DUTCHESS COUNTY TAX LISTS

PREFACE

Dutchess County, established in 1683 as an original county, is unique among New York State counties since a fairly complete set of tax lists have survived for the colonial period. They, together with the two known colonial census of 1714 and 1740, provide the historian and genealogist with a great deal of valuable information. The tax lists assume importance as a means of studying the residents of the county since they were compiled annually and include comments about relationships and property ownership.

Throughout the colonial period, the county included the southern portion which later became Putnam County and therefore extended from Connecticut to the east bank of the Hudson River, then north along the river from Westchester County to Clermont in what was then Albany County. Settlement of the county proceeded slowly at first but in 1717 that the area was divided into 3 Wards and taxes were levied in each ward. Precincts came later and eventually gave way to the formation of Towns. Each civil division was responsible for making up its own tax list and collecting the necessary taxes. The assessors were elected annually and required to prepare a list for their town or civil division. When the total assessed value was determined the taxes were calculated based on a unit of assessed value, much as it is still done today.

The tax lists presented here include both those compiled by Clifford M. Buck and those for the Rombout area compiled by Willis Reese as published by the Dutchess County Historical Society in "Early Eighteenth Century Records of Rombout Precinct." Therefore these lists cover all of present day Dutchess and Putnam Counties.

They have been arranged in a geographical fashion, north to south. However since the boundaries of the Middle Ward do not correspond with later Precinct and Town boundaries, this arrangement must be considered rather arbitrary. Maps originally prepared for Henry Nobel MacCracken's book, "Old Dutchess Forever!" are included to aid in tracing the evolution of the subdivisions. The reader should refer to the Table of Contents to discover relationships between the political divisions.

In 1908, Vassar Brothers Institute published "Book of the Supervisors of Dutchess County" in 3 pamphlets. The Minutes of the Supervisors and the tax lists with some miscellaneous information for the period 1717/18-1738 are included. The first assessment roll for the North Ward from that publication is reproduced on page iii as an example of the assessment and tax information which was included on a typical roll.

The original lists, in the possession of the Dutchess County Clerk, have been microfilmed by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon Church). There is a copy of the microfilm at the Adriance Library as well as at the Family History Library at Salt Lake City. This microfilm can be requested through the Family History Center's branch libraries nationwide.

The Leasehold System

Although these tax lists provide the most complete known record of county residents, Frank Doherty in his recent study, "Settlers of Beekman Patent", states that some people who resided in the district were never taxed and others were only taxed for part of the time that they were there. This situation may have occurred because of the complexities of lease arrangements which were common in Dutchess County.

Much property was held through the leasehold system rather than in fee simple and since leases were private arrangements they were not regularly recorded in public land records. Leaseholds continued throughout the colonial period and in several areas of the county well into the Nineteenth Century.

The patentees and large landholders granted leases of various terms for land which they controlled these varied in length from "forever" to as short a period as 7 years; "three lives", probably being the most common. A quit rent was paid on the lease each year. The lease would specify the amount of rent, usually in terms of merchantible wheat. Often there were additional requirements of rent such as "fat hens" or "days riding". The riding was work done for the landholder and frequently consisted of road maintenance. Leaseholders who desired could rent the land to another for a period of time. This subleasing seems to be indicated by notes on the tax lists such as "John Smith on Davidson's place". An excellant reference on this subject, has been written by Sung Bok Kim "Landlord and Tenant in Colonial New York Manorial Society, 1664- 1775."

Clifford M. Buck

Clifford Buck, a prominent county genealogist and former trustee of the Dutchess County Historical Society, has been studying Dutchess County families for many years. Through his special interest in land records, he came to realize the value of the tax lists and their accompanying notes.

During the period 1965-76, Mr. Buck compiled the alphabetical format presented here, indicating the years in which the name appeared and including any notes which accompanied the names. In many cases, Mr. Buck also noted the list on which the name is continued as new subdivisions were created. Asterisks (*) found on the Ward lists, show that these names also appear later in the Beekman Precinct list.

