NO TRUCE—WILSON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—President Wilson's note to the German imperial chancellor, handed to the charge d'affaires of the German legation today for transmission to Berlin, follows:

Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge, on behalf of the president, your note of Oct. 6, enclosing the communication from the German government to the president; and I am instructed by the president to request you to make the following communication to the imperial German chancellor:

"Before making reply to the request of the imperial German government, and in order that that reply shall be as candid and straightforward as the momentous interests involved require, the president of the United States deems it necessary to assure himself of the exact meaning of the note of the imperial chancellor.

"Does the imperial chancellor mean that the imperial German government accepts the terms laid down by the president in his address to the Congress of the United States on the eighth of January last and in subsequent addresses, and that its object in entering into discussions would be only to agree upon the practical details of their application?

"The president feels bound to say with regard to the suggestion of an armistice that he would not feel at liberty to propose a cessation of arms with the governments with which the government of the United States is associated, so long as the armies of those powers are upon the soil. The good faith of any discussion would manifestly depend upon the consent of the central powers immediately to withdraw their forces from invaded territory.

"The president also feels that he is justified in asking whether the imperial chancellor is speaking merely for the constituted authorities of the German empire who have so far conducted the war. He deems the answer to these questions vital from every point of view."

Accept the renewed assurances of my high consideration.

"We could not hold him, and just six days after the United States declared war on kaiserism he enlisted in the marines. He has had an excellent record ever since."

Such was the patriotism and enthusiasm of Corporal David L. Thor, who is bulletined in to-day's casualty list as killed in action, as told by his father, Charles Thor, 324 North Humphrey avenue, Oak Park. David, who was 21 years old, lived with his parents there, and was a bank clerk with the Lee-Higginson company.

"There were two of them just alike," said the proud father, "now there is one, but he will avenge the death of David. Elmer, 23 years old, was working on a farm in North Dakota when he heard of David's entering the marine corps. He enlisted then and was sent to France last winter. Both have seen plenty of action since."

Four men of the Chicago district are listed to-day as killed in action and one is noted as dead of wounds. The names, all of men in the marine corps, is as follows:

Dead of Wounds.

ANDERSON, ALLYN T., Wilmette.
Anthony Parzych of LaSalle, Ill., is listed in the army casualty list as having died of wounds.

Corporal E. D. Pritchard Dead.

Corporal Edward D. Pritchard's death was reported yesterday. The news that the young Chicagoan died from wounds received in battle has reached the Lenox hotel at Dorchester avenue and East 63d street, where he was clerk before entering the artillery.

In April A. G. Cooper, a friend as well as a guest of the hotel, got a letter from the young corporal. Pritchard described several engagements he had been through and wound up with the cheerful prediction:

"There's no one on our side scared yet, and only one thing can happen when they feel the full weight of our punch."

Corporal Pritchard was a son of B. C. Pritchard of Geneseo.

LUCAS ONE OF LOGAN'S BEST.

Major Killed in Battle Gave Illinoisans Machine Gun Work.

[Special Dispatch from a Staff Correspondent.]
Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., July 9.—The brief special cable dispatch to The Daily News by E. Percy Noel from the British front in France, which tells of the death on the battle field of Maj. John P. Lucas of the Illinois forces, will be sad reading for the many friends of this brave soldier in the United States.

Maj. Lucas was until the time of his last promotion junior aid to Maj.-Gen. George Bell, Jr., commandant of the 33d division, made up principally of Illinois national guard troops. He was considered one of the "gamest" and hardest working soldiers in the 33d division. He was a West Point graduate and gave to the Illinois boys at Camp Logan their initial instruction in machine gun work. He had charge of the machine gun school until he became a major last winter.

After his promotion he was assigned as commandant of the 108th signal corps and took complete charge in this field when Maj. Carl Truesdall, division signal corps officer, went to France in advance of the division.

The machine gun school was turned over by him to Capt. W. H. Simpson, also a regular army man and senior aid to Gen. Bell. Capt. Frank Baackes of Chicago took Lucas' place as aid to the general.

Capt. Lucas was about 35 years old and saw service in Mexico with Gen. Pershing. He was married, his wife being at Camp Logan during his stay there. Mrs. Lucas was almost a constant companion of Mrs. Bell, the general's wife. Maj. Lucas was often spoken of by members of the regular army who were on Gen. Bell's staff as one of the most thorough soldiers they had ever worked with.

