Dear Mr. Hallett,

As Saltus Grammer School are now armigerous it is permissible for them to fly a banner of the School arms, from the School buildings, pavilions, vehicles, and the like. A Banner is a square flag with the arms (i.e. the design which is on the shield) displayed on it. If you would like a coloured working drawing prepared, suitable for a local flagmaker to copy, I shall be glad to let you know the cost.

At the same time you will no doubt need a black and white open line drawing of the whole achievement, suitable for reproducing in small size on the school writing paper, sports programmes, and so on. Here again our Herald Painters can produce suitable drawings suitable for your local block-makers to copy. Would you like a quotation for this?

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. Denny:

Thank you for your letter of the 7th instant regarding coloured working drawings of a banner of the School arms, and drawings suitable for block-makers to copy.

We would be interested in these and would appreciate your furnishing us with quotations for them.

Yours sincerely,

Headmaster M.A.
