FEATURES

HOT! — ELLEN SUGARMAN

13 Working on her novel off the coast off the coast of Italy, Ellen Sugarman discovers the natives view fire as basically an entertainment medium.

16 ITS THE SURPRISES — FRANK KEATING

Sometimes you can lose hook, line, sinker, rod and reel, and never boat a fish.

IS THERE A KEY WEST STYLE? — JOHN COLE

18 Key's fashion seems to have more in common with the Caribbean basin and South America than with the rest of the U.S. Plus: photos from the annual fashion show of the Southernmost Council of Women Realtors.

THE AFRICAN QUEEN REIGNS AMERICA — LYNN ROSS-MICHAU

27 The world's most famous boat has been on an odyssey for more than three quarters of a century. It is now nestled snugly at its dock in Key Largo.

INTERVIEW WITH THOMAS SANCHEZ — BUD NAVERO

34 Thomas Sanchez's widely and wildly praised new novel, Mile Zero, is set and was written in Key West. In this wide-ranging interview, Sanchez talks about the life of his times and the life of Mile Zero. Plus: Zobop's soliloquy from Mile Zero.