Mr. Buck's knowledge of county families assisted him with interpreting the names as written by the assessors. In comparing lists from one year to the next, he found that for several years the names were copied in a recurring order and new names were appended to the end of the list. Periodically, the entire list would then be reformed, perhaps to more clearly associate a name with an area or neighborhood and thus make the assessor's job easier.

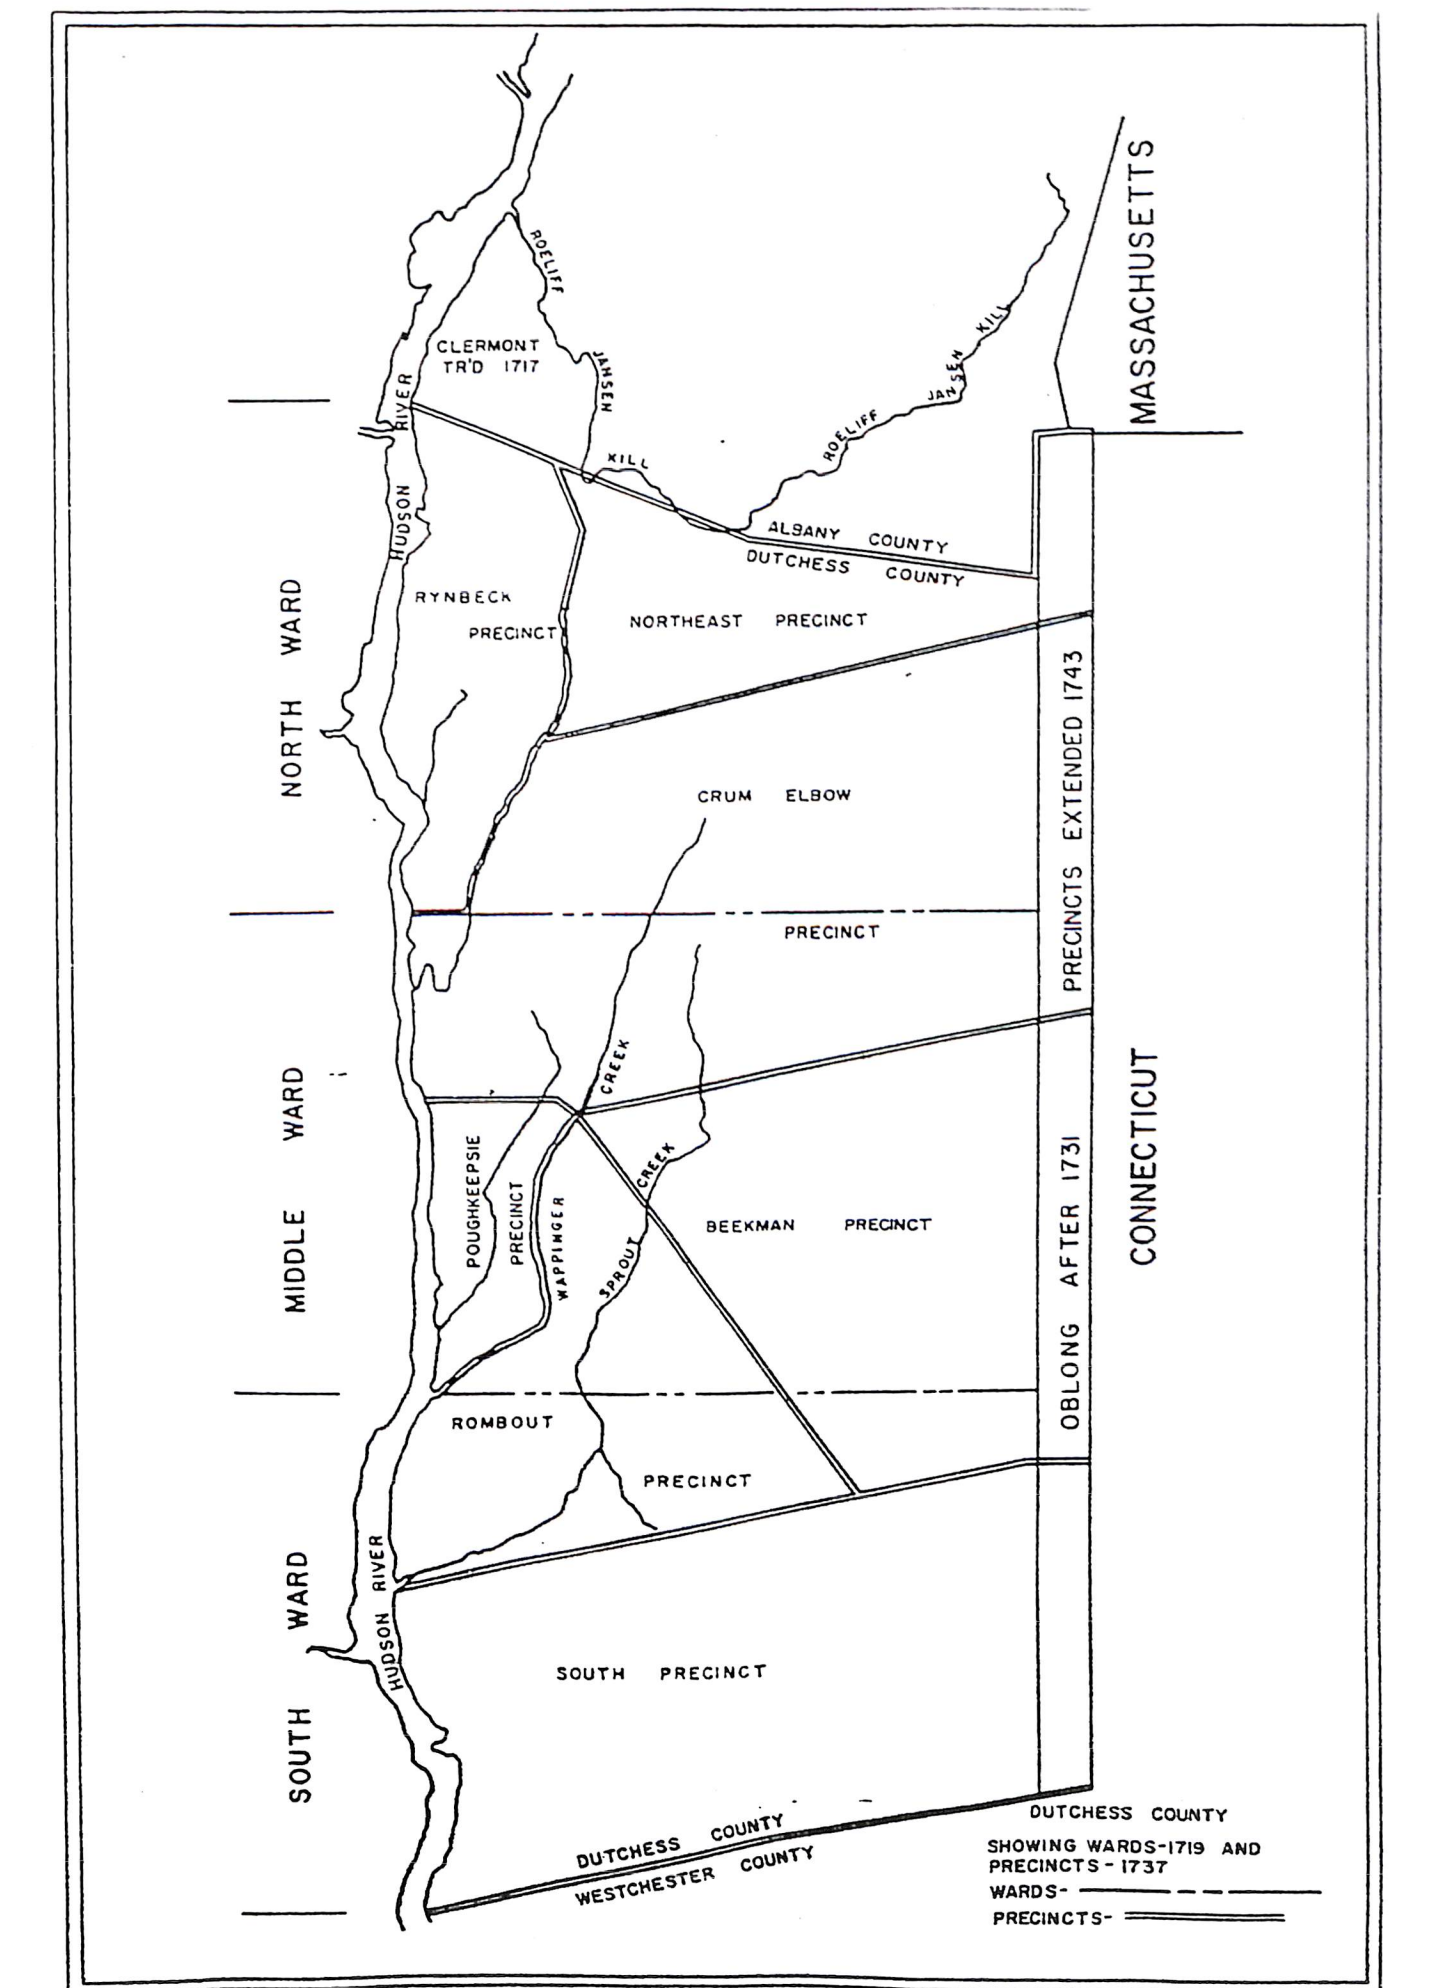

Using This Book

Mr. Buck has provided an introduction to each tax list which should be read carefully because it explains the development of the region and alerts the reader to missing lists.

The alphabetical lists provide the names according to the subdivision of the county in which they were found with all relevant notes. These notes are often valuable indications of the death or relationships of property holders. Such clues should be considered carefully.

The information provided here identifies the area in which an individual lived and for how long. When additional names are mentioned in an entry, such as "Woodworth farm, John Barnes on-1778-1779" the second name should also be consulted in the listing as further information may appear under that entry, such as "Barnes, John for Woodworth farm from Willlliam Woodworth-1778-1779". William Woodworth is listed separately, Feb 1761-1777.

