

IMAGES

... then and now

From The Indian Hill Historical Society

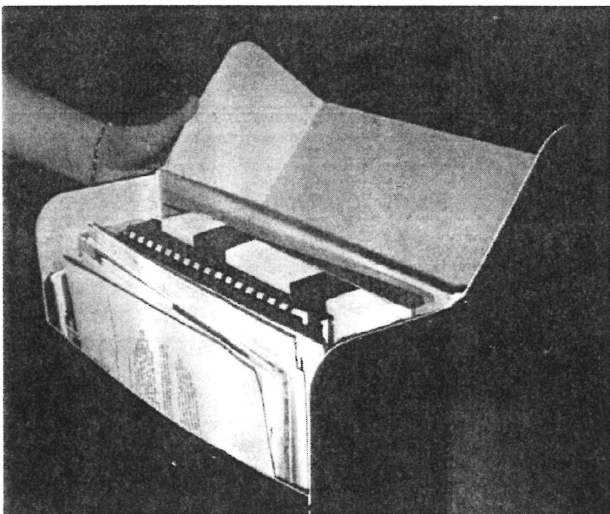

Buckingham Lodge
1861

The Bicentennial Time Capsule: Capturing "Now" for Those Who Will Look Back on "Then"

In 1995, the Village of Indian Hill celebrated its 200th year. One of the commemorative projects sponsored by the Indian Hill Historical Society was a Bicentennial Time Capsule. Local organizations, clubs, churches, and schools submitted items for this preservationist project. These materials were stored in an archival box, to be opened on the 300th anniversary of Indian Hill in 2095.

Inside the Time Capsule are a variety of messages, photographs, publications, and materials from talented residents. Items range from the Indian Hill Village Flag, designed by Robert Greiwe, a Bicentennial Tee Shirt whose logo was created by Cory Sherman, Treasured Landmarks of Indian Hill by Ginny White, and writings of numerous individuals and groups.

Groups that donated materials also included: Greenacres Foundation, Indian Hill area churches, Indian Hill area schools, Indian Hill Girl/Boy Scouts, Indian Hill Historical Society, Indian Hill Recreation Commission, Indian Hill Women's Club, Indian Hill Women's Civic Club, Rowe Arboretum, Welcomers' Club, and five local garden clubs.

Several Members of the Committee presented the completed Time Capsule to Mayor Stephen Black on November 21, 1996. They were (l. to r.) Laura Harrison, Mary Nippert and Peg Gillespie. The data from all over Indian Hill was originally to be buried under the paver stones at the Bicentennial Sculpture, but to better preserve the contents it was decided to store it at the Village Administration Building. It will provide images, both written and pictorial, of 1995 for Indian Hill residents of 2095.

Mayor Stephen Black is shown depositing the Bicentennial Time Capsule at the Indian Hill Ranger Station, with Officer Mike Burkhart accepting the materials on behalf of the Rangers.