Tired of being just
a visitor?

On the extreme eastern tip of Long Island stands the historic lighthouse, authorized by George Washington in 1795 and built in 1797. Also on this magnificent piece of real estate is Montauk...where it all begins!

The light is a beacon to ships bound for New York Harbor. In the early days of whaling ships crews would shout with joy at the first sight of the light, for then they knew that home was a short trip down the Sound.

Erosion of the beach surrounding the lighthouse threatens its very existence. The Long Island Association of Commerce and Industry has been informed by the Department of the Army that a beach erosion control and hurricane protection project has been authorized. Work will progress based on priorities. You see, we are assured that Montauk will remain the beautiful ocean front community we now enjoy.

Today, the light is operated automatically and far and wide, the mere mention of the Montauk Lighthouse beckons the tourist, the fisherman and the vacationer to our wonderland of beauty!

We, here at Montauk, feel we have been doubly blessed since we are over 100 miles at sea and can still enjoy the thrills of roaming through wooded hills. The Indians named this place Montauket which has since been shortened to Montauk. Its meaning is "hilly place". In this respect, Montauk is unique...a person may enjoy the wooded, rolling hills and just a hop and skip away lies the sand and surf of the beautiful Atlantic Ocean. All this within the confines of a single community...plus clean air, bright sun and broad beaches--who could ask for anything more!

The Montauk Chamber of Commerce invites YOU to share these blessings with us...here, where it all begins!

We offer here, a thumbnail history of Montauk: Its first settlers were drawn to this garden spot in the early 1600's. The Indians who inhabited the area were found to be friendly, whereby both could enjoy the abundance of food and wildlife natural to the surroundings. This was the beginning for Montauk. The Indians were industrious people, being farmers, hunters and fishermen, who flourished amid the natural resources found here--seafood, game, berries and fruit. The early settlers let this be known to the west and soon more and more settlers came to reap the rewards of this garden of plenty!

Montauk's excellent climate and clean air were responsible for the Army sending 25,000 military victims of the yellow fever to Montauk. This happened during the era of the Spanish-American War and all but 126 recovered. Excellent medical care coupled with Montauk's clean, tangy air did the trick.

In August and September of 1898, our Montauk became headquarters for Teddy Roosevelt's mustering-out operations for his Rough Riders. The headquarters building still stands here in Montauk and is now a resort ranch.

Teddy Roosevelt brought 2900 of his famous veterans here and after the unit was disbanded, these Rough Riders of San Juan Hill celebrated with a bash to end all hoedowns. Then Teddy, in his detailed report of his immortal horsemen, wrote: "But for the illness around them, he and his men spent a bully month at Montauk! Montauk where it all begins!

Now, back to where it all begins... the tip of Long Island and the Light-house. The locale is a State Park with ample parking and refreshments, where a person may spend a most delightful day. The view of the Atlantic Ocean merging with the waters of Long Island Sound is so breath-taking that a lasting memory of Montauk is guaranteed! This is the Riviera of America and a place for all seasons...here in Montauk, where it all begins.

Montauk provides accommodations, shops, restaurants, theatre, tennis, water skiing, golf, surfing, scuba, swimming, bicycle and horseback riding, bird watching, berry picking, hiking through forests and sand dunes steeped in pirate lore, endless inspiration for the artist...and that's ~~RE~~ not all, there's more as attested to by all the fishermen who know Montauk!

Winter in Montauk is peaceful and quiet, snow dissipates quickly in Montauk's salt air. While strolling along broad beaches in winter here at Montauk, one's thoughts turn to the Apollo 14 and the astronauts' walk on the moon for here too, you discover another world, A WHOLE NEW WORLD. Montauk's miles of beautiful sandy beaches seem to be part of another planet--uninhabited and free of pollution--a seagull joins the party and breaks the spell.

Wildlife in Montauk scurry about in their never-ending search for food. The graceful deer venture onto the village streets while the pheasant meanders by the roadside. Bird-feeders are kept filled by the winter residents so they may gaze in awe at the many species to be seen in Montauk--over 125 have been recorded here.

Some fishing boats sail daily in winter...to Block Island and Cox's Ledge, some round the point to fish off-shore on the Atlantic side of the peninsula.

Graceful white swan glide over Fort Pond Lake seeking open waters where they may feed. As winter slips from the scene, fuzzy brown cygnets appear on the lake heralding the spring season.

Spring comes up like thunder covering the countryside with Shadbush blossoms all snowy white and dormant summer homes are made ready for the fun and excitement of the coming summer. Boats are scraped and painted by their skippers who dream of "the big ones that got away" and vow it shall not happen this year. Wildlife stretches its wings and legs. It's great to be alive...in Montauk!

Summer in Montauk provides endless activity...refreshing country air for a leisure vacation; a brisk, invigorating America Beautiful--Don't Litter ing seashore jaunt; a fishing expedition beyond compare and land and water sports galore! In Montauk you can have your cake and eat it too--high, breezy hills and sun-drenched ocean beaches.