RETURNED PRISONERS FIGHT

Prussian Minister, However, Denies Exchanged Men Are Put in Army.

[By The Associated Press.]

Amsterdam, Holland, Monday, July 8.—During a debate on the budget in the German reichstag on Friday, says the Cologne Gazette, Gen. von Stein, the Prussian minister of war, said:

"Prisoners returned from Russia at any time are re-employed in the army. The position is different with exchanged prisoners from Great Britain and France, regarding which prisoners we accepted conditions under which such employment is impossible.

"A few men have reported that while in Russia they signed an attestation to British and French officials that they could not be employed at the front. Those are tricks of entente agents in which we do not acquiesce. I regret that frequently far-reaching promises have been made which afterward lead to all kinds of complaints when under the pressure of necessity they are not kept."

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

The official weather forecast for the thirty-six hours ending to-morrow at 7 p. m. is as follows:

Chicago and vicinity—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature; moderate west to north-

Following the Flag.

Stars in days gone by have been illustrated in various ways, that should be prohibited, for they are false, and give a disrespectful shot of our former armies. I see in pictures illustrating some battle, the flag going before the army, others, a drummer in the front wave, all this is false, and it is a shame to fool the public by such paintings. In this war I never saw old Glory from Aug. 1st till Nov. 16th. The flag is always kept in the rear, guarded by 4 men called color guards, these men never leave the flag and regimental colors, one minute, excepting at meal times, when some one else guard them. At these drives the flag is kept in cover, but just the same the flag goes with the regiment wherever it goes, but not in front as pictures show it, but in the rear where it belongs. But the boys always keep their dear old flag in their minds and throts. They see it leading their forces in a vision-like form! It has been said that when the Marines came to hand fighting at Chateau-Thierry, the commander shouted out - "Boys, the flag is behind us, and the huns are trying to get it and trump it." That happened we all know. The battle was the turning point of the war! When the huns hit our line it was like hitting a stone wall, no give to it. I know that the shot of old Glory being in danger spurred the boys to the highest pitch. The flag that never has seen defeat, for which heroes fought, bled and died for. You folks cannot imagine the thrill that shot thru us at the sight of the flag after the hostilities ceased. Tears were in our eyes, it was like meeting a dear lost friend. Oh friends we love the flag, we fought for her, suffered untold agonies, some died for her, and in the end broke her to complete victory.

Many a night as I lay in my hole in the ground, with shells breaking and shrieking all around me, I saw Old Glory in my mind, floating from Long Island as I saw it when I left the states, Left home, parents, brothers, friends, to fight for the flag, that she might continue to float over a free nation as she has done for over 150 years. There is no power on earth that can tear those stars from the flag as long as we are bound and determined to protect her. Germany tried it, she put us thru the very hell, shrapnel, gas, machine-gun bullets, & fire, did we give up? No, we went forward thru all this hell, went straight for our goal, and we reached it, with the result that Germany saw that she was not powerful enough to tear our flag down! That happened to a german officer, when taken prisoner was not below a colonel to get information. The Hun saw old Glory hanging from the wall in the corner. Here is what he said, "He were not powerful enough to throw the old son of a bitch down, but I can warm her," and he spit on her. ah friends that was his last. He was made to kiss it where upon he was shot down like a dog.

You be to any man who stamps or trods on her. It was for her sake that we won our freedom in the Revolution. For her we were more strongly united in the Civil War. Spain tried to step on her, but failed. And now Germany tried to make us slaves, but failed utterly, because our love for Old Glory was too strong. We seen our future danger and menace if Germany was not stopped, our freedom would come to an end. and then on top of it all, some people can't see why we came over to fight.
they say Germany was right in her demands, and that our boys should never have left our soil. Shame on them forever wheather they repent or not. The prisons are too good for them.
Death is the only punishment they should get, and that death should be slow and full of agony, such agony that our boys over here went thru. but we always have opposition to everything but beware when the boys get back, these narrow-minded dumb, pro germans had better stay low, for we will show no mercy to them, where before they got their freedom, now money can't buy it. We are going to clean up on crooks, grafters, slackers, pro, germans and such pests. We have seen so much harm and shame committed to our army that we are going to clean house, every A.E.F. man has vowed this to clean up the states. Here again we are doing this for The Flag that now again floats over the land of the free and the home of the brave.
