landmarks for landings. This necessary equipment for flying aircraft is easily assembled in 10 minutes and off they go. In the future the melodious hum of the Tice Fleet will be heard regularly over the city on Tuesday and Thursday nights when students and passengers hop the heavens in quest for a late revelry.

MINNEAPOLIS, 45.—A new explanation for pernicious anemia is reported in the Journal of Medical Progress by Doctors Samuel Morfitt and Raymond E. Gardner of the University of Maryland. SCHOOL GARDEN NEWS

GROUND IS LUMPY
Kaukapalua, Maui, Oct. 18. We find that the Kaukapalua garden soils are very hard and lumpy. We dig our garden twice, but it would turn into lumps again, so we are digging just enough for one bed. We dig about three or four times to get it smooth then we plant it, because if we dig the whole thing, before we could make beds the soil would harden so quickly. Therefore we are going slow.

The Kaukapalua Gardening club members are working very hard on their gardens. The school bought many new tools and fresh seeds. We are just starting to plant. The club decided that it should give 50 per cent of the money it earns to the school because the school lends the land and tools and buys the seeds.

HAROLD OKUMURA.
Pahala, Hawaii, Oct. 20. Mr. Young divided us into three groups. One group was to dig the cover crop and bring it out to another block which is near the teacher's cottage.

In each plot there are two gardeners. My partner's name is Ester Logan.

The width of the garden is 18 1/2 feet by 18 1/2 feet.

We are going to plant carrots, beets, radishes and beets for our first crop.

We seventh grade boys have started very late this year.

Mr. Young told us that if he bury the cover crop it will make the soil very rich.

M. G. ESPIRITU JR.
Kilauea, Kohala, Waialeale School.—We are getting along fine in our garden work. Both the sixth and the fifth grades go to the garden from 10:15 to 11:30 every Monday and Wednesday. Mr. Low divided us into four groups. I am in the fourth group. Misha is our captain. On October 7 we started planting beans.

AKIHIKI ARAKI, Waialeale school—I am a member of the sixth grade garden boys. On Monday we measured the garden. Our garden plot has 2,207 square feet. Today we made garden booklets. We drew pictures in the booklet.

Fusae Murata, Lihue school. Grade 7C—I am glad because I have joined The Honolulu Star-Bulletin home garden vegetable column. I am working very hard in order to make a good showing. I am working on the record book. It has been raining every day in Lihue. It looks like good care of the vegetables so that I may have good results.

BURY COVER CROPS
Kaukapalua school, Oahu, Oct. 20. I am writing this letter because I want you to know what we are doing in our school garden.

In September we did not do anything, because we did not know where we were going to have our gardens. In the garden we are digging trenches to put the cover crop in. It took us about a week to dig trenches and dig the cover crop.
