

REAL Winners IN BUSINESS

Personal commitment to other people is a concept in which Gayle E. Townsend strongly believes. Townsend, an attorney, remembers the many hours she spent as a student with an adult role model. She says people like entrepreneur Inez Kaiser were always willing to give of themselves to help her accomplish her goals.

"I participated in an organization for young women, called the Del Sprites. From this group, I learned such important skills as self confidence, and I had an opportunity to meet and work with successful people. This really helped to broaden my horizon," she said.

Although her work as an attorney is demanding, Townsend spends much of her free time working with mentor programs for young people. She believes in order to help others meet goals and achieve results, a person doesn't have to have a grandiose plan. All a person has to do is become involved with other people, giving of his time or talents on a consistent basis. She believes this is necessary to help younger people ultimately achieve what they have set out to do.

This is her way of contributing back to the community what others have given to her. Townsend sees this as the beauty of the whole process.

The Missouri Lottery Winners Program was established to honor "Winners" like Gayle E. Townsend. Recommended by civic and community leaders from across the state, these winners are people who have made a positive impact on their community.

The Missouri Lottery salutes Gayle E. Townsend and people like her who make a real difference in our community. They are the Real Missouri Winners!