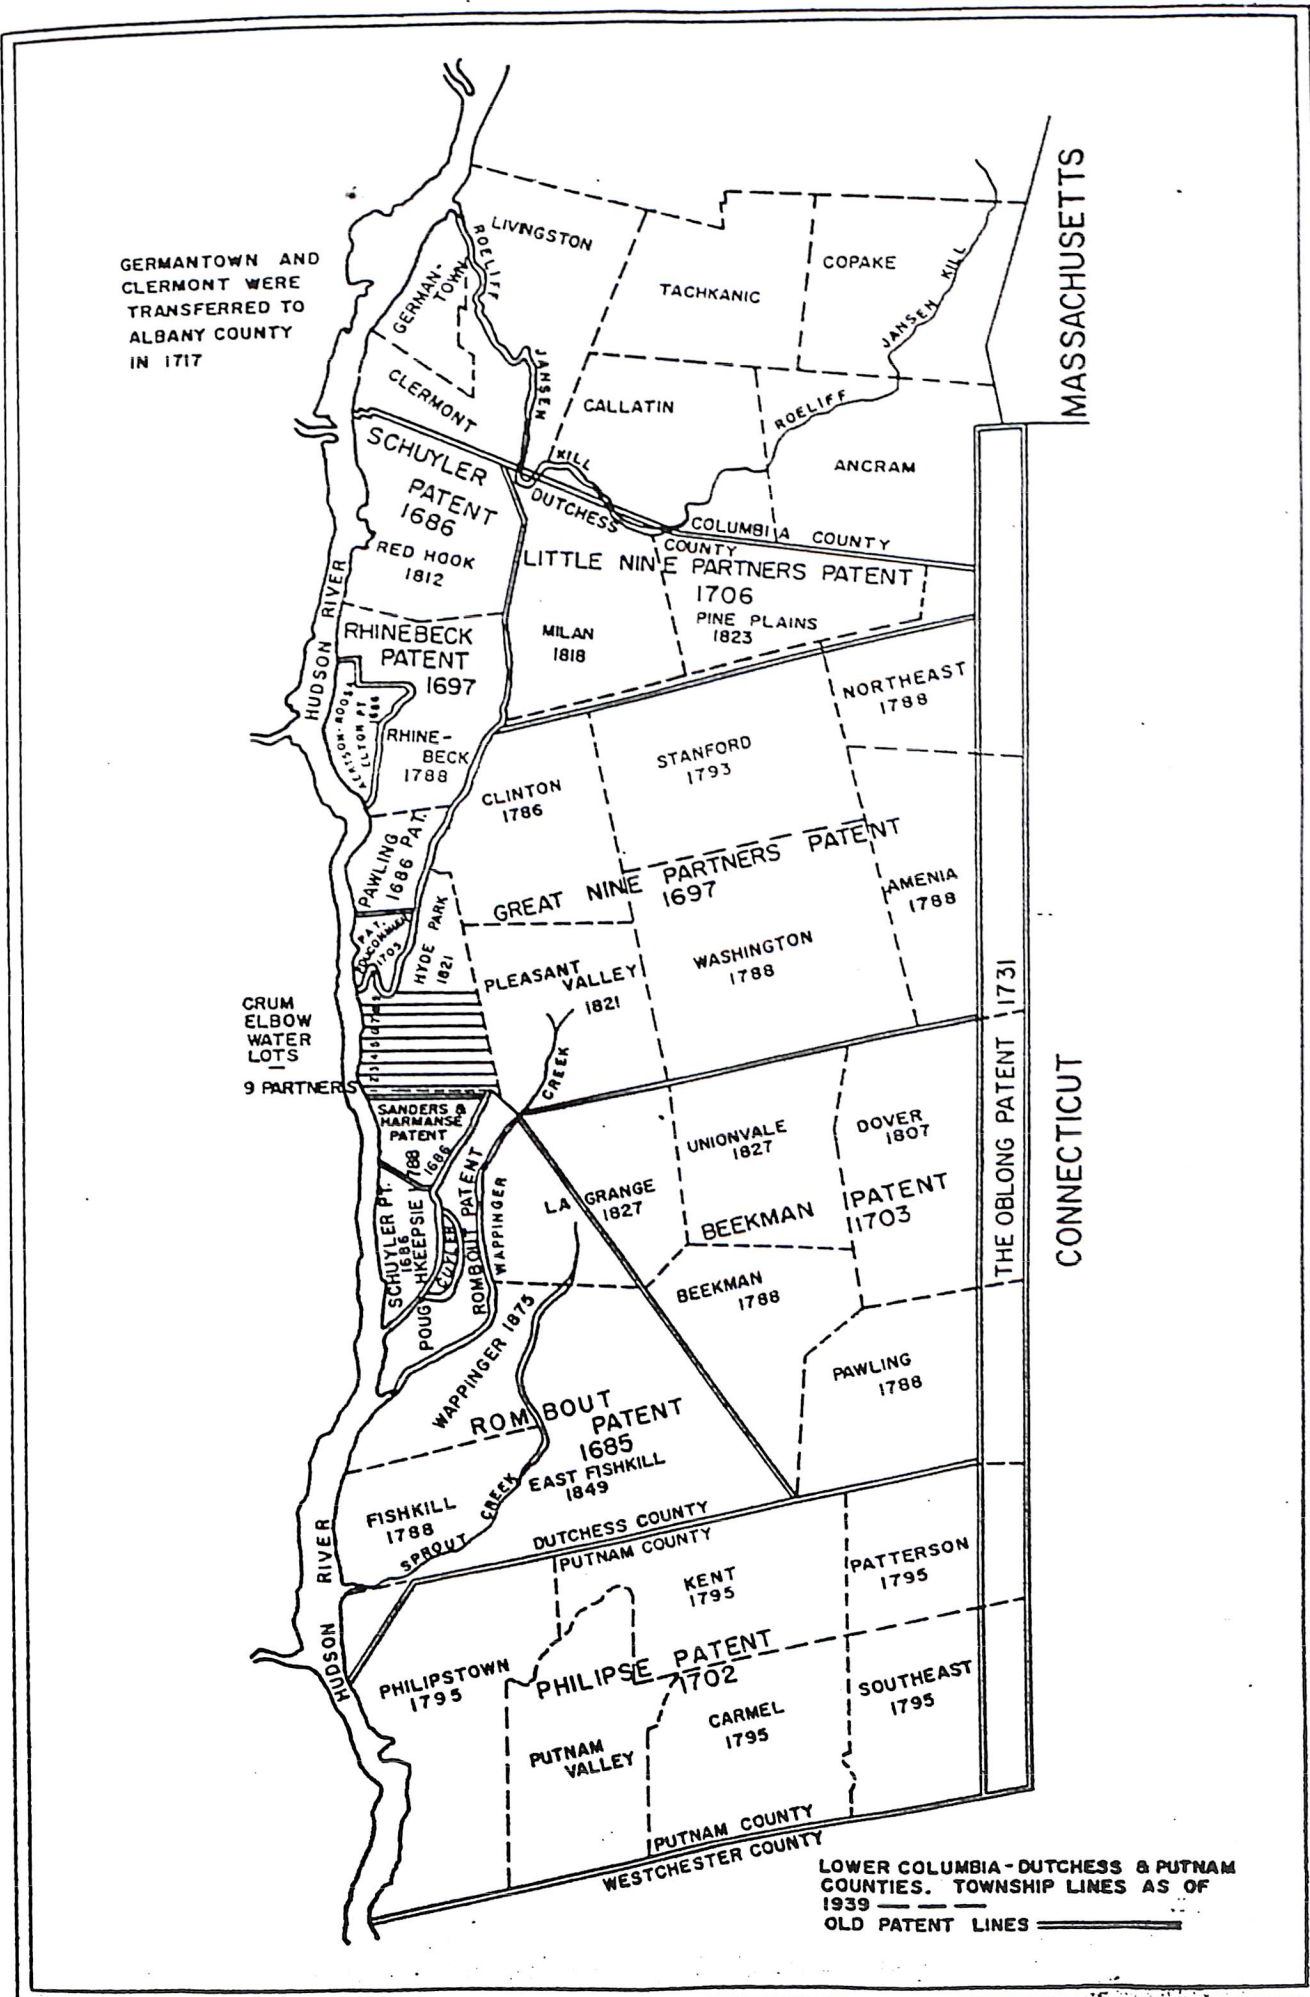

The combination of all the available tax lists in this one volume should serve as a valuable aid for identifying and studying those persons who lived in colonial Dutchess County. The system used to present the lists alphabetically while maintaining the geographical location of the individual's property should help to facilitate the study of inter-realtionships among individuals living within a particular area and is preferable to a single long alphabetical listing.

RHINEBECK PRECINCT 1738/39-1778

Dutchess County became a County November 1, 1683, was divided into three Wards June 24, 1719, and was divided into Precincts December 16, 1737. The tax lists start with 1717/18 and have been copied for the three Wards. Rhinebeck was in the North Ward. The Rhinebeck tax list starts with 1738/39 and is variously listed as Rhinebeck, Rhynbeck, Northern, and Northeast. Northeast was taken off as a separate Precinct 1745/46 and at that time there were 25 names in Northeast. Of these only 9 were in Rhinebeck the previous year. If a name appears in the North Ward at an earlier date, I have given it that date. The years 1749, 1750, 1751, 1752, 1764, and 1776 are missing.
