

East Market Street Tin Roofs, 37 & 39 East Market Street

RHWG: Note the tin roofs, many put on by the Curtis Company, that remain on the small houses that line East Market Street. Red Hook was known for its tin, as well as its chocolate and tobacco manufacturing. The village contains a relatively large number of these small, modest homes, topped with tin roofs, built by local workers.