

The train doesn't stop here any more

The 90-year-old Broomfield train depot looks today much as it did at the turn of the century, but the trains no longer stop for passengers. Occasionally the silence of the station is disturbed by the telegraph stuttering a message, but mostly Herbert L. Rutlege, station manager, works in silence. Freight trains still go past and Rutledge takes care of those operations at the station. For more pictures, see page 9.