If you're not a summer home owner, Montauk has many, many motels, hotels and guest houses where one can find the type of abode to which one is accustomed. Restaurants and shops provide your every need. The map and list of Chamber members enclosed with this booklet make a handy reference--keep it with you.

It is said that all good things must come to an end...not so in Montauk. When summer is over in most places, Montauk's 80 Days of Indian Summer replenish a person's zest for fun and excitement... in Montauk where it all begins!

80 DAYS of Indian Summer

This is the season worth waiting for. September, October and early November are bright and bracing months, exuding clean, salt air to make the hay fever sufferer wonder what is meant by a pollen count. Fun continues in Montauk throughout the 80 days of indian summer, under warm sun, blue skies and cooling breezes. The tangy, salt air makes living an adventure.

Bay and Ocean waters invite an invigorating dip and miles of uncluttered and uncrowded beaches instill the desire to hike the sandy trails into the sunset...which reminds me, you haven't seen a sunset until you see it in Montauk. Breath-taking to say the least. Low rates prevail during these 80 days of indian summer, making an extended vacation more desirable.

That about covers the four seasons; now you see why we call Montauk a place for all seasons. Contact the real estate offices listed in the directory and make Montauk your place for all seasons. For those of you who shun the responsibility of owning your own place the Chamber of Commerce can assist you in the finding of suitable accommodations. You all come out now!

You will be pleasantly surprised at what you see here in windmill country, in its original rural setting. You see, we are preserving nature's work as much as possible in Montauk and we want to share it with you--providing of course, you appreciate the wonders of nature. MONTAUK

Is The Fishing Capital Of The World

That's right, Montauk is acknowledged to be the fishing capital of the world--and rightly so, for in 1970 the world's record Tuna was caught from one of Montauk's boats!

Whether you fish for fun or fish for food, you can enjoy the sport throughout the four seasons at Montauk. If you have never tasted fresh caught pseudo-pleuronectes americanus you are destined for the treat of your life. You ask what is it?...for shame, we thought you knew--of course it's Flounder.

The waters surrounding Montauk give up fluke, porgy, mackerel, blackfish, cod, striped bass, bluefish, sea bass, weakfish, flounder...just to name very few of the species.

March usually starts the bay flounder fishing season with summer flounder and fluke beginning their in-shore movement--following their winter retreat to the continental shelf. Deep water anglers boat cod, pollack and flounder at the same time the huge schools of mackerel start to migrate. Then, as the surface waters warm up, striped bass will forsake their winter dormancy and move up the coast.

About the middle of May the waters around Montauk will become home to the porgy—which by the way are considered a delicacy judging from the price they bring. Bluefish spawn in the bay waters, then reassemble off-shore from May 14th to about the 15th.

Albacore, sea bass, bluefish, oceanic bonito, striped bass, blackfish, cod, white marlin, dolphin, tuna, flounder, pollack and blue marlin head the long list of our off-shore species with the shark making the scene also.

Activity is provided year 'round here in Montauk...the winter fleet sails daily to some of the best fishing grounds on the east coast, while the other seasons are adequately supplied with charter and open party boats. Regardless of the season, come to Montauk prepared to enjoy the most exciting fishing of your life!

Some people can't take to boats and I am one of them, but if fishing is in your blood we have just the thing here in Montauk...two new flat top jetties that jut out into the Sound where fish are plentiful...OK then, be seein' you.

June has a magic formula for warming up the in-shore waters enough to entice giant swordfish from the gulf stream-- they can be seen breaking water to create a mouth-watering sight.

July finds the big game fisherman adding tuna, white marlin and bonito to his long list of fine off-shore fish.

The surf-caster can make his day one of great satisfaction netting a bluefish or striped bass in Montauk's surf.

Others include blackfish, flounder, fluke and kingfish, just to name a few.

The boys that take to the small boats fish for flounder and fluke (two of the best known favorites) in the Sound where it is boasted that 470 species of fish are waiting for you. If that isn't a fisherman's dream, you tell us what is!

MONTAUK REESTABLISHED
AS FRONTIER BY OCEAN SCIENCE LABORATORY

Just as the first settlers came to Montauk 300 years ago in search of a better way of life on the land, marine scientists and technicians have been marshalled on Fort Pond Bay to pioneer studies in the waters of Long Island's estuarine and coastal areas.

The seas around us, called the last frontier on this planet, constitute a tremendous resource which is not being utilized properly in terms of food, conservation, recreation and other economic factors. Montauk's role in oceanology was initiated in 1966 when a group of scientists met in Gurney's Inn to discuss ways and means to combat the problems of pollution and erosion affecting the Long Island area.

Subsequently, it was agreed that efforts to expand research, educate personnel and develop the ocean sciences in the research programs of educational institutions, as well as those of industry, could best be accomplished through a cooperative effort and the utilization of a central laboratory.

