To Our Friends

"Life, Liberty and Pursuit of Happiness," what wonderful words they are, the very foundation of Democracy. Selfpreservation is the first law of nature. That is life itself. Liberty: the freedom, within the law, to think, speak and act as you wish; Pursuit of Happiness: to follow your inclination for your own happiness and for your fellow men.

To preserve all this, our country is at war, not of our own making, but forced upon us by enemies whom, if victorious, we think, would deprive us of these our ideals of life.

The Chicago Swedish Male Chorus is doing its part to back up the government in its fight for Democracy by investing every penny, that can be spared, in U. S. Defense Bonds and its members are individually doing likewise within their means. But besides the material help that we give, our part in upholding the morale through our activities is of far greater value. A singing nation is a free happy nation and we think that our efforts to give you a wholesome and intellectual entertainment in these troublesome times is an essential part of upholding the morale of the people. The Chicago Swedish Male Chorus has just recently moved to new quarters for their rehearsals and is now located at the Engineer Society Building, 503 Wrightwood Avenue. There the Chorus meets every Thursday under the leadership of its eminent director Mr. William H. Nordin. Persons with good voice and an ear for music are always welcome and eligible for membership.

There are no reasons why we should urge you to buy U. S. Defense Bonds and Stamps. We know that you as patriotic citizens are doing your duty in that respect. But we will ask you to kindly keep this program book for ready references when purchasing your daily needs, and that you then will be kind enough to patronize our advertisers where you always will be assured of a fair dealing.

Our sincere thanks for your presence here at our concert.

ANDREW WM. RIZZO

Andrew Wm. Rizzo, director of the Rizzo Piano-Accordion Ensemble, needs no introduction to the musical world. He has been recognized as one of the leading piano-accordion teachers in the country and his students have been presented in numerous recitals and concerts.

Piano-Accordion Ensembles require hours of endless work and untiring efforts on the part of the conductor and the musicians, but the splendid results these enterprises have produced have helped to a great extent to further the interest of the public in the piano-accordion. All of the members of the ensemble group are thoroughly advanced and experienced musicians.

All of the music for a piano-accordion group in a program of this type has to be specially arranged to suit the particular requirements of the choral compositions and the accordion ensemble selections. Special recognition and praise should go to the arrangers for their excellent work.
