

*You can derive a deep, abiding comfort from the pride that is yours
in one who gave his life for his country.*

Words of condolence are small and feeble things when weighed against so high and holy a sacrifice.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Boller

2006.62.03B