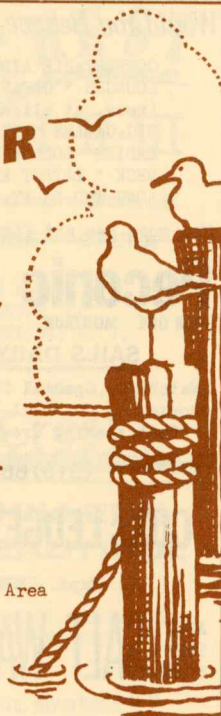

CONSORTIUM IS FORMED

In 1967, acting on the findings of these studies, a group of college and university presidents representing Adelphi, Fordham, Hofstra, Long Island, New York and St. John's Universities, the N. Y. Institute of Technology, and the State University of New York agreed to form a non-profit corporation known as AFFILIATED COLLEGES & UNIVERSITIES, INC., whose principal function would be the operation of the NEW YORK OCEAN SCIENCE LABORATORY. After a review of many possible sites, the former Republic Aerospace facility at the Fort Pond Bay area was chosen. The size, location and accommodations of the various buildings, with more than 300,000 square feet of available floor space, made them ideally suited for an oceanology laboratory complex.

A 400-foot pier with a 40-foot draft at mean low tide, 5 railroad sidings, a seaplane station and a helicopter pad added to the desirability of the site.

FUTURE IS LIMITLESS

Programs of research and teaching were started in June, 1970, and many major research projects are currently under way.
A sturdy 65-foot research vessel, the R/V
Kyma, is operated by the laboratory under a lease arrangement with NYU on several programs.

The organization of the ocean science laboratory is so structured that its future is limitless. It is also unique in that many segments of our society joined in the creation of the facility. They included industry, education, local interests, community groups and various levels of government.

Beachcombers take notice:

Pink plastic cards and plastic mushrooms found on Long Island, Connecticut and New Jersey beaches may be vital in a scientific study of water currents being conducted by the New York Ocean Science Laboratory at Montauk.

The cards and mushroom-shaped discs are being dropped at various locations in Long Island and Block Island Sounds. Where they wash up on the beach can give scientists information about the currents that carried them there.

Each device has postage-paid cards on which finders are asked to note certain information and to mail them back to the laboratory.

In return, the lab will keep the finder informed of the progress being made in the study and will tell him when and where his find was released.

Dr. Rudolph Hollman, project director of the institution's Physical Oceanography Laboratory, said the study began last October and will run at least two years, since uncertainties in the technique necessitate distribution of many samples.

21st Air Division U.S.A.F.

Montauk Air Force Station, located at the extreme eastern tip of Long Island, five miles east of the village of Montauk, is presently the home of the 773rd Radar Squadron (SAGE) which plays an important role in the defense of the United States. However, behind this organization lies a long history of defense activities attested to by the strategic location of this area.

During World War II, Camp Hero was occupied by the Army Coast Artillery whose huge 16 inch guns stood ready to defend against any possible invasion by enemy forces. Reminders of this past are very evident today in our Supply Bunker which was one of the underground bunkers housing the big guns, and the neat "white" cottages with their walls of thick concrete located on the station and along Old Montauk Highway

Following World War II, Camp Hero was deactivated and used for two-week training periods in the summer for Army Reserve Units. On 27 November 1950, the 773rd Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron was activated and made its home on a portion of Camp Hero which was then redesignated as Montauk Air Force Station.

The squadron was reassigned to Eastern Air Defense Force until 6 February 1952 at which time it was assigned to the 26th Air Division.

From this time until October 1958, the 773rd Radar Squadron operated as an Air Defense Direction Center, providing surveillance for the detection, identification, and interception of all aircraft entering the area of responsibility. Because of its location, guarding the approaches to the New York Area, this site was one of the most vital links in the Nation's Air Defense Network.

As the speeds and performance of manned aircraft increased, and the use of missiles loomed closer, it became apparent that the concept of manual Air Defense Operations would not keep pace. Therefore, the Squadron bowed to progress with the advent of the SAGE (Semi-Automatic Ground Environment System) and was assigned to the New York Air Defense Sector (SAGE) on 8 January 1957.

There followed a period of transition during which the squadron continued Keep America Beautiful--Don't Litter to carry out its mission as a manual direction center, while preparing to take its place as a link in the new SAGE system. Finally on 1 October 1958, the Squadron was redesignated as the 773rd Radar Squadron (SAGE) and acquired a new mission.

On 1 April 1966, New York Air Defense
Sector was redesignated as the 21st
Air Division and the 26th Air Division was redesignated as First Air Force.

Today, the Squadron provides surveillance data for the 21st Air Division on a twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week basis. This division is responsible for the defense of about 225,000 square miles of the heavily populated and industrialized eastern seaboard of the country, and for the protection of the lives of millions of people within the area. The responsibility is a great one, and the 773rd Radar Squadron is proud of the role it plays in meeting the challenge of such a responsibility.
