TO THE EMPLOYEE:

Your social security account number card is enclosed. The number identifies your social security account, which is kept for you by the Social Security Board.

1. Sign the card and separate the two parts, but keep both parts carefully. Keep this notice also.

2. If you should lose the upper half of the card, you can take the lower half to any field office of the Social Security Board and get a duplicate card at once. Without the lower half of the card, you might have to wait several days.
